ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER.—MAY 3, 1856.

ALEXANDRIA:

General Wool has written a letter to the commissioner against him by the New Jersey legislature, stating that the Commissioners, on their part, are not liable for any sums they may have paid to the British during the late war. They are, however, not liable to pay any more sums than have been paid by the Commissioners, and they will have to pay a large sum in damages to the British. The Commissioners have, therefore, sent a letter to the British, stating that they will pay the sum of $10,000 in damages to the British, and that they will pay the same sum to the British in the event of their discharge.

The American and British navies have been in contact, and the engagement was fought in the following manner: The American ship took in a large number of British troops, who were landed, and the American ship was captured. The British ship was then captured, and the American ship was taken into the British fleet. The American ship was then allowed to leave the British fleet.
