Use plenty of sugar and butter, and the water will be requisite and make a rich dressing.

WARREN'S INVESTIGATION.
Police Commissioner Verdirer Visits Portsmouth.

HE WENT OVER EVIDENCE
Mr. Verdirer Reported to Have Said Notice Must Be Taken by Norfolk Commissioners. Will They Hew to the Line?

Several days ago THE VIRGINIAN published an account of the arrest in this city of Officer Warren, of the Portsmouth police force, for being drunk on the streets. It will be remembered that after Mr. Warren was taken to the police station by Officer Bass, that at the instance of Detective James and by the consent of Capt. King, in charge of the station, Officer Bass withdrew the charges and Mr. Warren was released.

EXACTLY THE SAME THING.
The only difference in the records as they now stand is that the Mayor felt duty-bound and suspended at once Chiefs Iredell and Murray, while he has allowed Capt. King so far to move along in the even tenor of his way unmolested. Why this discrimination, will doubtless be explained at the next meeting of the Board.

It appears, however, that the Commissioner "will hew to the line" and has taken the trouble to visit Portsmouth to secure facts. Learning that the Commissioner had been to Portsmouth THE VIRGINIAN sent one of its staff over there to reconnoitre yesterday afternoon, who talked with the Portsmouth officials and learned that a Norfolk policeman had been VISITING PORTSMOUTH BARS, and that Mr. Verdirer had been so informed.

THE VIRGINIAN'S reporter interviewed the Mayor and Police Commissioners of Portsmouth with regard to developments in the case of Warren.

The Mayor was found at his residence, No. 431 Randolph street. "I think," said his honor, "that the report of the trial as published in THE VIRGINIAN is substantially the same as the record in my office."
"Bass, the Norfolk officer, who made the arrest, stated on the stand that the Portsmouth officer was not drunk, but that he had been drinking."

"I think I can see how Officer Bass came to arrest Officer Warren, as I understand that in Norfolk an officer in uniform even when off duty is not allowed to loiter on another officer's beat, and when the Portsmouth man, as is claimed, was seen 'GOING IN AND OUT OF SALOONS' and disreputable houses and talking to negro women on the street, I see how Officer Bass arrested him; but as he would prefer no charges, of course Officer Warren could not be held."

Mr. Verdirer seems to think that the Norfolk Commissioners will have to notice the matter and come over to see me about the evidence in the case."
The reporter then saw Commissioner King, who said:
"Mr. Verdirer came over to see me yesterday about the evidence in the Warren case. He seems to think that an investigation by the Norfolk Commissioners is necessary, and he reviewed the evidence quite extensively."

"The whole affair, to my mind," said Mr. King, "hangs upon the fact that after the Portsmouth officer was released Capt. King telephoned to our department that he was drunk, and an officer was sent to Norfolk to bring Warren to Portsmouth."
Commissioner Friedlin was next seen and he stated that since the trial he had resigned from the Portsmouth Board.

"Yes," said he, "Mr. Verdirer called on me and I took him around to see the Mayor and together WE ALL WENT OVER THE EVIDENCE. He seemed of the opinion that if Officer Warren was arrested in Norfolk on a charge of drunkenness and released, some notice should be taken by the Commissioners.

"In my opinion," said Mr. Friedlin, "when the Norfolk officers discovered their blunder they tried to make it as light for Officer Warren as possible on his trial, for they knew that his conviction upon a charge of drunkenness by the Portsmouth Commissioners would only make their position all the more uncomfortable." However, please understand that this is only the private opinion of an ex-Commissioner," he added.

While looking for the Mayor, the reporter saw the Chief of Portsmouth's Police Department and discovered that Officer Warren's visit to Norfolk had been repaid by A NORFOLK SUBSTITUTE, who entered in uniform a bar near the navy yard. The officer on the beat has reported him to the Norfolk department.

At the next meeting of the Norfolk Police Commissioners the matter will be brought up, it is understood, by Commissioner Verdirer. What the decision of the Board will be cannot be determined.

AMUSEMENTS.

