WHITE SLAVERY IS

LEGITIMATE THEME

Subject Is Discussed in Detail by Clifford G. Roe of Chicago.

BLAMES FALSE MODESTY

Urges Parents to Be Honest

With Children; Makes

Appeal to Men.

False modesty on the part of parents, failure of citizens to stand behind officers of the law, public dance halls, objectionable literature, reckless songs, economic wrongs and the finger of scorn are chiefly responsible for "white slavery" in the world, according to Clifford G. Roe of Chicago, who last night, in Assembly hall, delivered an address on this subject under the auspices of the Social Service society of Utah.

Some of the striking observations of Mr. Roe follow:

The twentieth century seems destined to be one of social reforms. This question is no longer confined to the municipality—it has become a national and an international issue.

Errors Pointed Out.

Our forefathers deemed telegraphically wireless transmission of words, the telephone, the automobile and the locomotive to be the greatest inventions.

Appeals to Real Men.

Affected innocence is false modesty. Parents should take their children into their confidence and tell them the things they ought to know.

One Standard Urged.

The time has come when men are beginning to say, "We shall have but one standard of morality, to apply to men and women alike."

SHOW FOR CONVI

PLAYED AT

Vaudeville Artists New More Appreciative of Audience to Face.

TWO WOMEN

Inmates of State Ins

Through J. M. She

Express Gratitude

The stoical look, usually the faces of convicts serving the state prison, was absent this morning, and in its place a pressure of pleasure during hours that the prisoners were entertained with a vaudeville show by actors from various local theatres. The performance was arranged by Carpenter of the Orpheum with the exception of the vaudeville and newspaper men, even in the audience was a state of its whitewashed walls and windows, was filled with expectant faces, and the prison band was rousing march when the act about 10:30 o'clock. No scene was arranged; the performance even made up and instead of Cal Carrington, the Orpheum had only a wheezy little company on. In spite of the lack of the performance was a success and probably a popular vaudeville performance such heavy applause and laughs to the square inch.

They All Helped.

Those who took part in the vaudeville show were Gene Owen, a local actor, who was an old-time vaudeville artist; Arthur Morse, of the Utah Theater Stock; Lew Wells, monologist and player, appearing this week at press, and Marshall Wentz, wonderful ventriloquist at the Orpheum.

Reminder of Freedom.

With the exception of those who are doing state road work in the institution was from the treat of the same murderers, doing life sentences, were present and they were given the opportunity to see the prisoners' faces to indicate their condition.

Today.

The first of the three sections of the de luxe special excursion to Los Angeles will leave the Salt Lake Route union station this morning promptly at 11 o'clock. A half hour later the second section will follow, and at noon the third section will follow. More than 1000 reservations have already been made, and the trains will be comfortably filled, but not overcrowded, according to officials of the road.

All Make Hits.

Mr. Owen was first to make a hit with a good few words of talk, a deck of cards was able to take any card and a bag which produced every card he said the magic word, Mr. Owen's audience continually applauded.

Prison Band There.

Like many other vaudeville acts the best was saved for the referring to Marshall Wentz, premier ventriloquist, who this week at the Orpheum, had listened to a vaudeville show the last performance given at the prison, and he was proved to be with the approval of the prisoners, who were given the opportunity to see the prisoners' faces to indicate their condition.
