Judge Mann was in town on legal business last Wednesday.
Miss Ethel Arvin, of Lunenburg, is visiting friends in Farmville.
Miss Annie Pollard is spending some time in Farmville.
Miss Mary White Cox has been spending some time in Richmond.
Mrs. Fred Glenn and son, Burton, were visitors this week to her sister, Mrs. A. A. Cox.
Mrs. Thos. A. Woodson, of Lynchburg, spent a couple of days with her mother, Mrs. Winston, this week.
Mr. H. C. Bullock had a misfortune Tuesday night of having a portion of one of his fingers cut off.
Use whitewash freely about your premises and the cost will come back quadrupled in the saving of medical bills.

Dr. Wm. F. Mercer, the eye specialist, asks us to inform the public that he will be here tomorrow, the 21st, at Dr. Anderson's office.
Mr. A. E. Cralle, who for some weeks has been in Baltimore under medical treatment, returned home Monday night much improved in health.
Dr. White expects to move his drug store and professional offices to the building formerly occupied by the First National Bank on or about the 1st of June.
Miss Maggie Glenn, of Prospect, for whose marriage to Mr. Ashby Walthall, of Hampden-Sidney, cards have been issued, is reported as being ill with pneumonia.

We are sorry to learn of the sudden illness of our friend, Geo. H. Hubbard, and hope he will soon be able to return to his work in the Planters Bank.
The Easter excursion is a fixture between this point and Richmond, and nearly everybody takes advantage of the low rate. Last Monday no exception and fourteen coaches were well filled.

The ice plant requires artesian water for best results. The management is well versed in correspondence with all buyers and hopes to have one of sufficient capacity on the premises in a week or so.
Hampden-Sidney was its second game of ball Tuesday. Randolph-Macon academy was the visiting team and contestants, but Hampden-Sidney snuffed them under by a score of 11 to 5.

Sustaining his reputation for keeping one of the best and most up-to-date marketing places, H. A. Barrow has during the past week received a car load of as fine mountain cattle as were ever shipped from the blue grass region.

By request Rev. R. R. Claiborne, chaplain of the local lodge of I. O. O. F., will hold a special service in Johns Memorial church next Sunday at 8 o'clock P. M. To this service all Old Fellows, their friends and the public are cordially invited.

Mr. A. A. Cox advertises his entire live stock for sale at public auction. His purpose is to retire from the business. Mr. Cox retires after successfully conducting the business through a period of eighteen years, during which he made a most extensive and favorable acquaintance throughout this section of Virginia.

"The World of Magic," with its funny clowns, its gnomes, and nymphs, sprites, imps, fairies and barlequins, its well known comedy characters, wizards, witches and magicians, in numerous pranks, feats of magic, mythical and mysterious journeys to amuse the children form a pretty party of Archie L. Shepard's all new moving pictures which come to the Opera House next Monday night.

On account of the eruptions of Vesuvius there are thousands of sufferers, who without assistance from people away will remain in their pitiable condition. The Herald would be glad to receive contributions, acknowledging them through its columns and turning them over to the relief committee at Richmond. If you feel disposed to aid in this do not postpone doing so.

An alarm of fire Thursday afternoon when the streets were crowded with people from town and country, caused much of a stir. Here—more people than ever seen run here at the fire alarm—hurried to the scene, and a most noticeable part of it was that they all with two or three exceptions, passed the red light. The fire amounted to little, just a small blaze in the home of Beverly Ward, which was extinguished without the aid of the fire apparatus.

Admiral Webster at the Normal School.
On Tuesday afternoon Admiral Webster, recently retired from the U. S. Navy, on the invitation of his friend, Miss Blandy, of the Normal School faculty, delivered a thoroughly interesting lecture in the Auditorium, on "Life on a Man of War."

The Admiral gave an account of a day's life on a war vessel, including the preparation of food, the dress of sailors and officers, the amusements of the men, their reading, etc.

