FARMER VS. FARMER.

Quite a lively controversy of late has been waged between two Virginia farmers through the columns of the Richmond Dispatch which we have read with interest. The spirit of one of the combatants was really refreshing and inspiring. Having been accused by his opponent of asking for charity he indignantly replies:

"The farmers make no appeal to the 'charity of the population,' urban or otherwise. Their plea is only for such things as they have a right to demand —even-handed justice and equality in the adoption and administration of the laws by which their interests are affected, particularly those which relate to taxation and currency. In a word, as has been so admirably expressed, they demand 'equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

He does not fear to mention the "depressed condition of agriculture, the largest single interest in America," because forsooth he may be called a "calamity howler," and he tells the exact truth when he attributes this condition to vicious or mistaken legislation and administration."

In a truly manly way he proceeds to say: "If the farmer is suffering from conditions produced by natural causes, he ought to endure them with patience and resignation; but if he is suffering from conditions produced by artificial causes, then he should agitate and continue to agitate until his grievances are heard and remedied. It does not appear to me to be unreasonable that the farmer should expect that the products of his labor should sell for enough to pay the cost of production, when other business subsidiary to and dependent upon it are asserted to be in a high state of prosperity."

Is there any weak link in that chain of argument? Any false reckoning? Speculators, gamblers of all kinds, "army contractors," and all live on farmers. Must farmers of all men barely live? And what a scathing rebuke he gives to his antagonist who coolly advised the farmers to "get reconciled to prevailing conditions," when he says the man who gets reconciled to wrong is treading perilously near the actual commission of wrong himself."

There are inmates of badly ventilating homes who become so accustomed to foul air that they are utterly unconscious of its noxious character. Others live in the dark until light is intolerable to the eye. Farmers may do wrong by submitting to wrong. They have a grievance and should make it known. The powsr to correct the evil is lodged with them. The brother farmer who leads them out of the house of bondage will be a Moses indeed to them. Who knows but that the writer from whom we have quoted may be that leader. He knew well the position and strength of the enemy and that's of prime importance. He will do to follow.

WHAT THE TREE HAS DONE.

The State of Nebraska has marked an epoch in its history by repealing the State Bounty law on tree-planting, passed only twenty years ago.

In the interval Nebraska has been transformed from a desert to a garden, and the necessity for timber cultivation no longer exists.

The course of this Western State in this matter is in marked contrast with the policy which in the State of New York has permitted forest destruction and which allows the paper trust to continue its vandalism unchecked.

A treeless State is necessarily a desert, and New York can afford to learn a lesson from Nebraska.—New York World.

Virginia is far from being a desert or treeless, but we have been recklessly destroying our forests and unless tree planting becomes more general the time will come when we will sorely lament the sad neglect.

A Preacher on Expansion.

"I am an Imperialist through and through. I want to see the knowledge of the Lord God cover the earth as the waters cover the great deep."

"The question which now confronts the Christian people of this country," said Dr. Burrows, "is, shall we go in and possess these lands? Shall we enter these open doors?" The Church, he said, can make use of the sword which is carving the way of civilization.

Dr. Burrows is the son of the eminent Baptist minister of that name, Dr. J. L. Burrows, who so long labored in Virginia and who was so greatly beloved by people of all classes and creeds. He is evidently in "dead earnest," and we all agree that the expansion of which he speaks is most desirable, but that bayonets and bullets should be used as the weapons to secure it we are not prepared to admit. Peter was rebuked for cutting off an ear and to kill is no where approved of by the Prince of Peace.

Our disabled old soldiers have recently received their annual mite from Virginia. Would that we were able to care for them as they deserve to be. As it is the total amount which the State pays out in Pensions is $110,000. The amount received in each case ranging from $15 to $100, and there are about 3,000 pensioners on the rolls.

Bryan is still the idol of the hour. Even the gifted Watterson has recently said that in Kentucky to be reckoned as an orthodox Democrat, one must "fall down and worship Bryan."

The beast is becoming more beastly. The vice president of the greatest of all trusts, the Standard Oil company, was instrumental in having a professor of a Northern College turned out of position because he dared attack the principle upon which these gigantic schemes are conducted. O, how they would love to muzzle the press, but before that can be done a revolution will shake this land to its foundation stones, and if ever done, "farewell, a long farewell to all our greatness."

