devoting their efforts chiefly to the task of setting the South right before the world and caring for the interests of the veterans who fought for the Southern cause. They seek to teach the true history of the War of the Sixties; to promote pension legislation in the Southern States; to build homes and to increase the comforts and add to the attractiveness of the homes that have been built for Confederate veterans. They honor the memory of every patriot who wore the gray and they mark their graves and build monuments to commemorate their deeds of valor; and they are instilling the same noble spirit and lofty sentiment—the same love of country and reverence for the memory of its defenders—into the hearts of the rising generation, to be transmitted to other generations.

The Government at Washington provides well for the Federal veterans. It has built splendid homes for them, one of which is only a few miles from Bristol. It pays them liberal pensions, and it erects monuments to the heroic dead. All of which is right and just. But what of the brave soldiers of the South, who for four years fought against three or four times their number? The duty of honoring the dead and caring for the living has developed upon the Southern States and upon individuals. In the performance of this duty, in which a great section once laid waste and a great people once impoverished by the hand of war have found a sweetly solemn pleasure, the United Daughters of the Confederacy have had an important part.

We are reminded of these things by the announcement that the Virginia Daughters of the Confederacy will shortly hold their annual convention in Bristol. The Bristol Chapter of that patriotic organization earnestly desired this year's convention for their city and they worked hard to secure it. They are to be heartily commended for their public spirit and cordially congratulated upon the success of their efforts. They should now have no difficulty in the way of securing the means necessary to entertain the convention.

It is understood that the Daughters of the Bristol Chapter, after assessing themselves a considerable sum, have failed out hesitation or apology, because of the danger in present circumstances to create a "moment's doubt as to the strength and sufficiency of the treasury of the United States."

Congress listened attentively to the address. Immediately upon its conclusion the legislative machinery was set in motion to carry its recommendations into effect. Chairman Underwood called a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee to perfect an internal revenue measure tentatively drafted in preliminary conferences. A bill will be introduced as soon as possible.

REMEMBER YOUR LAST DOSE OF CALOMEL?

You probably recall the bad after effects of the calomel more than the sickness you took it for. You need never again go through with being "all knocked out for a day or two by calomel."

Next time your liver gets sluggish and inactive, we urge that you go to the Mutual Drug Company for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, a splendid vegetable liquid medicine that will start your liver as surely as calomel ever did and with none of the after-effects of calomel. It is absolutely harmless both to children and adults and demands no restriction of habits or diet.

A large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic costs only fifty cents and the druggists who sell it guarantee it to take the place of calomel, and will refund your money if it fails in your case or if you are not satisfied.

Ponce de Leon Failed; His Prize Is Found.

Ponce de Leon, the daring explorer, searched among the swamps of Florida for the Fountain of Youth, which the Indians said would restore power and make people young. He did not find it.

Thousands of chronic intestinal, bowel and stomach sufferers have written to Geo. H. Mayr, 154 Whiting St., Chicago, in quest of health. They have found it. His remedy, composed of healing vegetable oils from France, has indeed given them back the health of youth.

Why suffer from indigestion, gasses on the stomach, fainting spells, torpid liver, constipation and all the evils of a disordered stomach when there is relief here? Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy is now sold here by Mutual Drug Company.

Young Man Is Shot To Death By His Father.

Freeling, Va., Sept. 3.—Harmon Mullins, an aged farmer of Dwayne, is alleged to have shot and instantly killed his nineteen-year-old son, Ben at his home a day or two since. The killing is said to have been the result of a quarrel between the two, the father blaming the son for not doing some work which he had told him to do.

The killing occurred in the house. A pistol was the weapon used. Only one shot was fired, the ball taking effect near the heart.

After the killing, Mullins is said to have ordered his wife and daughters to prepare his supper. Meanwhile one of the girls is said to have slipped away to a neighboring house from where news of the affair was given over the phone to Rufus Mullins, the jailer, at Clintwood. No time was lost in arresting and lodging the man in jail.

Gap, was at Freeling during the week.

Henry Short, of Osborn's Gap, is with friends at this place.

Ben Vanover is moving from Freeling to Morland, in the upper end of the county.

The Progressive Candidate.

Editor Herald Courier:

I was greatly surprised to see in the Herald Courier today statements from one T. L. Hayter, who professes to be a Progressive and says he was a delegate to the Progressive convention at Bristol.

I was at the Progressive convention at Bristol as chairman of the Progressive party of Wise county, elected by a mass meeting, and signed the credentials of every delegate of that party.

Mr. Hayter appeared in that convention without Progressive credentials and represented himself to be one. We found out he was a bogus Progressive and we ruled him out of the convention, as we did every one of his kind who did not have credentials.

Now, if Mr. Hayter wishes to meet me in any part of the Ninth district and discuss the question whether we have a Progressive candidate for Congress in Mr. J. L. Rose, of Abingdon, as well as political questions generally, let him do so or hold his peace.

Respectfully,
HENRY TAYLOR.

to secure the balance needed from the governing bodies of the two cities and the Board of Trade, and may be reduced to the necessity of circulating a subscription paper. It is to be hoped that this will not happen. Conventions are recognized as one of the most effective methods of advertising a city, and Bristol has manifested a desire to secure that kind of advertising. But we shall not discuss that phase of the question. Advertisement or no advertisement, Bristol's duty is to provide the money required to make the approaching convention of the Virginia Daughters of the Confederacy one of the most pleasant in the history of the organization.—Bristol Herald Courier.

Asks War Tax of Hundred Million.

Washington, Sept. 4.—President Wilson personally addressed Congress in joint session today, urging legislation to raise $100,000,000 a year additional revenue through internal taxes to meet a treasury deficit threatened by the conflict in Europe.

The President told Congress that he discharged a duty which he wished with all his heart he might have been spared but which he performed with-

Congress listened attentively to the address. Immediately upon its conclusion the legislative machinery was set in motion to carry its recommendations into effect. Chairman Underwood called a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee to perfect an internal revenue measure tentatively drafted in preliminary conferences. A bill will be introduced as soon as possible.
