

TUESDAY EVENING, FEB. 23, 1909.

THE SCENE in the Young People's Building last night was one long to be remembered by all who mingled in the happy gathering which participated in the closing act of the observance of the 22d of February. The auditorium of the building had been metamorphosed into a banquet hall where Masons from different sections of the world met, parted and uttered thrilling truths concerning the principles of an historic institution the tenets of which have from time immemorial been world-wide.

Representatives of the fraternity were present from Massachusetts, Oklahoma and other states of the union, while a native of far-away China mingled with brethren of the Occident. Every one who took a prominent part in the exercises seemed attuned to his number, and while the responses to the toasts were impromptu, there was no faltering, and the words uttered were truly ex animo. The speeches were brief but pregnant with beautiful and apt illustrations and references, and the exclamations of appreciation were loud and hearty.

Alexandria-Washington Lodge never conceives or executes anything in a half-hearted manner. Whatever is attempted utilizes the energy and enthusiasm of its members, and last night's festivities were justly noted by all present as among the most successful of the annual entertainments given by the fraternity in this city.

DURING the current public discussion of the pros and cons of a permanent tariff commission in connection with the problem of revision before the new congress, Mr. Andrew Carnegie has proposed the creation of a supreme industrial court, which essentially would have to pass upon prices. After referring to the absurdity of leaving the question of tariff revision to the tender mercies of legislators having no technical knowledge of the subject and misled by interested parties, Mr. Carnegie, taking the role of prophet, said:

The industrial world is about to undergo the most momentous change known in its history. We are rapidly losing competition in articles of general consumption upon which nations have hitherto depended to insure reasonable prices for the consumer. Some of our most important industries are today only nominally competitive, and in reality are monopolies so far that an understanding exists as to prices that will prevail.

MUCH attention has been paid to the speech made by Chairman Gary, of the steel trust, at the dinner of the Illinois Society in New York last week, in which he declared that vested rights must yield whenever they became antagonistic to the public welfare and safety. He urged that leading men in business should try to harmonize themselves with public officials for the betterment of government management. In this connection Judge Gary said:

The opportunities for the acquisition of wealth have been and are so great that large and increasing fortunes of individuals and corporations compel the most thoughtful men to dread the results of the future unless the influence and power of money can be controlled by government authority. The question is too far-reaching to be laughed out of court. If the power of money be not so controlled, who can tell when or how or to what extent it may be attacked by the mob?

BECAUSE his wife invaded the lodge room of the Order of Foresters in Spokane, Wash., where he was presiding as chief ranger at the trial of a member, broke up the meeting and forced him to go home, addressing him as "imp" and "Indian," George F. Gillette was granted a divorce from his wife, Anna Gillette, by Judge Hunkeler in the Spokane county Superior Court. Gillette declared in his petition that he was forced to leave home, following the lodge room episode, to escape the ridicule of neighbors and members of the order. By taking him home, the complainant adds, she broke up the lodge trial and he was forced to resign his office, as it was likely his wife would come after him at any time during lodge meetings. This was dreadful; will any body blame him? But where was the goat? That would have put a quietus to her.

At Portland, Maine, last week deputy sheriffs raided the offices and storehouses of seven express companies and confiscated liquors valued at $6,000 or more, this being mainly supplies of liquor from Boston consigned to parties who would have received it for use over Sunday. This is the experience of all prohibitory communities. Liquor is bought and sold in such but the state receives no revenue therefrom.

THE retirement of the employes in the classified civil service is provided in a bill introduced yesterday by Representative Gillett, of Massachusetts. More pensions!

From Washington.

(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.) Washington, Feb. 23. The president's determination not to make any more political appointments during his term of office is causing anxiety among senators and representatives who had promised places to their constituents. Representative Hepburn (rep. Iowa) called at the White House today to urge the appointment of Herman Reeves for a new federal judgeship recently created in Alaska. He was told that the president's determination not to fill any more offices before the inauguration of President Taft was unchangeable. Senator Curtis, of Kansas, who visited the president on a similar mission, met with a similar statement. Senator Flint, who has been expecting to procure the appointment of a friend for the new immigration district in Southern California, also met with disappointment.

