A HORRIBLE DEATH

Byran Allred's Body Found Dangling in Mid Air

NEAR TO SPRING CITY

In Sanpete County—The Lad Fell Over a Precipice and Was Caught Half Way Down—Was Missed Three Days Before He Was Found.

SPRING CITY, Sanpete county, Utah, June 9.—[Special.]—Byron Allred, seventeen years of age, son of Reuben Allred of this city left his home on Thursday morning last to carry supplies to a sheep herd in the mountains near here. As he did not return his father became alarmed and about twenty men started yesterday (Sunday) morning to search for the missing boy. The posse went directly to the sheep herd and inquired concerning the lad. They were informed by the herder that the boy started for home all right and that he was last seen standing near a precipice close by where he had evidently been at play throwing stones over the cliff.

This was a clue and the men at once proceeded to explore the gully below the precipice. The missing boy was found dead, hanging by one foot some three hundred feet down the precipice, and one hundred feet from the bottom. The body could not be seen either from the bottom or top of the cliff and hours of patient search was given before the remains were discovered. His head was badly crushed showing death was instantaneous.

The funeral takes place at one o'clock today.

NEARER HOME.

The Reign of Terror Reaches Ogden—Seven Incendiary Fires There Yesterday.

OGDEN, July 8.—Seven fires in the record last night, the total loss amounting to nearly $100,000.

The first alarm was at 3 o'clock yesterday morning from the Sidney Stevens block, on Washington avenue, a three story brick, containing a valuable stock of buggies, carriages, agricultural implements and harness. Immediately adjoining the building is the show yard, stocked with every description of vehicles, and as the flames forked from the building to the yard it was evident that it was also doomed. In the near vicinity there are a number of frame buildings, including the Newman Brothers cornice works, a frame cottage, a large barn, all of which are to day in ruins. The opera house adjoining north is mostly damaged with smoke, and the furnishings are slightly damaged with water, but had it once caught fire the destruction of the handsome Reed hotel adjoining would have been inevitable, and two of the most ornamental blocks in the city would have been ruined.

While this fire was raging part of the firemen were called to the Boyle Furniture company's building half a block north. The buildings was not completely destroyed.

A small fire occurred at Chief Binford's residence, opposite the fire department, but was extinguished before any damage was done.

Fire broke out about 4 o'clock at Herman's restaurant, on Grant avenue, and the two rooms and the upper portion of the building being burned.

Fire was also discovered in the cellar below Orson Riser's saloon, on Washington avenue, and the Palace saloon, on Washington, was also in flames at both places were got under control before damage to any extent was done.

A small fire at the depot was subdued before any damage was done.

The loss sustained by Sidney Stevens amounts to $75,000. The stock is entirely demolished, and the side walls have partly tumbled down. The front walls are tottering and the public are kept at a distance to prevent them from being injured should the walls collapse. Newman Bros. loss amounts to $7,000. The loss on the opera house, should it be found necessary to retrace it, owing to it being damaged with smoke, will foot up to $5,000. Boyle Furniture company estimate their loss at $10,000, and the losses sustained by the other parties vary in amounts from $100 to $500.

That the fires are the work of incendiarism there is not a question of doubt. Guests at the Reed hotel state that they saw a burning torch thrown into the Boyle company's warehouse; and the way in which the fire spread at the Stevens block showed it had been fired all around the building.

The most intense excitement prevails in the city. The citizens are incensed beyond measure, and gave vent to their pent up feelings in a meeting held in the federal court room this afternoon to arrange means for the protection of the people and their property.

Resolutions were passed thanking the national, territorial and municipal governments for the steps they had taken to preserve law and order, and commending the newspapers in the territory for their fearless expression of opinion against rascals.

Over a hundred representative citizens and business men were sworn in as special policemen to protect property and life during this terrible siege.

OCEANS OF MAIL.

Fort Douglass Troops Raise the Blockade at Ogden.

R. G. W. NO. 4 WENT EAST

Last Evening Preceded by Two Companies of Soldiers—The Union Pacific is Open all the Way to Chicago and Trains will Run Regularly.

The regular U. P. passenger brought a whole wagon load of mail to Provo this morning and Postmaster Roberts and all his help had more work than they could well attend to.

The Fort Douglass troops yesterday received the expected order to move on to Ogden and at 9:10 o'clock a. m. 370 soldiers left Salt Lake for the scene of trouble. Reaching the Junction City at 10 o'clock excitement ran high but there were no demonstrations. A detail of troops went ahead as an advance line and in obedience to instructions selected a camping site on the sward southwest of the Union depot. The entire command then moved forward, the supply train was run in and the sixteenth had established its camp.