"CHARLOTTE CORDAY" AND "FRANCIS LILTON."—As previously announced Mrs. Potter and Mr. Bellw will be seen at the Academy on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week. In the notice of their performance given in Buffalo the Enquirer, of that city, had the following to say:
"Mrs. Cora Urquhart Potter has apparently realized that the inclination of the theatre going public in this country is not toward the gruesome, morbid and unholy passions and conditions as pictured by Zola and others of his class. The character of Charlotte Corday is to an extent a morbid one, but her motives are high, if misguided, and her self sacrifice inspiring. It is the motives that makes a play or an action horrible or heroic. 'Therese Raquin' was horrible, 'Charlotte Corday' is noble."

In Mrs. Potter's production of "Charlotte Corday," which is in four acts and six scenes, history has been followed sufficiently for dramatic purposes. The character seems to perfectly suit Mrs. Potter, and she plays the earlier scenes with a quiet repression of force that is portentous, but fascinating. The supporting company is good, and especially is this the case with Mr. Bellw.

SONSA'S BAND.—This brilliant organization of first class musicians will give one concert at the Academy of Music next Monday, the 21st. Sousa will have two brilliant assisting artists at his return concert to be given in this city. The soprano will be Miss Myrtle French, of New York. The other artist is Miss Currie Duke, the daughter of the famous Confederate General, Basil Duke, and a violinist of marked ability. Additional interest will be lent to Sonesa's concerts by these accomplished artists. The sale of seats will open to-morrow at the usual prices—25c, 50c, 75c and $1.

Police Court.
Justice Barroughs disposed of the following cases yesterday and was in court several hours:
James Riggins, a colored boy, charged with forging the name of J. W. Downing to an order on the Empire Shoe Company, on Church street, and getting a pair of shoes; continued.

Andrew Freeman, colored, stealing a watch and chain from Andrew Purvis, colored; continued until today.

James Luck, white, breach of the peace; continued to 19th.

Henry Wright, colored, stealing an oil barrel from L. P. Roberts; twenty days in jail.

Hadly Hunt.
Mr. H. H. Wise, a well-known horse trader of Norfolk, was quite painfully injured by a fall from his buggy yesterday. Mr. Wise is a very heavy man and with Mr. J. H. Robinson, of Edenton, N. C., was driving a horse hitched to a road buggy by the station-house about 1 o'clock. When in front of the station-house door a bolt gave way, throwing Mr. Wise over the spatter board. He received an ugly cut over his right eye and several bruises about the face. He was taken into the station-house and his wounds dressed by Dr. Hunter.

The election of officers and a board of directors resulted as follows without opposition: Dawson McCormick, president; N M Osborne, vice-president; John L Roper, second vice-president; Washington Taylor, treasurer. After the election of the above the meeting adjourned to the 22d of January at 6:30 o'clock.

BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION.
A meeting of the directors of the Business Men's Association was held last night and among other business transacted, as advised by THE VIRGINIAN, resolutions were adopted inviting Mr. Thomas Martindale, chairman of the Canal Commission of Philadelphia Trades League; Gen. Angus, of the Baltimore American, and Commodore Marshall Parks, of Norfolk, to discuss before a meeting of the Business Men's Association, the advisability of opening up a great inland water way, from north to south, via the Chesapeake bay, the Albemarle and the Chesapeake canal.
The prompt action on the part of the Business Men's Association will impress the country with the fact that Norfolk is alive to the interests of the Atlantic trade and will cooperate with any sister city in its development.

Carrier vs. Route Agents.
The Police Court was engaged for several hours yesterday hearing a charge of assault preferred by a carrier of the Landmark against two route agents of the Pilot. Judge Neely represented the Landmark's carrier and Mr. Small the Pilot's route agents. The Pilot's people charged the boy with taking a paper from the steps of the Merrimac Club and stopped the youngster on the street and searched him. The young man, as a vindication, charged them with assault, which was sustained to the satisfaction of the court, and the route agents were fined $4.75 each.