President Roosevelt and party arrived in Washington this morning from Old Point Comfort where the president had gone to review the Atlantic fleet. The Mayflower arrived at the navy yard at seven o'clock, the trip having been made without incident. The president went immediately to the White House where he had his breakfast. President and Mrs. Roosevelt will leave at midnight for New York, where they will attend at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning the funeral of Stewart Douglas Robinson, nephew of the president, who was killed by falling out of a window of Harvard College on Saturday night. The services will be held at the Church of the Holy Communion. It is expected that the president will return to Washington immediately after the funeral.

Although no admission has been made, it is understood that some friction has resulted in the deliberation of the North American Conservation Conference. The declaration of principles, which was to have been made on Saturday, was not finished last night and the delegates were still at it today. It is announced that tonight will see the end of the conference. As far as can be learned, the principle causes of disagreement are the difference between mining regulations in Mexico and in the United States and Canada. The document, it is expected, will as a result of the differences, be much more general in its terms than was planned. It will be submitted to President Roosevelt, President Diaz, and Premier Lord Grey, of Canada, and none of its terms will be made public except by these three officials.

The patent treaty between the United States and Germany was agreed today by Secretary of State Bacon and the German Ambassador, Count von Bredow. It provides for mutual concessions in the granting of patents and, it is understood, eliminates the clause in the German regulations necessitating the manufacture of the article upon which the patent is granted in the German kingdom within a specified time. The appointment of Commander W. S. Sims naval aide to take President Roosevelt to command the Minnesota about March 1st was announced by Secretary Newberry today. Captain John Hubbard, of the Minnesota, will come to Washington to serve on the general board, filling the place vacated by Commander A. E. Custer, who is ill. This is the first of a number of changes that will be made in the commanding personnel of the fleet. A number of the captains having completed their sea duty will be ordered to shore stations.

The Senate committee on territories held a meeting today on the bill granting statehood to Arizona and New Mexico. It is admitted by both sides that the pending bill, as it passed the House, is very imperfect and requires amendment in many particulars.

By decision of the Supreme Court of the United States today the express companies of the United States cannot hereafter issue checks for transportation of packages. The constitutionality and validity of the "no pass" provisions of the Hepburn act was upheld in the decision of the court, delivered by Justice Day.

In the famous sugar rebate case the U. S. Supreme Court today decided against the New York Central & Hudson River R. R. Company, and held the rebate provisions of the Elkins act as constitutional. The New York Central was fined $108,000 and its traffic manager, Fred L. Pomeroy, $6,000 under the Elkins act for granting rebates to the "sugar trust" on shipments of sugar in 1902 from New York city to Cleveland and in 1904 to Detroit.

A case of smallpox is reported on the battleship Vermont, now at Hampton Roads. Because of the death of Stewart Douglas Robinson, the president's nephew, the Cabinet dinner which was to have been given by Secretary Strans to the president tonight, has been postponed until the evening of March 2d.

The minimum tariff, granted under clause 3 of the Dingley act covering sparkling wines will be extended to Spain by a proclamation to be issued by President Roosevelt today or tomorrow. This action is taken by the United States voluntarily in return for action of the Spanish government in placing this country on a favored nation basis. The same concession was extended to France last year, for similar concessions on American exports.

The president today sent to the Senate the nominations of Aspinwall Giles B. Harber and Orish R. Harris to be rear admirals.

The U. S. Supreme Court decided in favor of the American Express Company in one of the first "liquor shipment" cases which has come before the highest court.

Strong efforts are being made by Senators and House leaders to induce President-elect Taft to appoint Senator Hemenway, of Indiana, as his Secretary of Treasury.

News of the Day.

The keel for the new battleship Utah, of 21,387 tons, was laid at Camden, N. J., yesterday. The battleship Vanguard, the seventh vessel of the Dreadnaught class, was successfully launched at Barrow, Eng., yesterday. John Arbuckle who floated the cruiser Yankee from Spindle Rocks after others had abandoned it, announces that he is in negotiation to raise the Maine.