Orders were at once issued to prepare the Salt Lake and southern mails for transfer and just before 1 o'clock the first regular mail train out of Ogden for several days was headed south. The southern Pacific and Utah Northern were the next to receive attention and the railroad yards, where hardly a wheel had moved for days, became all activity. The supply of delayed mails at Ogden was enormous and it will be some time before the last traces of the blockade are wiped out altogether, as far as the postoffice department is concerned.

With the aid of the troops the Union Pacific will now run its trains on all branches regularly. The announcement was made last evening that all trains from Ogden, out over the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific systems, and the mail trains of the Rio Grande Western, would be running on time by this morning. The Union Pacific officials last night announced that their trains would

Tickets are being sold clear through to Chicago.

Early yesterday morning the discovery was made by boys herding cows, that several sticks of giant powder had been placed under the rails of the Union Pacific about a mile south of Hooper switch, evidently for the purpose of wrecking the special having on board the troops. The fuse never had been lighted, and just how the fiend's expected to explode the powder is, of course, unknown. They may have hoped the shock of the passing train would cause the explosion.

TROUBLE AT GRAND JUNCTION.

A great many Provo residents were surprised last night to see R. G. W. No. 4, go east fully equipped with baggage cars, day cars, and Pullmans. In advance of this train was a special consisting of one baggage car, one chair car, three day coaches, one Pullman and Superintendent Welby's car, bearing company C and G of the Fort Douglass troops. They had been called to Grand Junction where the strikers had caused a disturbance, attacking the bridges.

Women in Public Offices.

In Sweden more women than men are found in the telegraph offices, and single women are admitted to all departments of the postoffice service except that of letter carriers. Women have the same salaries and equal positions in the telegraph and postoffice in Norway and Denmark as men, and in Denmark become "station masters" on the railway, while they also figure as shorthand writers in the parliament. We find them also in public offices on the most liberal terms that have been made in Finland and Iceland.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Music Lectures.

Mr. V. B. de Loery from the Grand Opera in Paris, and member of Academic Nationale de Musique of France, and special critic of the Wagnerian dramas, announces that he will deliver a series of lectures on all styles of music. All composers will be reviewed one by one according to the different schools. These lectures will be free and will be given with the object of making every one attending them, understand the different forms that exist between the great composers.

Mrs. Lillian Roberts de Loery, the well known singer and pianist, who has graduated in the east and sung in both popular and classical concerts, will illustrate these lectures on the piano, and selections from all ancient and modern composers will be rendered, both instrumentally and vocally. The principal composers reviewed will be Jean Rameau, Couperin, Rossini, Schumann, Schubert, Chopin, Mendelssohn, Mehl, Bellini, Robert Schumann, Saint-Saens, Massenet, Gounod, Benjamin Godard, Georges Bizet, Meyerbeer, Beethoven, Bach, Mozart, Bazzini, Verdi, Dudley, Buck, Ambrose, Thomas, Clementi, Weber, Ardit, and the great Richard Wagner who has revolutionized modern music.

Special attention will be given to Wagner's principal operas, regarding their harmony, the legends which inspired him and all the dramatic, melodic and harmonic effects brought into them.

Later announcements will state the time of the commencement of these lectures.

SCENERY COMPARED.

THE MAIN DIFFERENCES BETWEEN ENGLISH AND AMERICAN.

The One Is Everywhere Affected by Man and Art—The Other Is Primeval and Virgin—Luxury May Suit English Scenery, but Not So With U.

Having lately visited England after a long absence, my mind since my return has been busy with the subject of the relations between our scenery and that of the old world. I visited a dull part of Hampshire. On leaving the house where I was staying it was necessary to get up to an early breakfast to catch a train. Two young soldiers, very pleasant and friendly fellows, who went away at the same time, were in the cab with me. Reference was made to the scenery, and one of them, who had been in America, said, "You Americans may not always say you admire England, but in your hearts you know there is nothing like it." I looked out of the cab window at the flat and very rolled out landscape, cut up into squares and plots by iron fences, which, however, with its sparse oaks standing here and there, was not without a classic grace, and thought of the fresh and magic outlines of the Virginia mountains. But the hour was much too early and too drowsy to allow of any expression of dissent. It is an old question, that between the scenery of the two worlds. It is simple enough, however, with an obvious answer. Here it is primeval and virgin nature; there, nature affected by man and art.

The difference between European and American trees and woodlands is significant of this. Early in September an acquaintance took me to look at a remarkable oak on his place in Essex, which he said had been thought by some persons to be a relic of the ancient British forest. This oak, which was not very high, threw its powerful arms straight out in all directions over a wide space of ground. The trees of the American continent are of a different character. They are tall and straight, and their branches are few and far between. They are not so old as the oaks of Europe, and they are not so venerable. They are not so full of life and vigor, and they are not so full of beauty. They are not so full of mystery and grandeur, and they are not so full of romance and legend. They are not so full of history and tradition, and they are not so full of poetry and art.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs. Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers; and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance. Syrup of Figs is for sale by all drug stores in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
