

KILLED BY A BURGLAR

Guardian of Colony Shot While on Duty.

LARGE REWARD OFFERED

Special Policeman Intercepts Man With Booty and is Murdered in a Shuffle.

New Rochelle, N. Y., June 22.—Roused by the fatal shooting of Special Policeman Maurice Ahearn in New Rochelle park by a man whom the Westchester police believe to have been an Italian burglar, several millionaire residents of New Rochelle have started a large reward fund for information leading to the capture and conviction of the murderer.

While on duty in the early morning the policeman saw a man with a bag over his shoulder and, stopping him, asked what he carried. The stranger replied that it was none of Ahearn's business. The man came to blows, and a few seconds later several shots were fired. A bullet entered Ahearn's body over the heart, and he died soon afterward.

Bloodhound to Hunt Murderer.

The Knights of Columbus, of which Ahearn was a member, have sent to Boston for a bloodhound, which will be put on the trail of the murderer.

Dr. Johnson, who had been sitting up with a sick friend, saw all that passed between the murderer and his victim. He says that the men grappled and rolled on the ground. After a short struggle the policeman regained his feet and kept a grip on his opponent's collar. The stranger drew a revolver and, placing it against Ahearn's breast, fired, the bullet entering the policeman's body over the heart.

Dr. Johnson says that the man after having fired the shot put his revolver back into his pocket and walked away slowly. After going a short distance he returned to where Ahearn was lying and, placing the revolver to the policeman's neck, fired a second shot. Then he fired a third shot into Ahearn's right side. After firing the third shot the murderer fled.

ITALIAN COLONIES WATCHED.

Ahearn's Slaves May Have Sought Refuge in New York.

New York, June 22.—An Italian named Bonavento, suspected of shooting Ahearn, was arrested under suspicious circumstances at Portchester, but later the police announced that Bonavento had accounted for his movements and that they did not believe he had committed the crime.

The police are confident that Ahearn used his club during the struggle and argue that the murderer ought to be pretty badly cut up. They believe the murderer is being cared for by friends here. The Italian colonies in this city are being watched, and a systematic search will be made.

SMASH UP ON THE D. AND H.

Four Men Killed in an Accident Near Dresden, N. Y.

Whitehall, N. Y., June 22.—An accident on the Delaware and Hudson railroad about fifteen miles north of Whitehall, near Dresden, resulted in the death of four men and the serious injury of two others. Passenger train No. 7, known as the "Sleeper," leaving Whitehall for the north at 2:30 a. m., carried signals for a light engine which left Whitehall as second section No. 7, having the same rights of track as the first section. A freight train south bound had side tracked to allow No. 7 to pass.

The crew of the freight train failed to see the signals carried by the first section of No. 7, and they pulled on the main track just as the light engine, running at a high rate of speed, came along, and the freight engine crashed head on. Engineer Henry Collins, Fireman Moore and brakeman Fred Ryan of the light engine and Fireman Fred Bellegarde of the freight engine were instantly killed. Engineer Darquod and brakeman William Chebney of the freight train were seriously injured.

CONCLUDING LECTURE BY FATHER SUTTON

The Roman Catholic Church Declared to Be the True Church of Christ.

There was a large attendance at St. Monica's church last evening to listen to the last of the series of interesting lectures which have been given by Rev. Fr. Sutton for the past two weeks. The subject was a most interesting one, "Infallibility."

We claim the Catholic church is the infallible teacher of divine revelation. An infallible church cannot fall into error. Secondly: That Christ established an infallible church, and that church which Christ established is the Roman Catholic church, consequently the Roman Catholic church cannot fall into error, or teach falsehood. The main point is, Did Christ establish a church that was infallible and is that church he established the Roman Catholic church? If I can make this clear you must admit it is an infallible guide, and cannot fall into error.

