

ADJACENT CITIES OGDEN.

Hobbed His Butcher—See Plant Contract Signed.—The "Standard."

Word was received last night from the expert builders... The public of Ogden is at a loss to understand the necessity of sending to the coast for an expert builder to figure on the cost of repairing the damage done by the fire when there are a large number of expert contractors in the city and Utah who are as capable as any to judge in such cases...

Over three hundred men were engaged yesterday in clearing away the debris piled into the Union Pacific track and Denver's... The debris was cleared last night and today will be running on time today.

Carl Nelson was arraigned yesterday morning before Judge Nelson... He was given a suspended sentence for thirty days on the charge of petty larceny, found guilty and sentenced to forty days on the charge of petty larceny.

Contracts were yesterday signed for the site of the proposed manufacturing plant... The site is at the intersection of Twenty-third street and Wall avenue on the Utah & Northern track.

This morning's Standard contains the following: "It is a matter of daily reading matter in this paper was set by our printers and what is said of this issue, we trust may be truthfully said of every succeeding issue of the Standard."

Ogden's soldiers were very much subdued last night at the special meeting and their demeanor presented an extreme contrast to that of Monday night. During the entire session no quarreling or playing at cross purposes was indulged in and the amount of business transacted was therefore much increased.

Three ninety-ton Buick engines will be added by the Union Pacific to the passenger motive power to enable the road to handle the heavy World's Fair traffic. Three ponderous machines will run between Ogden and Elvaston and pull fifteen passenger coaches each.

At a meeting of the Ogden base ball association the old officers and board of directors were retained. William Trolley was elected the management hereafter the regular club team will divide the profits of the ball park, the association retaining only enough to pay expenses.

Business was practically suspended yesterday in the Union Pacific freight yards and offices on account of the West end engine trouble which delayed traffic until late last night. Five freight trains were held back of the obstruction.

Eleven cars of New York range lumber, made up into a special train, reached Ogden last night and will go east to market this morning. The Utah & Northern track was cleaned yesterday by the snow which rained on it in Bear River canyon by Saturday's snow slide.

Malad Stake Conference.

A quarterly conference of the Malad Stake of Zion was held at Portage, commencing Monday, March 15, at 10 a. m., and continuing during the day and the following day. The stand was occupied by Elder Seymour H. Young of the presidency of the Convention, and Elder Crandall Dunn, as special officers, and a goodly number of Stake officers. President Oliver P. Hawkins presided.

During the conference the Stake was represented as being in a progressive condition by Elder H. Young, who spoke on the subject of "Perseverance." His arguments were logical and convincing.

The Stake presidency, Brothers Crandall Dunn and others gave general instructions, which were received with appreciation.

Considering the inclemency of the weather, the attendance was unusually good, and the services were of a high order. Prof. Jones' choir rendered the sweetest of music.

ABOUT HOUSEHOLD. These suggestions may prevent your horse from getting lame. The perfect shoe rests only on the horn to defend the hoof from wearing out, and it should not cover the sole or frog of the healthy foot.

There is nothing like experience if you can learn it. The second horse owned was a 3-year-old colt, very fine built, and consequently had very thin hooves on his feet. His feet were good, but rather flat, but I "knew it all" then and was going to shoe him on horse.

If you wish to turn your horse hereafter, take the shoe off as soon as the fall rains soften the ground. With sharp pickers cut the horn to within half an inch of the sole.

I have shod many horses that were lame by having the shoes cut too long. It should about the time the hair curls sloughing in the fall, a horse can carry the shoe longer as long without injury to the foot as he can in the spring.

A shoe should stay on a horse from two months on to a year, and 40 days is about the average if the feet are dressed properly. A horse taking for a month should have his shoes taken off, as he is better without them.

At one attack of shoeing, looks like people, duffers. Some looks are only when they are playing and minding. The looks of my suits are elegant, handsome and inviting, that's why the looks of all my customers indicate delight and satisfaction. It costs nothing to look. The cost will come in when you don't look, for in that case you will get an inferior suit, and then a poor in the interior will show you looks of disgust.