Cipriano Castro has informed President Gomez of Venezuela of his desire to return and live as a private citizen, but has not yet received a reply to the letter. A Navajo Indian chief ran amuck in the railroad station at Oklaonah yesterday and stabbed a woman and a man perhaps and fatally wounded another man less seriously.

A second speech by Mr. Rainey, reiterating his former statements concerning the Panama canal, and a bitter arraignment of Mr. Rainey by Mr. Burton, occurred in the House of Representative yesterday.

In the House yesterday Mr. Gales, of Tennessee, introduced a resolution looking to an investigation in the New York courts of the Tennessee Coal and Iron merge with the United States Steel Corporation.

Yesterday marked the arrival of Rex in New Orleans and the turning over to the monarch of Mardi Gras the keys of the city. Thousands of people lined Canal street and cheered the arrival of the king of the carnival. The long parade of civic and military bodies was one of the most notable of the kind in the history of the city.

Virginia News.

William R. Grunette, of Caroline county, a Confederate veteran, died Saturday night at his home, near Gaines, aged 61 years. He was twice married. Because he was refused a night's lodging a tramp last Friday night set fire to and destroyed the barn of John Edwards, near Neersville, Loudoun county.

Mrs. Fannie P. Smallwood, widow of B. F. Smallwood, died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John L. Dunstarr, near Upperville. She was sixty-two years old.

E. W. Oresberg, formerly cashier of the Bank of Mecklenburg, was yesterday convicted at Boydon of falsifying the financial statement of the bank and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and to serve two years in the penitentiary.

In a collision between excursion trains on the Cape Henry division of the Norfolk and Southern Railway, 8 miles from Norfolk about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, thirteen passengers were injured, several of them so seriously that it is feared they may not recover. Both trains of thirteen each were laden with people who had been to Cape Henry to witness the incoming battleship fleet. One of the trains, at a standstill on the main line of the road, was run into by the other one, coming from around a curve.

DEATH AT NIAGARA FALLS.

R. Von Bannar, who said he was a German of noble birth, met death on the ice bridge below Niagara Falls yesterday.

Von Bannar went to Niagara Falls Saturday, and was taken care of by John L. Harper, chief engineer of the Niagara Falls Hydraulic Power Company. He said his wife had been burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home in Chicago recently, and that since then he had been traveling around the country. At noon Harper received a letter from Von Bannar, in which the latter said he had seen a vision of his wife, and that he had decided to follow her. Early yesterday afternoon, while walking on the ice bridge, near the American side, Von Bannar suddenly disappeared in a crevice. The body was recovered by Percy Page, a park employe, who was lowered into a crevice by ropes. It was identified by Harper.

MINISTERIAL CHANGES.

Two surprises were given the Presbytery of Brooklyn last night. Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters asked to be received into membership, and Rev. Ira Wemmel Henderson, who has just resigned as pastor of the Irving Square Presbyterian Church, asked for a letter of dismission, that he may enter the Methodist Episcopal ministry. Dr. Peters, it is understood, has received his letter from Rev. Robert S. McArthur, of whose church the Calvary Baptist, in Manhattan, he was a member. Dr. Peters was baptized some years ago by Dr. MacArthur. Dr. Peters was for years pastor of the Bloomingdale Reformed Church, in Manhattan. He left the Reformed Church, he explained, because he had become thoroughly convinced that immersion was the only true form of baptism. Presbyterians do not hold to that doctrine. It is interesting to know whether Dr. Peters has again changed his views, or at least, modified them.

Today's Telegraphic News

Richmond Journal Office Destroyed. (Special Dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette) Richmond, Va., Feb. 23.—Fire, the cause of which has not been ascertained, completely destroyed the office of The Richmond Evening Journal at 4 o'clock this morning, entailing a loss of $50,000. The insurance will nearly cover the loss. The paper will continue. It appeared this afternoon from the press of The Times-Dispatch and will be issued from that office for a few days.

