ULSTER IS THE STORM CENTER OF AGITATION

Discussions by Winston Churchill and John Redmond at Belfast of Home Rule May Provoke Riots.

ORANGE LEADERS ARE MEETING FOR DRILL

Unionists to Hold Demonstration. Feb 1; Presbyterians of Ireland Take the Lead in Organization.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Ulster now is the political storm center of the United Kingdom. Home rule has been discussed in England and Scotland by Nationalists and Unionists, but no great enthusiasm has been aroused, either for or against. In Ireland, outside of Ulster, the people firmly are convinced they are to have home rule. Ulsterites, however are up to their eyes in fight. Several big demonstrations have been held in various parts of Ulster to protest against any change in the form of government of the country. One of the demonstrations in Belfast was by the industrials; in Omagh it was largely made up of farmers, small holders and farm laborers, who showed just as strong opposition to home rule as did their city brothers. In the latter place again the Ulsterites pledged themselves to form a provisional government if the bill is passed.

Every voter in Ulster, however, is not a Unionist. There is, in fact, a fairly large sprinkling of Nationalists. In many cases the Unionist members were returned in the last election only by narrow majorities, the marquis of Hamilton, for instance, winning by only 100 votes in Londonderry. One division of Belfast itself is represented by Joseph Devlin, a Nationalist leader.

Rioting a Certainty.

In this district, the battleground for home rule for the present at least, the government and Nationalists soon are to hold a meeting. Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, is to be spokesman of the government for home rule, and he is to be accompanied by John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, and by other Irish politicians. The date selected for the meeting is February 8 and Unionists and Nationalists of Belfast are predicting a lively night, no matter where the meeting is held. Elaborate police precautions will be taken for the protection of Mr. Churchill. Should he be joined by Mr. Redmond in the drive from the residence where he is to be a guest to the place of meeting, with Mr. Redmond's usual escort of Nationalists, it is almost certain that there will be rioting.

Except for a visit of Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer in 1906, and another by Mr. Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, in 1907, no Liberal statesman has spoken in Belfast for eighteen years, and when Mr. Churchill and Mr. Redmond address the meeting it will be the first time a Liberal cabinet minister and the Nationalist leader have spoken from the same platform in the city.

Unionists Organizing.

Unionists are organizing a counter demonstration, but the first lord of the admiralty, in advocating a medley which his father, with equal vehemence, denounced, will be the center of attraction. It will be an interesting moment in the interesting life of Mr. Churchill.

Andrew Bonar Law, the Unionist leader, will go to Belfast on Easter Sunday, April 9, to reply to Mr. Churchill, and there will be another demonstration, so that Belfast has a lively time ahead.

The announced determination to fight, rather than accept home rule, is taking the form of organization in Ulster. One reads in the Unionist papers of the appointment of drill masters to instruct the members of the 1300 Orange lodges in the use of arms, and William Moore, member of parliament, has taken the lead in offering the use of land for drilling purposes and announcing that as justice of the peace, he would give trustworthy persons the necessary permission to drill. Under the bill of rights, he declared, protestants could not be prevented from carrying arms, and drilling could be carried on under licenses from two justices.

A Church Fight.

The Irish Unionists have taken the old city hall of Belfast for their headquarters, and they say this will be the home of the provisional government should home rule become an accomplished fact. The next Unionist demonstration will be held in Belfast February 1. It is being organized by Presbyterians of Ireland, and it promises to be even more largely attended than its predecessors. Invitations have been accepted by leading Presbyterians from all parts of the country for a convention on that day and here the formal protest against the bill will be made. The objections of Ulster have been set forth by Right Hon. Thomas Sinclair, one of the leading merchants of Belfast, a former Liberal, who left that party upon the introduction of Mr. Gladstone's first home rule bill in 1886 and since then has been a leader of the anti-home rulers.

There are many objections to the measure he said, but among the chief is that it would lessen the status of the citizenship of Ulster men. Under the Union they had the same service status as a resident of England, the same rule of local affairs, the same representation in parliament and enjoyed the benefits of its legislation. To deprive them of this would be an unwarrantable degradation of their citizenship, especially as their forefathers were sent to Ulster 300 years ago by the state for the purpose of assisting, by their habits of industry and their loyalty, to hold Ireland for the British nation.

Disaster Predicted.

