SUDDEN DEATH OF SIGURD HANSEN

Bursting of Blood Vessel in Brain Given as Cause

Sigurd Hansen of the First ward, while stacking hay at his home Monday evening suddenly sank down on the stack and before help could reach him, was dead. Doctors were hastily summoned and gave their opinion that the man was dead before he fell. Busting a blood vessel in the brain is given as the cause, the bursting probably being caused by the oppressive heat.

Impressive funeral services were held in the First ward meeting house Wednesday afternoon, Bishop McKell presiding.

The choir led by Wm. Frost with Miss Jennie Lewis at the organ sang, "God Moves in a Mysterious Way." The invocation was offered by John Holt. Tee choir sang, "Rest for the Weary Soul."

The speakers were A. B. Johnson, who spoke in Icelandic tongue, Wm. Johnson and Bishop R. W. McKell. The speakers all bore testimony to the fact that Mr. Hansen was a man to be depended on. A man who at all times was ready to help those who were in need.

Misses Ellen and Rosa Jameson sang very beautifully, "Lead Me Gently Home, Father."

The choir song in closing, "Nearer My God to Thee", Benediction was offered by Gishi Bjarnason.

Sigurd Hansen was born in Iceland, August 23, 1855 and came to Utah twenty-five years ago and has lived here ever since. He leaves a wife, two sons and one daughter to mourn his death.

He was a devoted husband and a kind and indulgent father; to his friends and soul of fellowship. But the greatest of all was he as a man. And as a man it is that those who knew him most love to contemplate him. He believed in the brotherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. He believed that the man who scatters flowers in the pathway of his fellow men, who lets into the dark places of life the sunshine of human sympathy and human happiness, is following in the footsteps of his Master.

When You Can't Sleep.
There is an odd theory (that many people believe and which is certainly true) that sleeplessness may often be cured in the following odd way: Turn your bed out into the room so that no part of bed or covers will touch the wall. Then place under the head of the bed a piece of rubber or a rubber overshoe, or set the bed in a thick glass dish. Then go to bed, making sure the covers do not touch the wall. Thus the bed and yourself will be cut off from all electrical contact with the floor or wall. The absence of electric current, it is claimed, will make you sleep better. It is said to have cured many cases of insomnia.

COMMERCIAL CLUB NAMES COMMITTEES

Success of the Venture is Now A Certainty

At last Spanish Fork has a good lively, energetic Commercial Club organized and under fairly good headway. They now have an enrollment of about seventy-five, with the prospects of a good number more; every one feels greatly enthused with the interest that is being manifested, and feels that when they once get permanently located that there will be something doing in Spanish Fork and vicinity. The following committees have been appointed to carry on the business for the club, the first name of each committee being the chairman.

Amusement—J. P. Creer, T. M. Nave, Elisha Warner, C. W. Booth, Fred Freeman, A. R. Creer, Hyrum Christensen, A. G. Engberg, George Ainge.

THISTLE NOTES

Up here we have not had any rain this year, a snow storm in April, or earlier is the latest.

The dryland crops are suffering round about here. Mr. Chas. Creer will be very poorly paid for all the money he has spent, but it is to be hoped that it will not always be like this. There are several dry land farms on the mountain north east from here, generally termed The Billis Mountain, occupied by Springville men mostly. I understand the crops will be a failure there also this year.

B. F. Smith and family are gone to Strawberry Valley.

The coyotes make considerable noise in the mountains around here. Why do not some of the sporting men try their hands at hunting them?

The health of the people is tolerably good here at present.

There have been more sheep driven up through here this season, than I have known to be taken this way during any previous season.

In Remembrance of Little Joe

Mourn not for those who die in the Lord, For of such is the kingdom of heaven, Treasures just lent to you here for a span, Back to the keeper returning.

The path shall be thorny with sorrow and tears, For those that the Lord loveth true, But think of the crown that awaiteth his sleep, Have courage there is one for you.

Yes the gloom is so heavy when all hope is gone, But thro the dark cloud comes a ray, And if you will hearken you hear a small voice, To you then your loved one will say, Dry your tears my darling mother, It was not my wish to go, And I know you all will miss me, R-und the fireside, "your little Joe."

But I'm happy Oh so, happy, From my suffering I'm released, From the aches and pain distressing, But instead have perfect peace.

And again some day I'll meet you, When lifes earthly joys are past, Then with joy I'll come to greet you, Back into your arms at last.

The above poem was received by Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Jex from Miss Lizzie Ainge who is now in Ruth, Nevada.

Reading.
If you are not a habitual reader, begin now to form the reading habit. Good reading is a great life improver; it will enlarge your mental capacity wonderfully. It will make you a full man, an interesting man; it will elevate your life standards. Your ideals will be higher; your views of life will be grander. Good reading will enrich your life immeasurably. You will grow taller and nobler; you will think more of yourself, and others will think more of you.—Success

A Cinch.
"It's easy to find out what time it is," says the married man. "If the hall clock says 5:20, and the drawing-room clock says 5:50, and the dining-room clock says 6:00, and my watch says 6:15, and my wife's little dinky watch says six, it's six o'clock in our house."

One Man's Pluck

A good example of pluck and perseverance of a man far past the prime of life and an example which younger men should pattern after is the work of Samuel Curtis of Salem.

On March 1st of this year, Mr. Curtis who is seventy five years of age started for Idaho in a wagon accompanied by his wife. They enjoyed their trip, notwithstanding several storms they were forced to endure.

After reaching Idaho, the Curtis family took up eighty acres of land on the Mindoka Project, for which they paid $30.50 per acre, fenced the land and drove an artesian well eighty feet deep. They then broke up eight acres and planted it to hay and grain.

On June 7th Mr. Curtis came back to Salem, bringing his wife, who had taken sick during their stay in the Gem State.

On June 9th Mr. Curtis returned to his land in Idaho and will probably remain there during the summer. He says it is a fine country and is glad he owns land there.

Childish Ingenuity.
If grown-ups were as ingenious in manufacturing happiness as children are, this old world would be grinding all the time. Two little boys in Jones street yesterday had a roller skate to play with. The bigger boy put it on and the smaller boy rode astride the bigger boy's foot. The two of them had as much fun out of that skate as if it had been an automobile.—Newark (N. J.) News

FALLS FROM BUGGY BREAKS ARM

Little Daughter of Jos. E. Wilkens Sustains Severe Injury While Taking a Ride

Little Afton Wilkens, four years old, daughter of Joseph E. Wilkens, while taking a ride in a buggy Tuesday evening fell out over the rear end gate and landed on her head and arm.

She ran about a block to her home, where her mother attended to her injuries, not knowing at the time that her arm was broken. As soon as she discovered that she had fractured her arm she called Dr. Hagan who came as quickly as possible. The doctor tried to get another doctor to assist him but was unable to secure any so was assisted by Mrs. Chas. Poulson.

The arm was found to be fractured from the elbow to the shoulder; so Dr. Hagan deemed it advisable to take the little one to the General Hospital at Provo. She was taken over Wednesday and the arm was reset. She is getting along as well as could be expected.