Body Severed in Train.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 23.—One of the four revolutionists who were caught in an attempt to throw a bomb in a Teheran bazaar was today cut in two by the public executioner, under orders from the shah, and the halves of his body hung up before the Baghshah where the shah's home is situated, as a warning against outlawry, according to newspapers received here.

One of the four was executed in the regular way yesterday when the attempted outrage occurred. The third and fourth members will suffer the fate of today's victim, the butchers being reserved for Wednesday and Thursday. An outcry has been raised against the barbaric action, but the shah is firm.

There is no confirmation of the report that Satar Khan, leader of the Tabriz revolutionists, was killed in a clash with the royalists.

Sharp Again on Stand.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 23.—John D. Sharp, plainly showing the effect of yesterday's grilling at the hands of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney J. B. Garner, resumed the stand today when the trial of himself, Col. Cooper and Fobin Cooper for the murder of former Senator Carmack, opened today. During the night the attorneys for both sides held lengthy conferences and it was plain by Garner's attitude when court resumed that he was anxious that Sharp further contradict himself. But Sharp had had the benefit of expert counsel during the night and was very wary in his initial replies to interrogations. Just what damage has been done to the defense's case by the contradictions Sharp made in his original story is problematical.

The Austro-Serbian Dispute.

Vienna, Feb. 23.—Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, arrived here today from Hungary and entered at once into military conference with Emperor Franz Josef and a number of leading generals. Owing to the many conflicting reports concerning the negotiations of the powers, for the settlement of the Austro-Serbian dispute, it is impossible at this time, to arrive at the exact status of the situation. That a climax is rapidly approaching, however, that is no doubt in Austrian foreign office.

Another Conflict with the Standard.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—The second great struggle between the Standard Oil Company, and the government began in the United States District Court, here today, with examination of veniremen for the election of a jury to try the famous $29,000,000 case. Federal Judge A. B. Anderson is presiding. The names of 150 residents of northern Illinois were selected last week, to comprise the panel from which the jury will be chosen. United States District Attorney Sims, assisted by Special Prosecutor James Wilkerson, and Assistant District Attorney Harry Parkin, represent the government, and Attorneys John S. Miller, Moritz Rosenthal, and A. D. Eddy, the oil trust.

Saves Girl From Assault.

York, Pa., Feb. 23. Myrtle Reagel, 14 years, was attacked Sunday night by an unidentified man who met the girl on a lonely road which leads from Pleasantville to North York, where her parents reside. He struck the girl four or five times in the face, cutting and bruising her, and threatened to kill her if she did not accompany him. Miss Reagel cried and fought him. She broke away from the man and started to run, but she was closely pursued by him. A buggy driven by George Gingerich came up, and the man fled across the fields and through a woods. The girl told Gingerich her story, and he with others started in pursuit but he was escaped.

Mardi Gras in Paris.

Paris, Feb. 23.—Today is Mardi Gras and all France is celebrating it, with the usual gaiety and abandon. The day is a holiday and all business is suspended. The celebration centers in Paris. All along King Carnal's parade courses, the stores and cafes are prettily decorated. Thousands of people came from neighboring towns for the parade, which was unusually gorgeous and elaborate. The students of the Latin Quarter will give their ball "Quat'z Ave" tonight, the festivity of which will be the "crowning of Salome."

Attempted Suicide.

Summit, N. J., Feb. 23.—Robert G. Heppie, a law clerk connected with the firm of Hurry & Dutton, of 76 William street, Manhattan, is at the Overlook Hospital here with a bullet in his head, the result of an attempt at suicide today. He will die, the doctors say.

Another Deadlock.

Freeland, Pa., Feb. 23.—C. M. Dodson & Company's breaker was destroyed by fire at midnight, causing a loss of $75,000. The cause of the fire, which started in plane No. 11, is a mystery. Five employed men are thrown out of employment.

Death of Burglar.