Of special interest was his account of a burial at sea. The corpse is sewed up in the bedclothes on which the man died, and cannon ball is placed at his feet. A carriage slides into the water maintaining an upright position, it is believed, even to the bottom of the sea, where, according to the belief of sailors, all who have been buried in this way are standing on the bed of the ocean, the water helping to hold the corpse upright and also preserving it.

The thanks of our people are due Miss Blandy for securing for us this excellent lecture.

A northern Wisconsin journal urging its readers to acquire title to a "piece of land," points out that each year the price of land is appreciating and that no better or safer investment can be found than in real estate holdings.

Killed Instantly.

Some time during Saturday night, Robert Brown, colored, was killed instantly by falling from a train on the Norfolk and Western road at Tugloek. The body was discovered at 7 o'clock Sunday morning between the rails, and Constable Hubbard notified. Papers on the person of the man indicated his name which since, we believe, has been verified. In the man's pockets were some papers, a bottle of medicine and $5.21 in currency and specie. From all the circumstances it is supposed that Robert was standing on the rear platform of No. 16 when he fell. The body was not mutilated, though death must have been instantaneous as his head was knocked in the back of his head the size of a man's hand.

In absence of Coroner Dr. J. R. Spencer, Dr. W. J. Gillis was summoned to the scene. He viewed the remains, heard all the circumstances, as far as they were known, and deemed at inquest unnecessary.

The body was turned over to Constable Hubbard, who put it in a spring wagon and drove away to Prospect where it was buried.

On motion the account of Geo. Dungan for sheep killed by dogs was laid before the table until same was proved by witnesses.
On motion the Commissioner's report regarding the Triumph church, and Towler road was laid on the table till the next meeting.

On motion, W. B. Gates was recommended for local cattle inspector of Lockett District.
On motion it is ordered that $300.00 be and the same is hereby appropriated towards the maintenance of the Summer Normal School to be held in Farmville this coming summer. Said amount is appropriated, however, upon condition, that the teachers who attend school from this county shall not be charged an admission fee exceeding $2.00.

On motion it is ordered that the road machine be worked in Lockett District for 20 days and then come to Farmville for 22 days.
It is ordered that the injured mule now worked on road be turned over to the Superintendent of Poor House for use on poor house farm, and that Mr. Dupuy be instructed to buy another mule to be used with road machine, and chairman and clerk are instructed to draw a warrant on the county to pay for same.

On motion a committee is appointed from the town council in regard to macadamizing the road leading from colored Baptist church up to Barber's woods.
The matter of appointing cattle inspectors for the county was laid on the table until next meeting.

Tableaux Productions.
In this age of wonder and invention, no art has taken more rapid strides than that of motion photography. The masterful progress of this science is perhaps the greatest educator to which the 20th century has given birth. Think of beholding the English army plodding up the Thibetian Mountains to the sacred, mysterious and forbidden city of Lhassa. Think of the thousands of monks in their annual devil festivities which hold the eye and mind enrapt with the wonders of barbaric customs and splendors. Think of the Bedouins' flight on the sands of Egypt, beneath the shadows of monuments built in the twilight of departed cycles and one realizes that a more amusing and instructive evening could scarcely be spent.

Yet, marvelous as they may seem, even still more wonderful reproductions have been secured, entailing enormous expenses, time and energy, but with full assurance that the public, ever hungry for good wholesome amusements, and guided by their keen sense of appreciation will merit and repay the great effort exerted in procuring them. Countless varieties of these features will be presented during the exhibition of Archie L. Shepard's High Class Moving Pictures at the Opera House next Monday night.

It isn't the two-minute horse that blows the most in a day.
Hurry, excitement, hustle—these are not good for people. Let us go slow and live long.