"A brother in the ministry told us not long ago that he preached five Sundays consecutively for various churches, at their request and the sum total paid him for expenses and the support of himself and family was three dollars and fifty cents."—Central Presbyterian.

And yet we are told that this is a day of unprecedented prosperity and that money is abundant. We don't believe it. This good man ought to have been paid more, and no doubt could have been, and still the fact remains that the people of those churches were desperately in need of more currency. We warrant they gave the preacher a good dinner and all other comforts except the comfort of carrying some money home to his family.

William T. Haines, Attorney-General of Maine, said:

"I expect to see the greatest panic the country ever saw, in less than five years, as a result of trusts. All kinds of properties are being sold to trusts for twice what they are worth, upon which stocks and bonds are being issued, and the credulous public are investing their money in the same. General bankruptcy and panic will sooner or later be the result of these great combinations."

The HERALD said it first and the prophecy will be literally fulfilled, and then the average goldbug will cry loudly even for a 50 cent dollar. Black Fridays will follow each other in quick succession and Mondays bluer than the old fashioned "Blue Monday."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

From May 1, '98, to February 28, '99, 329 soldiers were killed in battle, 125 died of wounds, 5,277 of disease; total, 5,731. We dread battle and care but little for disease the more deadly of the two.

The bodies of our brave boys who died in Cuba and elsewhere are being brought home for burial. This is as it should be. We will honor the living and the dead.

The Baltimore Sun estimates if we kill 200 Philippinos a day it will take 40,000 days to wipe them out. But Hanna will be dead in the meantime and who will remain to urge and boss the job?

The gathering of Democrats in Richmond on the 11th of May will be large and representative. The voters of this State are evidently sick of legislative-made United States Senators.

Soldiers who served in the late war need not apply for pensions before being mustered.

Richmond must make ready to entertain on the 11th of May the largest body of "intensified" Democrats ever gathered within her gates. That she will be ready we feel assured, and in full spring dress will be radiantly beautiful.

Out in Illinois they have enjoyed the novel sight of husband pitted against wife for public office. The contest is described as "friendly." To the outside world, may be.

The failure to elect a Senator in the Legislature of four States, accompanied with charges and proof of bribery and corruption on the part of various candidates or their friends has given new emphasis to the old demand for an election of Senators by the people.—N. Y. World. So say we all.

A postoffice on wheels is the latest and is in operation in Maryland. Unless the Maryland mid-winter roads are better than some we know of it would hardly do efficient work the year round.

Albemarle is aroused on the subject of good roads. Money and skillful engineering will "fetch 'em" and these they seem willing to contribute.

What's the matter with Hanna? He supported a Democrat for the mayoralty of Cleveland, and he won. But, then, Mr. McKinley appointed one of the botherhood to a good judgeship. Politics make strange bed fellows.

Missouri seems bent on driving department stores out of business. The bill under consideration makes 56 groups of merchandises and each group is declared to represent a line of business, and heavy license is required when one wishes to deal in more than one line. This strikes us as right and just. These big fish are simply destroying all the little ones and unless the little fish are allowed to live and grow the time will come when there will be no big ones.

The photographing of waves of sound is the latest. How would you appreciate in photo and framed the last emphatic remark of the madame when you were late or early of nights?

Those of us who know nothing of the heat and wet of the Philippines cannot appreciate in any full sense just what our soldiers are enduring. Fighting battles is by no means all of war or the most exacting part of it. It takes a hero of the first water to march, stand guard and suffer hunger and thirst.

The New York World reminds us that our commerce is "expanding with a rapidity almost startling and this, too, be it noted, without the aid of cannon or Gatling guns."

A novel suit has been brought in one of our Western courts. A party agrieved with the verdict of a jury has brought suit against the entire gang. The result will be watched with keenest interest.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 10, 1899.

It is daily becoming plainer to close observers that Mr. McKinley and his advisers do not regard next year's campaign as a Republican walk-over. They are diligently studying ways and means for coralling electoral votes that they consider doubtful. The trip that Mr. McKinley is now arranging to make this summer to the Pacific Coast is one of the ways that has been decided upon. They do not expect to be able to carry Delaware, Maryland, or Kentucky again, but they hope for Kansas and Nebraska, both of which states are likely to be visited on Mr. McKinley's western trip. They are also beginning to realize that some sort of a bluff against trusts must be made. Representative Landis, of Ind., has come to Washington especially to urge upon the administration the necessity of doing something to convince the voters of the middle west that the administration is antagonistic to the trusts. Mr. Landis has done some very plain talking about the danger to the Republican party and it is evident that he has frightened some of the administration men.