There was no doubt, he added, that civil strife and disorder would follow the establishment of home rule, and would plunge industry and commerce into serious disaster. The same result would be produced by the insolvency of a home rule government, for the resources of Ireland would fall several million below the amount necessary to run the government, and it was scarcely conceivable that England would make up the deficiency.

Then there was the religious aspect of the case. Ulster Unionists consider that safeguards against Nationalist injustice would not be worth the paper they were written on. Unionist legislation, Sir Thomas continued, had advanced the prosperity of Ireland by leaps and bounds, as evidenced by the trade figures, which reached in exports and imports in 1910 the sum of $676,000,000—probably the greatest per capita of any country in Europe. Home rule would set this prosperity back, if it did not entirely ruin the industries which Ireland had to thank for her present increased happy position.

Princess Who Finds Old Gems In Her Chateau

PRINCESS POLIGNAO.

Special Cable to The Tribune.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—While searching about her chateau at Polignao the Princess Edmond de Polignao, formerly Miss Winceretta Singer, daughter of the late Isaac Singer of New York, found a magnificent collection of garnets, opals, jacinths, amethysts, sapphires and rubies hidden in out-of-the-way corners. Parisian jewelers who have been permitted to examine the gems are of the opinion that their value will amount to many thousands of dollars.

FORT DOUGLAS PUT UNDER OFFICIAL BAN

couver Barracks, Washington, near Portland, Ore., and the Presidios of San Francisco and Monterey, Cal., one or both of which may be included in the California strategic group.

Next comes a process of heavy elimination, for it is held that probably one only of the following posts should be retained:

Benjamin Harrison, Indiana; Columbus Barracks, Ohio; Fort Sheridan, Illinois; Fort Des Moines, Iowa; Crook, Nebraska; Omaha, Nebraska; Leavenworth, Kansas; Riley, Kansas; Snelling, Minnesota; Jefferson Barracks, Missouri.

Snelling and Jefferson Barracks might be retained if it were decided to make them stations of all arms. Riley might serve as a suitable location for a cavalry brigade.

Four posts recommended for retention are Fort Sill, Oklahoma, peculiarly adapted for use as a school of artillery and musketry fire.

Bliss, Texas, and Huachuca, Ariz., needed as cavalry outposts for some time in the southern border, and Fort Ayer, Va., where it probably will be necessary to retain a small garrison near the national capital for escort duty and other ceremonial purposes.

The report says that each succeeding secretary of war has been hampered in getting rid of useless and expensive posts by local and political influences. It is asserted that no less than $20,000,000 has been spent on such posts in the last ten years, and every dollar so expended began an argument against their abandonment.

"Doubtless this argument will be used again to prevent the concentration desired by the present secretary of war," the report continues, "and unless approached in the spirit of the great business corporation which ruthlessly tears down a six-story building no longer suited to its needs to erect a twenty-story building found necessary, the present movement for efficient and economically administered forts will fail, as have preceding efforts."

Manchus Called Upon to Abdicate, as Armistice in China Has Expired and Will Not Be Renewed.

TROOPS ARE READY TO MARCH ON PEKIN

President Sun Yat Sen Sends Note to the Powers Accusing Yuan of Intriguing for Dictatorship.

NANKING, Jan. 28.—The armistice that has been in operation several weeks expired today, but no definite steps have been taken for its renewal. Neither Tang Shao Yi, the representative of Yuan Shi Kai, nor Wu Ting Fang, the Republican minister of justice, expects serious fighting. Dr. Wu said in this connection:

"There is no one to fight; all are our friends."

Chang Hsun, commander of the imperial troops, has his central base at Su-Chow-Fu, in the northern part of Kiang-Su province.

Under his direct command are 8000 good fighters, inured to the winter. The revolutionists' center is at Lyhwai Kwan in Ngarwei province, about 100 miles from Nanking. The revolutionists number 15,000 men, eager for fighting, but not acclimated.

General Chang now occupies a special car, a point of vantage from which he directs his troops, but a significant fact is that an engine is attached at both ends of the car. His retreat, however, is cut off 100 miles to the north by the cities along the railway line, which a few days ago went over to the revolutionists.

Abdication Expected.

It is believed here that abdication will come when Yuan Shi Kai is satisfied that the Chinese troops in Pekin are sufficient in numbers to control the Manchus.