Olean, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Nelson Essler, the burglar who fought a pistol duel with Police Chief Timothy Hassett, early Sunday, killing the latter, died himself in the local hospital today from the wounds in the abdomen inflicted by his shot. Desler was rolling a cigarette in the jail cell when he was hit and notified the police captain, who ran into the building and tried to arrest him. The fatal deed followed.

The Market.

Georgetown, D. C., Feb. 23.—Wheat 105-115.

Sixtieth Congress.

Washington, Feb. 23.

SENATE.

Routing business in the Senate was omitted today, the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill being taken up. Mr. LaFollette was not present to introduce an objection. An amendment repealing the law of 1894 authorizing the president to appoint ambassadors when any foreign nations raises the rank of its representatives to the United States and providing that hereafter the ambassadorship shall be created unless by specific act of Congress was adopted without debate. The consular and diplomatic bill was passed.

The Bownesville affair came up this afternoon. The Adrich bill, a substitute for all pending measures on the subject, was taken up. Senator Daniels then spoke briefly in opposition of the bill. The bill was then laid aside until 4 o'clock.

HOUSE.

A criticism of the diplomacy of Robert Bacon as secretary of state is contained in a resolution introduced by Mr. Clark in the House today. It is all about Panama. The resolution recites the fact that Mr. Rainey made two speeches about Panama in the House last month and, Mr. Bacon, replying to a complaint from Panama, sent a letter to President Roosevelt, by order of President Roosevelt, discrediting Rainey's speech and saying that what he said did not represent the views of the House or the government. Mr. Clark's resolution asks that this resolution be referred to the House judiciary committee to determine if Bacon's letter constitutes a breach of the privileges of the House, violating Sec. 6 Article I of the constitution, where in it is provided that a representative in Congress, "shall not be questioned in any other place," for "any speech or debate."

The committee was directed to ascertain in the resolution if there has been a violation of the constitution, what remedy was available, if there was no remedy to suggest some plan to prevent such violations in the future, and to report within five days. Mr. Clark presented his resolution as a question of the highest privilege. Mr. Overstreet made the point of order that the resolution was not of a privileged character and was not properly before the House. Speaker Cannon overruled the point of order, he said, in order that the House might take such action as it deemed proper. Mr. Payne moved that the Clark resolution be laid on the table which was done by a vote of 185 to 120.

Fleet Officers in Richmond.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 23.—In a down pour of rain Admiral Sperry and 60 officers of the fleet, which has just completed a tour of the world, arrived here from Old Point. A cheering crowd gave them greeting at the station, while the guns of the Richmond Howitzers boomed a salute. Governor Swanson, Mayor Richardson, a committee of one hundred of Richmond's most distinguished citizens, including a score of city and state officers, were at the station to welcome the visitors to the Virginia Capital. The officers from the warships are being lionized by society through the city.

Roseton, Mass., Feb. 23.—An unhappy love affair is believed to have been the motive for the suicide of Flora Fullerton Heath, a pretty and wealthy student, of Potomac, N. Y., whose body was found yesterday hanging from a rope attached to the door of her room at the Hotel Oxford.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Feb. 23.—London was again a heavy seller, arbitrage brokers in the first few minutes putting out 40,000 shares chiefly Union Pacific Steel Common, and Southern Pacific filling the limited demand at the opening and starting a new downward movement, all around. The steel industrials were extremely weak and sustained losses ranging from one to six points.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR.

The George Washington Monument Association, of Alexandria, have set apart the 30th day of April as the day for the dedication of George Washington Park, which park will undoubtedly fill the long felt want in our community. The association has arranged for quite a fête during the week preceding dedication day in the way of a "Home Coming Week," during which time it is confidently hoped and expected to see in the portals of our city large numbers of our native and former citizens whose business interests have carried them away and caused them to make their homes elsewhere. In conformity with the action of the association, and, I believe, the wishes of a majority of our community, I hereby invite our citizens to set apart April 30th as a holiday and request our manufacturers and merchants to close their places of business at 12 o'clock noon on that day in honor of our most illustrious citizen, George Washington, whose 120th inauguration occurs thereon. Given under my hand this 22d day of February.

FRED J. PAFF, Mayor
