

ACAPULCO CITIZEN PAYS CITY VISIT

Talks of Famous Port and Tells of Wonderful Possibilities of Country.

HERE TO PLACE ISLAND ACROSS BAY FROM CITY

New Railway of Which Judge Barch Is Chief Counsel Means Much to Country.

An interesting visitor in the city is Walter J. Veale of Acapulco, the famous port on the Pacific coast of Mexico. It is now the second greatest harbor in the world, but with the completion of the Panama canal it will be in the direct pathway of all the commerce moving via the Orient.

Mr. Veale has lived in Mexico for fifteen years and is well versed in its general history and especially its wonderful development from an industrial standpoint. He is going over to the bay with a view to placing a large body of land which he owns, consisting of an entire island two miles long and one mile wide, from Acapulco. The land consists of 150,000 acres and is known as El Petreño island. Its lands are perhaps the richest and most fertile in the world. The soil is of alluvial formation and made from the decayed tuff which has been decaying and depositing itself in the bay for centuries. A remarkable fact about the island is that it has been formed by two rivers flowing into the bay, and the water for irrigation is plentiful should irrigation be desired, but the rainfall amounts to from 75 to 100 inches annually, so irrigation will not be needed except in certain cases.

At present growing on 5000 acres of the land in para grass, which will support three head of cattle per acre, and is rounded. This acreage is under fence, the posts being made of mahogany, ebony, rosewood and other valuable hardwoods.

Suitable for Cocoanuts.

The land is particularly suitable for the raising of cocoanuts, which is a very profitable business, as the trees bear early and live from 15 to 100 years. The trees require but little attention other than the picking of the nuts four times a year, which work is performed by small boys who receive a cent a day. The nuts grown there are used for the extraction of the oil, and the oil is shipped from Acapulco to all parts of the world for the manufacture of soap and lard.

The island is also especially adapted to the growing of oranges, lemons, pineapples, cotton and, in fact, almost everything except wheat.

Acapulco has about 5000 people, and two large railroads are in course of construction, which will give it an outlook. One road is being built direct to Mexico City and will bring the capital and the interior in direct communication with this seaport, which is the nearest to the large city, is large enough to hold the entire Mexican navy of the future, and is destined to become one of the really great Pacific coast ports.

When asked about the Mexican Pacific, the road of which Judge G. W. Barch is chief counsel, Mr. Veale stated that it is a line of great possibilities, destined to open up an immense area along the coast, connecting Cruz and Manzanillo and touching at Acapulco and other ports. The full details of the country to be tapped by this projected line were given in the Tribune last Monday, but Mr. Veale adds that it is a wonderfully fertile stretch of country, and that the facilities which any great amount up to the present, it is solely owing to the fact that there is no way of getting the produce to a market, and it is estimated that the new line will be obtained when the new line is built and there are sufficient people to produce a large tonnage.

Climate Ideal.

The climate of the whole region along the coast is ideal. Even in summer it is not unpleasant, as the Japan current fans a breeze along the coast from morning until late at night. Immigration is going along steadily on the coast. Above the port of Acapulco a Seattle company is really making money from the northwest, and a short way above this company's tract, at Sinaloa, a Canadian company has its land and buildings on the land this year. At the mouth of the Rio Balsas river the Rothschilds of France own 35,000 acres, which are now being prepared for a big French emigration, and a short distance up that river, where it is fed by the Marañon river, a company from Wallace, Idaho, has a tract which will also be colonized, and there are, in addition, three or four other American colonies.

All in all, Mr. Veale gives a most interesting story of the republic to the south, and while it is really known except by those who have lived there. That it has a wonderful future seems to be assured, and it is just such things as these great railroad and colonization schemes that are going to build up the country.

COMPLAINTS ISSUED AGAINST HANSING

Former Clerk of Health Board Finds Himself in a Predicament.

Two complaints were issued by the county attorney Friday against F. L. Hansing, former clerk of the city board of health, charging him with committing a public nuisance and with abusing a dependent neglected child. Some time ago Mr. Hansing took Mary Proctor, a 15-year-old girl, from the juvenile court to work for him. The child was taken sick Thursday and Mr. Hansing took her back to the juvenile court and secured permission from the county commissioners to have her treated by the county physician. Assistant County Physician Kirtley diagnosed the girl's case as scarlet fever, whereupon Mr. Hansing refused to permit her to return to his home on account of the disease, exposing his infant child to the disease.

The county officials tried to compel Mr. Hansing to permit the girl to return to his home, but he refused and she was taken to the county infirmary Thursday evening, where she will remain in quarantine.

In one complaint Mr. Hansing is charged with permitting the girl, knowing she had scarlet fever, to go out from his home and thereby endanger the health of the citizens of Salt Lake county and thereby committing a public nuisance. In the other complaint he is charged with abusing her by refusing to permit her to return to his home, knowing that she was afflicted with the disease.

PAPPAS FORGERY CASE DISMISSED BY LEWIS

The case of the state against G. K. M. Pappas, charged with forgery for uttering a forged instrument, was dismissed by Judge Lewis of the district court Friday morning on the plea of insanity. Pappas was charged with forging the name of George Makis to a check for $100 on the Merchants' bank last October and with passing the same. The complaining witness in the case did not appear in court, hence the charge was dismissed.