The senate was inaugurated here yesterday. It is made up of 42 senators, who appeared in foreign dress. President Sun Yat Sen, in his speech, urged unity. He said that it was proposed by the new regime to build up, not to destroy.

At the close of the president's address, there was an impressive scene, the members rising in a body and giving three cheers for the republic. The hall was decorated handsomely and a military band played popular airs familiar to the foreigners.

President Sun has sent a telegram to Yuan Shi Kai informing him that if abdication is imminent he would hold back the Republican troops for two or three days.

Sends Note to Powers.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—A dispatch from Tien Tsin to the Exchange Telegraph says the imperial family met at the palace in Pekin on Sunday to consider the question of abdication. Yuan Shi Kai has consented to the convening of the national assembly either at Hankow or Tsing-Tau.

According to the Daily Telegraph's Pekin correspondent, President Sun Yat Sen has sent a note to the powers, through the Pekin legations, stigmatizing Yuan Shi Kai as the champion of the Manchus and accusing him of repudiating his pledges and agreements and of intriguing to secure the dictatorship.

The president says the Republicans have not changed their terms, but will insist upon a guarantee that Premier Yuan Shi Kai will work solely for sound republican government.

Bomb and revolver outrages are increasing in Pekin, Tien Tsin and Mukden. There have been thirty-two of these in Mukden in the last five days.

A Shanghai dispatch to the Telegram says that a national convention at Nanking resolved unanimously not to extend armistice.

Wu Makes Threats.

PEKIN, Jan. 28.—"The Pekin government is trying to secure an extension of the armistice, but Wu Ting Fang, republican minister of justice, has telegraphed threatening to renew hostilities tomorrow unless abdication is accomplished. Three thousand more of Yuan Shi Kai's troops have arrived in Pekin, bringing the total up to 7000 men.

Tai Lieng, former Tartar general at Nanking, who has been opposed strongly to Premier Yuan, has fled from Pekin and is supposed to have gone to Tien Tsin.

LITTLE PROSPECT OF AN AGREEMENT

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 28.—With the miners demanding an increase of 10 cents a ton on a mine run basis, and a 20 per cent increase for day labor about the mines, and the operators declaring for reductions of 10 cents a ton and a 20 per cent cut in wages paid for day labor, there is little prospect of the bituminous coal miners and operators of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and western Pennsylvania reaching an agreement on a wage scale, when they resume their joint conference tomorrow.

The delegates to the convention of the United Mine Workers of America are expected to complete their work on the proposed new constitution within a few days.

DRUG FIEND STEALS SILVER COFFIN PLATE

By International News Service.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—A silver coffin plate bearing the inscription "At Rest" was among the queer collection of articles confiscated by the police in the cocaine dive conducted by Eugene Huston, "the drug king of Chicago." Old violins and bits of valuable jewelry also indicated to what lengths drug fiends will go to purchase cocaine. Huston would accept any sort of valuable in exchange for the drug.

WOLTER CALM AS HE FACES DEATH

them both by working in a bakery. He was idle, shiftless and ignorant. His fondness for the society of women led him to answer advertisements inserted by girls seeking positions, and have them call at his flat in the belief that he could give them employment. It was a decoy of this kind that brought little Ruth Wheeler to his place on March 4, 1910. That was the last she was seen alive.

Three weeks after her disappearance Wolter was placed under arrest, and a search of the flat revealed the charred remnants of the child's body wrapped in oil cloth on the fire escape. Charred bones were also found in the fire place.

Wolter was convicted on April 22, 1910, and sentenced five days later. The case was appealed and two continuances were granted, delaying the execution almost two years. The delay in carrying out the sentence has caused widespread indignation, and probably will result in a reform in judicial procedure in this state.

WOLTER PREPARES FINAL STATEMENT

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Albert W. Wolter, the youth who murdered and burned Ruth Wheeler in New York nearly two years ago, will be executed at Sing Sing prison before daylight tomorrow.

The visit of Wolter's aged parents, who came up from New York in the afternoon was affecting, but the doomed youth went through it without emotion. The mother collapsed in her son's arms when she met him. After his parents left the youth said:

"Poor old mother. How sorry I feel for her and dad, too, I don't mind going to the electric chair, but its terrible on them. I will be glad when its all over."