Walker & Bolling.
Miss Maria H. Bolling was joined in wedlock to Mr. Edwin S. Walker Wednesday at 2 P. M. at the residence of Mr. J. W. P. Mack near town by the pastor of the bride, Rev. J. H. Davis.
Mr. and Mrs. Bolling and Dr. Chas. Blanton, of Richmond, near relatives of the bride, were present, and Mr. William Walker, the father of the bridegroom was with his wife. There were also present a few of the nearest friends of the bride from Farmville and Cumberland county.

Overreporting, not Overproduction.

Editor Herald:—It has been a time in the history of Virginia farmers, when the tobacco crop was profitable, and they could look forward with great pleasure to the time when their crops would be sold, knowing they would get the value of their tobacco. But in this day, the farmers are at the mercy of the combines and trusts, who are just sapping their very life blood, and causing dissatisfaction, discouragement and poverty among a class of people, who constitute the driving wheel of the whole universe. Why the difference? In the days of my boyhood, the farmers who labored day by day, and by the sweat of their brow succeeded in making a crop of tobacco, prepared their crop for market, and when it was offered for sale, they had an undisputed right to price the fruits of their own labor, and commanded their store accounts, and were paid, and they had money left to furnish their dear ones with some of the luxuries of life, and their families were happy and contented.

In after years Messrs. Combine and Trust raised the curtain and stepped forward on the stage of life, and proclaimed to the world, (not in words, but in action) that we expect in the future to fix and control the prices on the products of your labor. "You work hard and make a good crop of tobacco and we will satisfy you." What has satisfied themselves by taking our tobacco at their own price, the farmers have been disappointed, dissatisfied, and a great many have left their farms to follow some other occupation, and some have been brought to poverty and want. Brother farmers, this is the state of affairs that has existed for years.

Shall we lie supinely on our backs, and say to these combines and trusts, go forward in your work, until you have exhausted the last drop of blood from our veins, or shall we rise up in one solid body, as honest men, and say not only to the combines and trusts, but to the world, that we are going to have a voice in fixing a price on our products, for which we have honestly labored and made?

When the farmers complain of low prices, the first thing we hear, over production! I intend it is not over production, but over reporting. Every market in the state keeps an account of all the tobacco they sell. These reports are consolidated, and the aggregate amount of tobacco sold in the state reported accordingly.

I have always heard it said that figures "don't lie," but I think in this case they do not prove to be correct.
Let us take Farmville, our home market. I hear there has been about nine million pounds of tobacco sold there this season; that amount will be reported; other markets are reporting what they sell. These different reports will sum up the aggregate amount sold in the State. Will this be correct? Let us see. I have heard from good authority that one warehouse in Farmville has sold two hundred thousand pounds of tobacco that was bought on other markets, shipped there, reweighed and sold, and a great deal had been sold at the other warehouses in the same way. It is over reported that all this tobacco will be reported twice, and when the figures of the market reports are compared with the figures of consumption, we find they do not balance, and it is over-reporting instead of over-production.

Let the farmers do their own counting, their own selling, and the time will come when they will be happy and prosperous as in days of our forefathers.

Farmville Local News Thirty-two Years Ago.
[Farmville Mercury, April 29, 1874.]
PROGRESS:—Farmville is looming up grandly. In the first place she is going to have a circus tomorrow. We have learned with much pleasure that Dr. Jno. W. Nash, of Artersville, has entered into a partnership with Dr. Lyle, and is about to become a Farmvillian. He will be cordially welcomed for he is well known and will be a valuable acquisition to our town.

Col. J. P. Fitzgerald, of Worsham, is also to be made Farmville his home. We are inclined to the opinion that there are several in our town who have heard of the Colonel, and who will gladly take him in and do him brown (if not do all they can) to convince him that he has done wisely in coming here.

John R. Wilson, Esq., of Cumberland, is going to make himself a Farmvillian, too. He is no stranger to the people here, and for that reason they are glad he is coming among them to live.

Now, who will say that Farmville is not progressing.

