

SOME CAN'T FACE LIFE AND CALL IT "GOOD"

Unitarian Minister Says World Holds Little for Human Beings.

"What Can Make Life Good," was the subject of a lengthy sermon delivered at Unitarian hall Sunday morning by the Rev. William Thurston Brown.

The first chapter of the Book of Genesis is the attempt of some unknown Hebrew poet to picture the act of world-making.

The picture of the process of world-making which the Book of Genesis contains, is unthinkable to any modern educated mind.

And religion cannot have a nobler mission than to make that knowledge the possession of men and women everywhere.

But it is an utter impossibility for some human beings to face their lot and call it good.

BURGLARS LOOT HOME; GET $6 AND JEWELRY

Burglars visited Harry Watson's residence at 324 East Sixth South street, between the hours of 8:30 and 11 o'clock Sunday night.

It is supposed that the burglars used a pass key to get in, as no door, bars or bolts or windows were broken.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.—"The Truth." Katharine Gray. Evening, 8:15.

An interesting story of the heart, with pathos in plenty, is told in melodrama, "The House of Mystery," which the Earl Burgess company will close their season at the Grand.

On Wednesday evening Walter Damrosch and the New York Symphony orchestra will appear at the Salt Lake theater.

The war pictures at the Lyric, which will run this week, are unusually interesting. Packed houses greeted the fine presentation Saturday.

RAILROAD MECHANIC IN SERIOUS TROUBLE

Faces Charges of Cashing Another's Money Order and Detention From Army.

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, June 7.—Charged with two serious infractions of Uncle Sam's laws, William F. Bennett, until recently employed as a machinist in the Denver & Rio Grande railroad shops in Salt Lake City, is detained at the police station awaiting the action of the Federal courts.

One of the offenses charged against him is the fraudulent use of a money order for $100 which was the property of another. The money order was issued from the Denver postoffice several weeks ago, and the postoffice records show that it was cashed by Bennett in Wyoming.

Bennett declares that he is the victim of circumstances, and that when he is given trial he can supply sufficient evidence that will show he had reasons for believing that the money order belonged to him, as he knew the man who delivered it. The most that can be made of the charge will be an honest mistake on his part.

When his trial on the above charge is concluded he will be called upon to answer to the Federal court for an alleged desertion from the United States army. Bennett was picked up at the Central hotel by Detective Pender and Postoffice Inspector C. J. Love.

music of the Hot Springs band, four hundred members of the Woodmen of the World paraded through the streets of the city Sunday afternoon before assembling at the City cemetery, where the annual memorial exercises were held out of respect for the deceased "neighbors."

The programme consisted of sacred musical selections by the band with the ritual service an appropriate vocal solo by Hager Anderson, after which Attorney Joseph Chee, orator of the day, delivered an address commemorative of those who have "crossed the river, and rest beneath the shade of the trees."

Never before has the order been in a more flourishing condition. There are now six hundred members in the city and the membership rolls are being added to almost continuously. Since its organization in 1894, $1,000 has been paid out by the Ogden lodge to its beneficiaries; $15,000 of this amount distributed alone during the past year.

New Car Schedule.

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, June 7.—Beginning Sunday, a new schedule on the Hot Springs line of the Ogden Rapid Transit company was inaugurated. The schedule is as follows: They will be run one hour and a half apart and will not stop in the city limits to take on or let off passengers.

Cars leave the corner of Twenty-fifth street and Washington avenue at 6:30 a. m. and every hour and a half thereafter, the last car leaving the city for the springs at 11 p. m.

EPHRAIM NEWS NOTES

Special to The Tribune. EPHRAIM, June 7.—Many matters of importance were brought up at the meeting of the city council at Ephraim, on the evening of June 7.

Major David N. Beal spoke of the danger of the cave-in on the creek on Main street, and urged that some action be taken. On motion of Councilman Anderson the council decided to uncover the creek, remove the rubbish, construct a retaining wall along the west side of the channel and erect a railing along the outer side of the adjoining walk.

On June 18 and 19 a conference of the delegates from various commercial clubs, organizations from Sevier, Garfield and Piute counties will be held. The object of this meeting will be the advertising of the resources of central Utah. A committee has been appointed to take the matter in hand, and it is expected that this gathering will be one of the most important meetings ever held in this city.

American Fork News

Special to The Tribune. AMERICAN FORK, June 7.—The work of completing the power line from this city to the Knight smelter at Silver City is now well advanced. The copper wire has been strung and all that now remains before the power is turned on, is the completion of the transformer station at the smelter end of the line.

As soon as the power is ready the new smelter will receive ore. This will enable the smeltermen to place in operation the smelter which has been completed for some time. The actual smelting of ore will not commence until a later date, as the plant still lacks considerable of being in readiness.

LEHI NEWS NOTES

Special to The Tribune. LEHI, June 7.—Lehi is planning for the biggest pioneer celebration in its history. Sculptors are at work on a pioneer monument. The monument will be a twenty-foot shaft of Vermont granite, set on a suitable base, and will commemorate several important events in Lehi's history.

A committee is also at work on a history of Lehi. The history will deal more practically with the first settlers, first industries, giving names, dates and details, and also the successive events in the city's progress. It will be illustrated and already much interest is being evinced in its compilation. Karl Hopkins will write the history.

The Democrats of Lehi last night elected A. J. Evans, George Zimmerman, James Mason, W. F. Jurney, A. B. Anderson and Edward Southwick delegates, and Morgan Howell, G. N. Child, Ray Brigg, R. J. Evans, Thomas Jones and Ann Davis alternates to the Democratic State convention. These delegates were instructed to secure the State convention's indorsement for Bryan and to hustle for Able John Evans for a delegate to the Denver convention. Wedding bells have been ringing merrily in Lehi. Wednesday G. N. Child, cashier of the Bank of Lehi, and Miss Julia Allemen, supervisor of the primary schools of Springville, were married. Tuesday Miss Edna Hackett, both teachers in the local public schools, were also married in the Salt Lake Temple same day. Weddings scheduled for the coming week are Morgan Lott and Rose Peterson, Abram Anderson and Miss Lillian Darton.