If Christ has established such an infallible teacher and if that church is a Catholic Church, she is infallible, it follows necessarily, so that those people who belong to a religious denomination, which does not claim to be infallible, that they are not belonging to the church appointed by Christ and cannot be saved outside of that church which He has left to bring us to salvation. If Christ has left an infallible church to be our guide it follows whatever those teachings are must be the true ones. If Christ gave us an infallible guide, it is to tell us. If He has established such a guide and church it is our duty to belong to it and our salvation depends upon it.

He has said: "He who despiseth me despiseth me." We cannot hope to be in the way of salvation when we are despising God. Christ's church then cannot fall into error. Once the church of Christ it would be always His church, and always teach the same truth. God brought the people to religious truth by a teacher, by instruction and authoritative way. The institution of which we find He established in society, in organizing, giving it power and authority to teach things in His name.

Is there any evidence in Holy Scripture that he left such an institution to settle our disputes. Has he done so? If we can find evidence we must submit to it. There is nothing more evident that Christ did establish just such a society and empower that visible society to go out and teach with authority, and that it would not fall into error. Christ gave the following charter to them: "As the Father sent me, so I send you. All things whatsoever I heard from the Father I have made known to you. I have instructed you, now go and do my work, I have imparted knowledge to you, and you are fit for the office, fit for the duties imposed upon you. Go ye into the whole world and preach the Gospel to every creature. It is not to be bounded by any limits, go unto all nations. He who hears you, hears me. He that believeth shall be saved, he that believeth not shall be damned. Lo, I am with you unto the end. I am with you all days even unto the consummation of the world. The gates of hell shall not prevail against my church. I will send the Holy Ghost the spirit of truth, who will bring to your recollection all things whatsoever I told you, and who will abide with you forever." In conclusion he referred to the words of our Lord to Peter, when he made him the visible head of His church, and also was the first Pope of the Catholic church, of which 263 have succeeded him.

Lowell, Mass., June 21.—The Textile Council this afternoon declared the great strike in the Lowell mills at an end. Every union affiliated with the council was represented and the vote was unanimous. Male spinners and loom fixers were included in this vote despite statements that they would oppose a return to work. There was no decision. The situation was discussed carefully and with no suggestion of excitement. The vote showed every delegation favorable to a return to work and the sentiment was that the vote take immediate effect.

When asked for a statement, President Conroy smilingly said: "We now worship at the altar of defeat, but later we shall rise again and conquer."

The strike began March 30 and involved about 17,000 operatives. The mills were shut down until June 1, when the agents opened the gates and the majority of the operatives went back to work. The strike has cost in wages about $1,300,000.

It is understood that the agents will take back all the old help they have room for, and will make no discrimination against the leaders of the strike movement. The high prices of cotton precluded any hope of success of the strikers' campaign for a ten per cent. increase.

Lowell, June 22.—A large number of the strikers returned to work today in the cotton mills, but many leaders of the strike were told they would be sent for when wanted. President Conroy of the textile union was one of these. Michael Dugan, treasurer of the council, and Mrs. Mary Fratus, the speaker, were others. The mill men say there is no intention of discriminating but where non-union help was secured since the gates reopened and they have proved skillful enough, they do not intend to discharge them. The mills claim to be re-employing old men as fast as possible.

An Explanation From J. Sassi.

To the Editor of the Barre Daily Times: As, last Saturday on the charge of breach of peace I was fined $12 I like to explain the cause of the fact. Being working for Rizzi Bros. at the pay day 8, Rizzi, one of the firm, gave me my check and as I thought that the pay of $3.00 was not right having been working for other firms for more than that. Mr. Rizzi did not allow me any more, telling me that another firm stated that I was not worth more. Just as soon I found out that the statement affirmed by Rizzi was untrue I went in his office telling him about it. He tried to kick me out and on my self defense I did oppose him. He shut the office door trying to cut in my hand. I was arrested and fined but the committee of the granite cutters union, this morning figured up my work and I got a check for the balance due at 43c per hour.

This prove that I was right on my prices asked, and that Mr. Rizzi was on the wrong side. I wish that will be useful for the future to some people. Joseph Sassi.