BREVIAEY.—Sunday night, as there was no preaching, some uneasy individual, to pass away the time, and to make a raise, entered the butcher shop of Burger & Miller by means of a false key, with a big butcher's knife and took from them—nothing. Messrs. Burger & Miller having fortunately left that amount in them.

Geo. Hunt having resigned the office of Registrar at Spring Creek voting place, Judge F. N. Watkins has appointed J. S. Mickle to supply the vacancy.

EDUCATIONAL COLUMN.

A Summer Normal at Farmville.
The prospects for a successful Summer School at this place are very bright indeed.
The enlightened enterprise of the Town Council in appropriating $500 and the wise liberality of the Board of Supervisors of this county in giving $200 towards the expenses of such a school almost assure its financial success. It does more. It procures for all Prince Edward students who attend a reduction from $5 to $2 for their tuition fee for the term of four weeks. We can count moreover, on a liberal appropriation from the county school board of this county and of other counties round about this summer school.

Buckingham county has already given $25, Appomattox $50, Cumberland $25, and we are confidently expecting similar appropriations from Charlotte, Halifax, Lunenburg, Mecklenburg, Amelia, Nottoway, Powhatan, Campbell and other counties.

No less than $1,000 and at least 250 students is the mark we have set for the Farmville Summer Normal.
Farmville has an educational reputation to sustain and we propose to maintain the high standard of excellence already associated with the name of Farmville through the superior educational work at the Farmville State Normal.

Our energetic and progressive State Superintendent is already at work securing the best available talent for the corps of instructors of this and the other Summer Normals to be established in different parts of the State, and we may rest assured that Farmville, with its unexcelled equipment, its healthful climate, its lithia water, and its cultured homes where the students will find at the same time cordial welcome and wonderfully cheap board, will stand second to none in the attractions and advantages offered to students of the summer schools.

Already letters are coming in from teachers in different parts of the State expressing the hope that a summer school will be held at this place and desiring their students to attend. The hearts of former students of the State Normal who were not able to complete the course are turning back to Farmville and this summer will see many of them here revising old memories and imbibing fresh learning.

Another consideration that will doubtless influence many teachers to attend this or some other summer school is the new State examinations, which take place on May 3-5, include several subjects not hitherto required for a first grade certificate.

Little time is left for preparation before the regular examinations are held, but by attending a summer school teachers or prospective ones will have the privilege of standing the special examination held at the close of the schools on July 30 and 31 and August 1.
Four weeks of faithful work at the Farmville Summer School may secure for many a teacher a first grade certificate when she would otherwise have to content herself with a second grade certificate with less chance of getting a school and less pay if she does get one.

Appointment of School Trustees.
The School Trustee Electoral Board (composed of Supt. J. H. Davis, Judge Asa D. Watkins, attorney for the Commonwealth, and Mr. Fred Bugg, clerk, met on the call of the chairman at 3 P. M. Tuesday in the office of Judge Watkins to appoint five school trustees in the place of those whose term of office expires on May 1st next.

Mr. W. H. Walden was re-appointed for the Buffalo District, as was Mr. B. M. Cox for the Farmville District, and Mr. J. R. Morton for the Hampton District.
Mr. T. Y. Price, of Green Bay, was appointed in the place of Mr. Kaufman for Leigh District, and Mr. Ben Walton in the place of Mr. C. E. Kennedy for the Lockett District.

Mr. Kaufman sent in his resignation and endorsed Mr. Price as his successor.
Mr. C. E. Kennedy has made a most active, efficient and acceptable trustee who has given both his time and efforts freely to the advancement of the public schools of his district. But the fact that he resided in another county rendered him ineligible under the terms of the school laws.

The Superintendent deems it a matter of congratulation that he can have the efficient aid and wise counsel of such men as compose the several District Boards in his efforts to secure the very best teachers possible for our schools and to advance the public schools to the highest point of efficiency.

