DR. RAND'S SPECIFIC.—The oldest and most reliable medicine for the cure of Spermatorhœa, Seminal Weakness, Loss of Power, &c. This medicine has stood the test of over thirty years and has always proved a success.

Dr. Rand's Specific is exhibited in the form of pills, made up entirely of substances that have a specific effect upon the generative organs. Most persons associate the idea of operations upon the bowels from taking any kind of pills. The Specific of Dr. Rand is not intended as an evacuating medicine, its medicinal virtues are expended entirely upon the impaired regenerative organs. The pills are not unpleasant to the taste, and many persons masticate them with impunity before swallowing them, which plan we would always recommend, as affording the speediest way to get the effect of the remedy.

Price $1 per box, or six boxes for $5. Sold by Druggists everywhere. JOHN J. KROMER,

SLAVERY IN KENTUCKY.

IMPORTANT LETTER FROM GOV. BRAMLETTE.

FRANKFORT, April 22, 1865.—Brevet Brigadier General Jas. S. Brisbin, Louisville, Ky.—General:—Your communication of the 20th inst. did not reach me until the evening of the 21st.

I concur with you in the opinion that a prosperous and healthy system of regulated labor in Kentucky cannot be regained except upon a free basis. The result of the rebellion has been to withdraw from slave labor all protection and to destroy the power to protect it. The effect of rebellion has been to revolutionize popular judgment upon the subject of slavery, and fix upon it the inexorable decree of "extermination." Were all the legitimate powers of the Government exerted to foster it into vigor, instead of to destroy, it may well be questioned whether this would succeed in building it up.

Whether rightfully or wrongfully it is needless now to inquire. Slavery is regarded by the masses as the fruitful source of all our woes, and as inimical to our future peace and unity. This revolution cannot go backward. As men of prudence and patriotism we must accept the logic of events, and recognize existing facts. That slavery must end I accept as one of the facts ordained by this revolution wrought out by rebellion. That it should end as speedily as possible is a corollary which a practical wisdom and prudent common sense must indicate. On the demonstration of our [illegible] the whole labor system is broken up and utterly demoralized. Slavery has become an incubus upon our energies, a burden to our advancement and a negative to our prosperity.

There is no hope of improvement under the present regime, nor the slightest prospect of growing better until the revolution has been fully accomplished in universal emancipation. The transition period from slave to free labor must ever be embarrassing to industry, and calamitous to posterity. It is therefore, in my judgment, the requirement of wisdom, out of a prudent regard to our best interests and highest prosperity, as well as the mandate of an exalted patriotism, that we should conform as readily and speedily as practicable to this decree of the revolution, foreordained by rebellion and now sealed with the unalterable sentiment of the American people. The conclusion which I deduce from the logic of events is, that the proposed amendment to the Constitution is the most direct, practical and legitimate mode now left us to escape the present and impending evils of an interregnum in labor, a dearth in industry, and a suspension of production.

In accepting these facts, and thus acting upon them, we have to give up what was to us valued at many millions of dollars, and to overcome the educated habits and prejudices fostered by our country. No easy task this. But Kentuckians have ever been equal to the occasion, and will not now fall below the measure of their fame, nor shrink from making those sacrifices which the peace and unity of their Government demands of their patriotism, and thus seal forever the lofty destiny of their loved commonwealth. The contribution of our dearest-cherished habits and prejudices, and surrender to the public peace of many millions of property—in excess of what any other loyal State has contributed during our struggle to maintain our National life—will give Kentucky, on the historic page, a just precedence in the ranks of the loyal and patriotic States.

The emancipation of slaves costs our Northern brethren no sacrifice of interests, no immolation of habits, no conquests of prejudices, no disturbance of social relations, no [illegible] they can easily [illegible] for they expend nothing but [illegible] loss of many millions of dollars, the surrender of the trained habits and prejudices of a life, and incurs the perils, inconveniences and losses which ever result from the sudden breaking up of long and pe