Attorney General Griggs, doubtless acting under orders from Mr. McKinley, has made a play to shift the responsibility for his recent queer letter about trusts from the shoulders of the administration, by proceeding against the Chesapeake and Ohio Association, generally known as the soft coal trust, under the Sherman anti-trust law. The suit was instituted in Cincinnati, and will be directed by the Solicitor General of the U. S. The public will watch the prosecution of this case closely, owing to the Attorney General having so recently stated, in writing, that trusts could not be reached by Federal laws.

Evidently Admiral Dewey isn't one of those who believes the end of the Philippine troubles to be in sight. Of course he is too diplomatic to discuss such a question where his opinion would be likely to get out, but when he cabled the Navy Department to send him six months engineering supplies for his fleet, every employe of that department knew that it was just as though he had cabled that it would not, in his opinion be safe to materially reduce the strength of the fleet at Manila for sometime to come.

The latest Philippine news seems to justify the opinion of those who believe that the fighting over there is likely to go on for an indefinite time. Gen. Lawton has started on a campaign with a picked force, with the intention of trying to run down the Filipinos.

Democrats are not the only ones who regard the Philippines as an undesirable possession. Representative Steele, of Ind., a staunch supporter of the administration, who passed through Washington a day or two ago, said of them: "So far as I am concerned, I would like to trade the Philippine islands for a yellow dog, and then kill the dog, if there were nothing else involved but possession of the islands."

In naming one of the new battleships Georgia, although no petition had been sent from that state while they had been sent from a dozen other states, Mr. McKinley is said to have been acutated solely by a desire to show his appreciation of the courtesy with which he was treated during his recent visit to that state. This is creditable alike to the President and to the people of Georgia. The other names chosen were, for battleships—Pennsylvania and New Jersey; for armored cruisers—West Virginia, Nebraska and California; for ordinary cruisers—Denver, Des Moines, Chattanooga, Galveston, Tacoma and Cleveland.

After taking several days to consider the matter, the Military Court of Inquiry wisely decided to admit as evidence the reports submitted to General Miles on the beef issued by 147 officers who were in Cuba or Porto Rico. Just to give an idea of the nature of these reports, the following phrases, each from a different officer's report, are quoted: "A miserable apology for food." "No more unpalatable food could be issued." "An unsuitable article of food." "A distinct failure." "It was nauseating." "Prefer going without meat to eating it." "Was soft, watery, insipid and unsatisfactory to the men." "Was stringy, tough and unpalatable." "Tasteless, and the men would not eat it." "Caused a great deal of sickness, and as a ration was a failure." "Was unfit for use and many of the men said it had been doped." "Was not fit to be issued." "Was utterly unfit as an article of diet." "Hungry men left it on the ground." "The sight of it was enough to turn the stomach." "Was not fit for consumption." "Was openly condemned by the men and generally thrown away." "Was just as bad as possible, short of being rotten." "It produced disordered stomachs." There was a whole lot more of the same sort, but this will do for a sample.

Mr. McKinley has accepted an invitation to attend the Confederate encampment to be held June 7th and 8th at Falls Church, Va, under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy, and promised to deliver an address.

Who Is To Blame.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys.

If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, and it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

If the adult has rheumatism; pain or dull ache in the back; if the water passes in irregular quantities; or at irregular intervals or has a bad order; if it stains the linen or vessel the color of rust; if the feet swell; if there are puffy or dark circles under the eyes; your kidneys are the cause and need doctoring. Treatment of some diseases may be delayed without danger, not so with kidney disease.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy promptly cures the most distressing cases. Its mild and extraordinary effect is soon realized. Sold by druggists in fifty cent and dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet telling all about it sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years; has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all other cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. THE Crescent Bicycle

Is like the Deacon's Wonderful Shay,
Made famous by Oliver Wendell Holmes—

Every part as strong as the rest;
Each has been put through the toughest test.
The finest tempered, trustiest steel
Is put in the frame of the Crescent Wheel.
The hubs, the spokes, the cranks, the chains
Are made with infinite skill and pains;
The smallest bolt has an honored share
In making a wheel for work and wear,
A wheel that flashes a gleam of light
Like the Crescent moon on a summer's night,
A wheel that with care will outlast your day;
So get a Crescent—that's what I say.