Public Meetings in May.
The exact dates for these meetings have not yet been arranged, but it seems probable that a public meeting will be held at Worsham or Hampden-Sidney about May 1st, and another at Abilene May 9th or 10th. The chief objects of these two meetings is to ascertain the will of the people of Hampton District as to raising the district school levy from 10c to 20c on the $100 in order to meet the actual needs of the schools of the district.

Meetings will be held also at dates not yet decided upon at Rice and at Prospect to ascertain whether the people of these communities desire to have a District High School has been laid before the Board of Education and will no doubt soon be acted upon and we hope favorably.

Rice and Prospect should be heard from as soon as possible, or the opportunity of securing state aid will be gone.

The New York Symphony Concert Assured.
The New York Symphony Orchestra will certainly play at Blackstone on Saturday morning, April 21st, at 9 o'clock. A sufficient number of tickets have been sold to guarantee the success of the concert. Persons desiring to hear this, one of the greatest orchestras of the world, should write at once to the Blackstone Institute for tickets, general admission $1, reserved seats $1.25.

Prospect.
April 18, 1906.
In the beginning I must tell you many readers we had a great big affair (sure enough) at Prospect church Easter Monday.
Our Easter entertainment proved quite a success in every respect. We were favored with a large and interested crowd. The exercises consisted of recitations, Easter music interspersed with music by our efficient string band. I made special mention of an Easter cross formed by 14 girls of different sizes. Last but by no means least came the presentation of confederacies for the Sunday school scholars, and all children in the audience, plucked from heavily laden trees, by Mr. J. R. Glenn, and Mr. C. W. Crawley presented to each child by Misses Lelia Hubbard and Lelia Price. The audience now repaired to the church yard to witness the animated Easter hunt where 400 eggs were concealed from view. It was interesting to watch the anxious boys and girls, in their hasty and eager search for the largest number of eggs. Master Frank Price won the prize.

This enjoyable occasion will long be remembered by all present, more especially the children.
Miss M. L. Brightwell gave an entertainment Friday night in honor of her visitors.
Miss Bessie Carter entertained the young people Saturday night complimentary to her friends.

Mr. Clyde Carter, of Bedford City, spent Easter at home.
Mr. Murray Glenn, of Washington, spent several days with his mother.
Mr. Winn, tutor of Mr. Watt Dunnington, was the guest of his cousin, Dr. J. F. Abop.

Rev. H. L. Carson's mother, sister and niece visited them at the parsonage last week. They returned to their home in Appomattox on Monday.
Capt. W. E. O'Connor visited his home folks during the Easter-tide.

Mrs. Charlie Glenn, of your city, returned yesterday, after spending some time with relatives.
Miss Bessie Price and several of her school-mates spent Easter at Gardens.
Mrs. A. H. Hooper, of Buckingham, visited her home people last week, also her sister, Mrs. C. A. Garden.
Mrs. T. B. Hix and Thomas Hix, Jr., went over to Curdsville last week to spend several weeks at her old home.

Miss Mamie Glenn, who has been sick two weeks with pneumonia, we are glad to report is much improved.
Miss Margie Crawley's school closed last week, with appropriate exercises, ending with an Easter egg hunt, the same Master Frank Price, being the prize-winner.

Mr. Hugh Cunningham, who has been attending Newport News Academy the past winter, reached home last Saturday. He will receive a warm welcome at each home in the vicinity. We hope every one enjoyed the beautiful bright Easter. Easter eggs and cards were distributed among the "faithful few" juvenile members of Buffalo Sunday School.

Mr. Thos. W. Crawley and daughter, Miss Margie, spent Saturday night and Sunday at Mr. Geo. Hunt's. We are glad to report a continued improvement in Miss Helen M. Hunt's condition. She is expected at her father's, Mr. B. F. Hunt's, in a few weeks. Miss Jennie Elliott is visiting her niece, Mrs. C. F. Binford.
Mrs. M. S. Moore is visiting at her son's Mr. J. D. Moore.

Mrs. Cabell Moore, and two young-est children, Jamie and Samuel, are visiting relatives in the neighborhood.