Wolter sent word to Warden Kennedy late tonight that a statement would be placed in that official's hands when the murderer left his cell to go to the death chair. Warden Kennedy said he had no hint as to whether the statement would be a repetition of the protestations of innocence or a confession.

The statement sent to the governor recently by Wolter repeated the allegation made at his trial to the effect that another man who roomed with him committed the murder. The police never were able to find any trace of such a character as Wolter tried to describe and his description was so broken down in the cross-examination that the subject of it was regarded as mythical.

LEADING ATTORNEY MAY BE INDICTED

By International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28.—According to Assistant District Attorney W. J. Ford, who has been handling the investigation before the county grand jury of the alleged bribery by the defense of jurors in the late McNamara dynamiting case, the grand jury will report tomorrow. It is thought by those who have been following the investigation that the grand jury will return at least three indictments. One of these, it is expected, will be directed against a prominent member of the McNamara defense; another against a relative of this man, who is believed to have brought the money with which Detective Bert Franklin is alleged to have bribed a McNamara juror, and the third indictment will probably be directed against Franklin himself.

Chief Counsel Clarence Darrow of the McNamara defense, returned from San Francisco this morning, after a few days' absence. He has retained Attorney Earl Rodgers to represent him here in the event any contingency requiring the services of an attorney should arise. Rodgers gave out an interview a few days ago to the federal grand jury to this effect.

The federal grand jury will reconvene tomorrow and, it is said, in a few days will take up the investigation into the alleged fraudulent use of the mails in the collection of the McNamara defense fund.

WHITMAN TO REPORT ON BRANDT CASE TODAY

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The scene of the fight of Folke Engel Brandt to escape serving a thirty-year sentence for burglary at the home of Mortimer L. Schiff, his former employer, shifts tomorrow from New York to Albany, where District Attorney Whitman will file a voluminous report tending to show that the young man is a victim of a huge injustice as mute evidence against the contentions of former Judge Alton B. Parker, Paul D. Cravath, or some representative of the great law firms, that the man deserves his full sentence.

Every indication points to a commutation of Brandt's sentence for three reasons. The first, according to the ordinary procedure in such cases, is that upon all the evidence in the case, if this were to appear as a new prosecution, a public prosecutor would not be warranted in submitting the case to an unbiased jury with any hope of obtaining a verdict of guilty of burglary. Second, that the man pleaded guilty upon a misapprehension of the effect or upon misrepresentation of what the consequences of such a plea would be. Third, that the extraordinary severity of the sentence demands commutation.

MONSTER PARADE AT LAWRENCE, MASS.

By International News Service.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Jan. 28.—The mill strikers have arranged a monster parade for tomorrow to influence some of the men who are weakening not to return to work. An extra force of soldiers was detailed tonight to guard the mill property. The militia men have been ordered not to interfere with the demonstration unless the mill property is attacked.

Hundreds of the strikers are beginning to feel the effects of their long day off. Most of them are practically without funds with which to buy food and fuel and the dealers are threatening to cut off all credit.

TWELVE DROWNED IN MISSISSIPPI RIVER

Victims Attempt to Cross Father of Waters in Rowboat; Caught in Ice Jam.

CAIRO, Ill., Jan. 28.—Twelve persons are believed to have been drowned two miles south of here at 3 o'clock this afternoon when a rowboat in which they were being brought to this city from Bird's Point became lost in an ice jam.

The passengers were part of 125 who left a noon Cotton Belt train at Birds' Point, Mo., and were left without conveyance across the river because the river ferryman feared to risk his steamer in the ice and heavy fog.

Three boatmen were hired to carry the passengers to this side of the river. Two of them took five passengers each. Frank Jones, said to be an experienced boatman, permitted twelve to get into his boat.

The boatmen of the two lighter ferries were about fifty yards ahead of Jones when they heard shouts for help and turning, saw Jones battling frantically with a monster fleet that was sweeping his craft beyond control. The heavy fog then hid the lost party from view and nothing has since been heard of the ferryman or his passengers.

Most of those in the lost boat are thought to have been in a party that boarded a train at Lilburn, Mo., but their identity has not been established.

Searching parties on both sides of the river spent the afternoon and early night patroling the banks, but at a late hour reported that their search had been fruitless.