BEFORE THE OPEN DOOR

Baccalaureate Sermon to Goddard, 1903.

BY REV. EFFIE K. M. JONES

Opportunities Are Many Doors Which Await Us All to Enter.

A cold, dark rainy morning dawned on class Sunday at Goddard seminary. The rain had been falling continually during the night and continued at intervals throughout the day. However, despite the rain, the "hunting" juniors were up bright and early and with their ever-green, ferns, flowers and school colors, beautifully decked out the pulpit of the Universalist church, where the baccalaureate sermon was delivered before the eighteen members of the graduating class by Rev. Effie K. M. Jones, pastor of the church, at 10:30 a. m.

Four juniors, Mark Berry, Mark Carpenter, Dean Seaver and Mr. Hadin acted as ushers and seated the large congregation which filled every seat with the exception of those reserved in front for the senior and junior classes and the teachers. The junior class marched in first, led by Usher Mark Carpenter, and took seats at the right of the center aisle.

The faculty then marched in and were seated on the left, and lastly the senior class who were seated in front of the teachers. The order of the service was as follows: Organ voluntary, Mrs. T. L. Snow; anthem, "Onward Christian Soldiers," by the choir of the Church of the Messiah of Montpelier; invocation; responsive reading; anthem, "Rock of Ages"; Scripture reading; prayer; response; solo, "Jesus, Lover of my Soul," by Mark Davis; sermon, Rev. Effie K. M. Jones; anthem, "Thy Hallowed Presence;" hymn; benediction; postlude.

The singing by the choir was very much enjoyed, and the solo by Mark Davis, '03, was nicely rendered. Mrs. Jones delivered a very profound and impressive sermon, her text being Revelations, 3:5, "Behold, I have set before thee an open door and no man can shut it." She said in substance: "Our success depends wholly upon our choice of entering or choosing this door. What is success? The meaning varies with the individual. To one it means great social standing, while to another it means the plaudits of the world.

Opportunities are many doors which await us all along our way and there is an old saying that opportunity knocks once at every man's door.

Yesterday's opportunities are indeed gone but today's are with us and it depends upon us alone how many of these we grasp. Members of the Senior class your are placed this day before open doors that lie in the way of usefulness. The duties of manhood and womanhood are never placed upon little children. There is always a time for preparation. You have been helped by the love and guidance of fond parents and the advice of friends and teachers and are thus better fitted to grasp the opportunities of mature years. The world's task must be performed by the common people. It needs intellectual, cultured men and women. The world waits for you to enter into these tasks and may you have zeal, faithfulness and confidence in the love of God to aid you. May Christian love abound in you and bring forth fruits of eternal life.

THE PRIZE DEBATE.

Interesting Exercises at Goddard Chapel Saturday Evening.

The annual prize debate and sight reading contest of Goddard Seminary was held in the chapel Saturday evening. There were four participants in the debate Messrs. White, Berry, Hadin and Miss Chapman. The subject for discussion was, Resolved that United States Senators Should be Elected by Popular Vote. Mr. White and Miss Chapman argued the negative side of the question and Mr. Berry and Mr. Hadin the affirmative side.

The debate was very successful. The arguments on both sides were strong and were given in a spirited and masterly way showing that the participants had studied the subject thoroughly and had their arguments well in hand and they delivered them with little confinement to notes.

The sight reading contest was especially good and those who took part showed commendable ability to read the difficult selections given them in a very interesting and intelligent manner. Those who took part in the reading were Mr. Baldwin, Miss Dickinson, Miss Short, Miss Robinson, Mr. Cadger, Miss Maude Roben, Miss Lane and Miss Deane.

The judges for both contests were Mr. Haggood, Miss Alice Sturtevant and Mr. Griswold Morley, and after being out twenty minutes unanimously decided the first prize in the debate to Mr. Hadin and second prize to Mark Berry.

First prize in impromptu reading to Alfred Cadger, first prize and second to Miss Mary Robinson, Miss Hallie Lane received honorary mention.