Lamp Explosion on the Washington.
The explosion of a lamp in the alleyway of the steamer Washington at her wharf yesterday about 12 o'clock brought out the fire department, but their services were not needed, as the hands had effectually extinguished the flames with water from the river. As there was considerable smoke, it was, however, thought best that Chief Ryan should turn on a stream, which was done. The fire occurred in a part of the boat where there was but little woodwork and the damage was slight.

A Question Answered.
That emergency remedy, Quinratol, has made wonderful cures of eczema, pimples, ringworm, face eruptions, sprains, boils, erysipelas and inflammatory swellings, bone felons, rounronds, ulcers, old sores, sore throat, inflamed tonsils, sore mouth, fever blisters and skin diseases. It cures others, it will cure you. Only a few months in existence and more testimonials of prominent people than any other preparation on the market.

F. H. Masi & Bro. Assign.
Walter C. Masi, doing a general drug business at No. 308 Main street under the firm name of F. H. Masi & Bro., made an assignment yesterday to Robert W. Mallett, trustee. The liabilities are estimated to be about $2,500. It is thought that the resources will pay out.

United States Court.
The United States Court, Judge Hughes, presiding, was in session for a short while yesterday. The jury for the trial of criminal cases was called, but owing to the absence of District Attorney Lassiter, was adjourned till today.

In Older Times
People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

Clearing Sale.

THE INDUSTRIAL HOME.
Maj. Blood Will Go Ahead Regardless of the Council.

A VIRGINIAN reporter visited the old almshouse yesterday to see the condition of the property, what improvements, if any, Maj. Blood, who now has possession, is making, and the character of the people who have been occupying a number of the rooms for some months past by the grace of the Councils committee.

The building is a massive pile of brick, stone and mortar and in very fair condition. There are a few locks and window glass needed, but in other respects no repairs are required. The people who have been allowed to occupy the rooms are old women and children and objects of the truest charity.
Maj. Blood called at THE VIRGINIAN office yesterday and said he had not applied to the Councils to establish an Industrial Home, but that he asked the Councils to arrange for a work house as a public institution. The Industrial Home, he said, was to be controlled by private parties, therefore he felt justified in going ahead and applying to the public for such assistance as the moneyed people of Norfolk felt disposed to give. That the affairs of the home would be in charge of a board with Mayor Pettit as president. He has authorized Mrs. Ida Swindle to solicit contributions, and that she has received some money which she desired Capt. Burroughs to take as treasurer, but he refused.

Maj. Blood says that there are about fifty rooms at the old almshouse which can be used; that he will not turn the families now in the building out, but will cause them to move into other rooms. He says the refusal of the Councils to order the workhouse will in no way interfere with his plans for establishing the Industrial Home.

In regard to his antecedents, Maj. Blood says he is a native of Massachusetts, that he went to California in '51 and remained till '63, came to Virginia from Washington in '91 and was in Richmond in '94; lived in Washington city about thirty years and was in the secret service and newspaper business. He is married. He expects to receive such salary as may be allowed after all expenses at the home are paid. He says if Justice Burroughs don't act as treasurer, Mr. W. P. Ashley, Clerk of the Market, will.

A SUDDEN CHANGE

In the weather always brings disastrous results, it checks the circulation, closes the pores of the skin and throws the blood of the body back upon those delicate organs, the kidneys. Then come headaches, colds, coughing, sneezing and the thousand troubles so annoying and often dangerous.

The kidneys are the most delicate organs of the body and almost the first to suffer, whether in men or women. To keep them in order means perfect health more than anything else conceivable; to allow them to become disordered means certain disease or death. Do you know that there is but one great remedy for kidney troubles, and that is Warner's Safe Cure? This fact is admitted by the best scientific and medical skill throughout the world, and the great revolution it has wrought in curing complicated kidney troubles, female diseases and even Bright's disease, and in preventing the evil effects of the season upon the kidneys has justly made it the most popular of modern remedies. Your druggist can certainly supply you with it, and if you are wise, you will not be without it, especially during this season.