HIS WORK SPURNED, SCULPTOR KILLS SELF

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The body of Charles Y. Harvey, a sculptor, who disappeared a few days ago in a fit of despondency over the refusal of a plaster group, to which he had pinned his hopes for fame and fortune, was found today with his throat cut in a patch of woods near Long Bridge in Bronx park. In one hand was a razor, the one that the man had used to kill himself, and ten feet away another razor was found. In one pocket was $101 in bills and in another an American Express company bill of lading bearing the dead man's name.

Harvey was little more than thirty years old. He had maintained studio apartments in the Lincoln square arcade since he returned from Paris a year ago. While in Paris he won several medals for his work, and was believed to be prospering here. His studio is said to have been occupied for several years by Howard Christy.

A year ago Harvey received an order from a French concern for a plaster group, which, his friends said today, was to have adorned a cathedral under course of construction in a French city. Recently, his friends say, he learned that his efforts of a year had gone for naught and for several days before his disappearance he was downcast and refused to speak to anyone.

Harvey was a native of New England. His friends say his mother lives either in Bridgeport, Conn., or Great Barrington, Mass.

AVIATION MEET AT LOS ANGELES CLOSED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 28.—The third international aviation meet at Dominguez field closed today, having lasted nine days. Aviator Ruterford Page of New York City was killed in the meet, Howard Gill of Baltimore was badly injured, and the other aviators will share about $30,000 in prize money. Lincoln Beachey and Phil O. Parmalee will get most of it.

The record for making three figure eights in succession was broken at the meet by Beachey, who did it in 1:09 4-5, and a few moments later by Parmalee, whose time was 1:03 2-5. No other record was made.

Night flying was a feature of the meet, and army and navy officers said it demonstrated the use of the aeroplane for this sort of work in warfare.

At today's exhibition, Beachey volplaned from a height of 5000 feet, and Blanche Stuart Scott, the only woman aviator at the meet, made some fancy figures in the air.

GOVERNOR WILSON DECLINES TO TALK

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—"Not a word, not a word, gentlemen," was Governor Woodrow Wilson's reply to a group of newspapermen who met him on his arrival here tonight from Providence, in the expectation that he might have something to say regarding Col. Henry Watterson's suggestion for a "court of honor" to decide whether the governor's campaign manager had authorized the solicitation of campaign funds from Thomas F. Ryan.

The governor will stop here over night and then leave for Trenton to be present when the legislature meets in the morning.

LABORER IS BURIED ALIVE IN A TRENCH

Ernest Walters Entombed While Working on Logan Dam; May Be Rescued.

Special to The Tribune.

LOGAN, Jan. 28.—Ernest Walters, a Norwegian, employed by the Moran Construction company in the building of the dam at the mouth of Logan canyon, was buried by a cave-in in the exploration trench at the dam site today.

Walters was digging in a pit fifteen feet below the level of the river bed when the accident occured. It is thought the dirt became loosened by the recent warm weather. Up to a late hour tonight, the workmen who have been steadily digging to rescue Walters were yet several feet away from where he was supposed to be at the time of the cave-in.

There is a bare possibility that the sheath piling in the trench may have held back some of the dirt and that Walters may be taken out alive.

DRY SUNDAY AT NOTED RESORT

Wave of Reform at Newport, R. I.; Gamblers Idle and Liquor Banished.

By International News Service.

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 28.—Newport was as dry as a bone today as a result of the campaign against gambling and the sale of liquor. Cafes and other places, including those who do not care to purchase a city license, but have a green plaster from the federal government, kept their bottled stimulants in stoves or under beds lest they become victims of a wholesale raid, while the thirsty cooled their heels outside. The clubs were represented by a full membership, but the curtains were drawn.

Rev. William Safford Jones, pastor of Channing Memorial church, who is secretary of the Citizens' Union, preached a sermon against gambling and the vice traffic here. Mr. Jones said among other things: "It is a hopeful sign when we begin to worry over moral rottenness in the community. It means the birth of a higher social and civic life. It shows that in spite of deceiving appearances the world is really growing better.

"The moral wrath of decent men and women in all grades of society are beginning to feel the very disgust with which we contemplate the degradation of our fair community; the rising tide of moral determination which bodes ill to cheap and time-serving politicians—all this is a sign of hope, the promise of a better day."