Foot Bridge Wanted.

A petition was filed with the city recorder Friday by Elizabeth Baer and other residents of the local-ity asking that the city construct a wooden foot-bridge over the Ninth South Street. They claim that the only bridge at the present is a wagon bridge and that it is so congested with wagon traffic that pedestrians are practically shut out from the use of the bridge. The matter will be considered by the city council Monday night.

David Keith, Jr., Entertains Friends

Looking over the balcony upon the bright faces below, it was seen that the belle and beau of a coming generation will vie with those of the past and present in grace, beauty and wit. Dainty maids in white gowns with ribbons, lacy and slippers of delicate shades and young boys in their tuxedos made a picture worth looking at, and that all was as merry as possible went on until the young folks were tired. The room had been tastefully decorated and in the dining room refreshments were served all evening.

It was a most successful and enjoyable party in every way, and the young set of the evening was extended many congratulations and good wishes.

EARLY CLOSING IS GIVEN IMPETUS

Mass Meeting of Those Interested in Movement Held at Federation of Labor Hall.

STRONG ADDRESSES IN FAVOR OF PLAN MADE

To Defray Expenses of Proposition, Clerks Will Give Ball at Saltair March 25.

More than 300 persons gathered at the Federation of Labor hall Friday evening, crowding the big auditorium to its capacity, and listened to several stirring addresses by advocates of the early closing movement recently inaugurated by the retail clerks of the city. The purpose of the meeting was to promote in the general public of the city a movement to do its shopping early Saturday, and among those who addressed the mass meeting were the Rev. P. A. Simpkin, pastor of the Phillips Presbyterian church; the Rev. Herbert E. Hays, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church; Mrs. L. Andrews of Walker Brothers department store; the Rev. H. A. Hanson; Mrs. Joseph M. Cohen, president of the Women's league, who was unable to attend the meeting but who addressed the meeting by letter; and several other speakers.

Strong Arguments.

The Rev. Mr. Simpkin delivered a strong address, in which he urged that the stores be closed early Saturday afternoon, stating that although J. G. McDonald had been begged to renounce the girls and give them what he claimed was their just demand, Mr. McDonald would not give in. He suggested that the girls refrain from the use of McDonald's store, and his remarks met with the hearty approval of the meeting.

To Give Grand Ball.

Announcement was made at the meeting that the clerks will hold a grand ball at Saltair the evening of Friday, March 25. The ball will be given for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the early closing campaign.

Attention was also called to "tag days," which will come next Thursday. Letters from the merchants' committee department, clothing and stores of the city were read, advocating the early shopping campaign and promising the clerks their support.

CONTRACTORS MUST GET A HOSTLE ON

This Is Order From the Public Works Board to Davis & Heuser.

KENNEDY COMPANY ALSO TO PUT ON MORE STEAM

Object Is the Early Completion of Aqueduct and Sewer Work.

The board of public works at its meeting Friday night instructed the clerk to notify Davis & Heuser to complete the North Temple street aqueduct at the earliest possible date so that it will be ready for use in the event of high water in City creek. The concrete work on the job has been finished, but the dam at the Jordan river end of the aqueduct has to be removed before the aqueduct can be used and the street has to be placed in condition, where the excavating was done, before the contract is completed. The board wants all of this work done at once and will so advise the contractors.

The work of repairing the street paving in the business district will be commenced today. Chief Inspector Fitzpatrick stated to the board that P. J. Moran intended to begin that work this morning.

E. H. A. Folland, superintendent of buildings for the city board of education, appeared before the board and asked that the contractors be requested to complete the sewer near the new Jefferson school at the earliest possible time. The request was granted by the board and the Kennedy Construction company will be notified to complete the sewer without delay.

J. W. Mellen was given an extension of three months' time in which to complete his contract for the grading of Fourth North street from East Capitol avenue to the Boulevard. The contractor claimed that the board delayed the work that length of time in awarding the contract.

The board approved estimates for work done on public improvements amounting to the total sum of $17,352.88.

FRAUD IS CHARGED IN SUIT OVER STOCK

Sears & Jerey Company Said to Have Been Insolvent When Sale Was Made.

Alleging false and fraudulent representations in regard to the sale of 815 shares of stock in the Sears & Jerey company, Isaac and J. C. Jorgensen and Peter Frost filed suit in the district court Friday against Alice Sears and William G. Sears, asking that the contract for the sale of the stock be canceled and for the return of $500 which they paid as a part of the purchase price.

It is alleged that on February 27, 1909, Mrs. Sears and her husband entered into a contract for the sale of the stock to the plaintiffs, and at that time they alleged that the stock was worth $2000, and that the company owned certain property in the city and was not indebted to exceed the sum of $475.

All these representations, it is claimed, were false and fraudulent, and at the time the contract was entered into it is alleged, the company was indebted in the total sum of more than $7500 and was insolvent. Hence, it is asked that the contract be canceled and that the $500 paid on it be returned.
