THE CONVENTION.
 For the past week the attendance has been good, conditions more favorable for work and satisfactory progress has been made. The work, however, has been in committees and the full body has yet to pass upon it. That railroad commission of three seems to be assured and their powers will be such as to make it effective for good. Neither railroads, telegraph nor express companies are enemies of the people, and yet from the people are the recipients of high privileges and should not be forgetful of the bosom in which they have been warmed into vigorous health.

The very best schedules and connections possible should be made, and the short haul should not be made to tote the burdens of the long-haul. Tariff rates should be just and equal. We remember some years ago to have been forced to pay 40 cents for a telegram of ten words from Danville to Farmville, while the same service to New York cost only 25 cents. This was an outrage and wrong to which the people of no sovereign State should tamely submit. The quickest route from here to Richmond is via the Southern road from Burkeville, and we should be allowed to go that way. Not that we love Petersburg less but rapid transit more.

The judiciary idol of the State will be shattered. Fewer judges, fewer justices and better results. The Supreme Court of Appeals should only hold sessions in Richmond. Moving from place to place in the Commonwealth may be a saving to local lawyers but is a loss to the tax-payers. It looks as though the capitation tax would be fixed at $2, and no property qualification for the privilege of voting. The inquiry addressed by the Convention to the auditor's office on the particular defalcation of one of the employees, and on the general losses sustained by the State on account of like delinquencies by other officials, was timely and proper.

Good book-keeping is needed in the official circles of the State. The strike at the three-quarter-value clause in fire insurance policies, is well aimed. When an authorized agent of a company puts a value upon property, and the company accepts premiums based on that value, both parties ought to be bound by it. President Goode left the chair long enough to open fire on trusts. Ex-Archbishop General Griggs, when in office, said that the general Government could do nothing towards controlling the giants. Let Virginia try her hand.

It is given out that office holders in different parts of the State are threatening members who go for their scalps with political extermination. Dr. McIlwaine would not be moved by such threats, and then the office holders of Prince Edward are property-owning, patriotic citizens, who are broad enough to sacrifice a private good in the interest of the general public. Mr. Glass, of Lynchburg, insists that the work of the Convention should not be submitted to the electorate as now recognized. Of course not, and for the very good reason that it would not be endorsed.

The proposition to compel telephone and telegraph lines to live in peace and be courteous to the one to the other, and so best serve the public is all right. While the Convention is discussing the propriety of forbidding officials to apply for other places, members of the body ought not to be looking out for other jobs. The passing of Tom Martin in Virginia is better than a good crop season. We can stand the loss of another crop, but not of manhood. The queer thing about it is that this modest looking country lawyer should ever have aspired to play boss in Virginia. Huntton never dreamed of any such thing and Malone with a brilliant record behind him, failed miserably. And with all of his dash and daring he never attempted it with white folks.—Farmville Herald.

From what has Senator Martin passed. He never aspired to so calledism and he is still our Junior Senator. An embryo boss for this State is however in evidence.—Fredericksburg Star. Passed across the seas, out of the public eye, and, when that junior term has expired, will pass into the rear rank of private life. If the embryo develops the people will pass him too. There is no room for a boss in Virginia, and our brother of the Star ought to rejoice that this is so.

"Edward, by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India." That's the King of England's full name now, without the Boer attachment. Some portions of the Northwest and of the South have been going through a scorching process. There is but one thing to do and that is come to Southside Virginia where extremes never meet.

And now the Danville Free Press proceeds to say, "that the prime object of a voting method is neither to compel nor encourage voters to be manly or independent, its prime object being, or should be, to ascertain the untrammeled and real sentiment and will of the people." And what method, pray, will more certainly insure the "untrammeled" and the "real" than the outspoken?
 And surely our brother does not mean to discourage the "manly" and the "independent" in voting as well as in other things pertaining to human conduct.

Let the Republicans nominate Rosser and start him through the State to vilify Virginia and the South, and when he gets done with his work he may "go West" again. It is passing strange that some people will of their own free will and accord live in the South.
 We don't just appreciate why the Ohio Democrats should split into factions. United they are weak enough, and divided it is folly to even think of joining battle with the hosts of Hanna. Rashness is one thing and discretion another.

Bathing in the surf, lounging in the shade, driving, boating, riding, walking, eating, sleeping, dancing, and so the world is getting ready for another season of work, that is a portion of the world, as most of us will be hard at it the year round.
 Commissioner Evans has returned $5,000,000 of unexpended pension money to the government treasury, and Sickles and "sich" are howling. That must be a greedy G. A. R. who isn't satisfied with what the nation has done for its old soldiers.

If Col. J. Hampton Hoge is really heading towards Virginia's Executive mansion we venture the prediction that he will be as far from it at the end of the race as he was from Canton, China, when on a memorable occasion he was once billed in that direction.
 Uncle Sam must not be as flush as we thought, as he has put in a bill of $400 to Governor Tyler for rearranging the boundary between Virginia and Tennessee. The wonder is that the old gentleman hadn't made it even $500.

At High Point, N. C., they began making furniture in 1889, and there are now there 33 factories, one for every 150 people. Is there any reason why furniture should not be manufactured in Farmville?
 Dr. Preston, in charge of the Southwestern Hospital, at Marion, against whom charges were preferred, by Dr. Sherrill, a former assistant, has been acquitted.

In France freight stamps are used, and vary in amount from 1 to 40 cents. How much freight would be carried in this country, and how far for one cent?
 Dr. Le Cato ought to be Virginia's next Lieutenant-Governor, but whoever Virginia Democrats prefer will be our choice then.

They tell us that Ohio Democracy put its foot on Bryan. Ohio Republicanism in turn will put its heel on Ohio Democracy.
 Occasionally a politician is cured of obesity of the cranium, but once the disease develops it is hard to dislodge.—Washington Post.
 Gen. Joe Wheeler is still dress parading at fashionable Newport. Beware, General, that's not real but sham battle, and you can win no new laurels.

The official who discharges public duty under the influence of personal prejudice or pique is unworthy of the confidence of the public.
 The elephant is big and strong, and only sleeps about 4 hours in 24. Not enough for man. Eight not a minute too long.
 General Walker is being endorsed by some of the counties as Republican candidate for Governor.
 It is so dry in Kansas that an exchange says there is prospect for a fine crop of parched corn.

Since the parching of corn in the field it has advanced in price on the exchange.
 As a citizen of this great nation you paid last 44 cents of interest on the national debt last year.
 Mark Hanna's son and wife are at outs. Thresh the boy and let the woman go free.
 One of our exchanges is kind enough to say of Rosser's ravings: "The old man is doty, let him alone."
 The Virginia editors are having a good time at Luray this week, but the printer boys are standing to their guns.
 What some men live on is of less interest to this world than why they live on.—Etc.
 Florida sand is said to be in demand. What a trade that may be.
 Montague for president! An enemy has done this.
 Mr. Montague has "done" counting noses, and gone fishing.
 And now Attorney-General Montague has gone fishing. They all do it.
 Brother Cox, of the Charlotte Gazette, says county officers are safe.
 The Convention stenographer has a "snap."
