

Two Physicians and Two Widely Advertised
Kidney Remedies Failed Entirely.

KIDNEY-WORT TABLETS

Have Done Wonders For Me, Says
Mr. H. A. Crehore.

Any physician could have told Mr. Crehore that no proprietary liquid remedy could possibly relieve his bladder weakness and cure his kidney disease.

Liquid kidney remedies stand for months, oftener years, on druggists' shelves. They would soon ferment if alcohol were not added. Yet nothing so surely aggravates the kidneys as alcohol; nothing leads so inevitably to Bright's disease, that kills more people annually in this country than any other disease save consumption.

Fitchburg, Mass., April 19, 1903.

I cannot speak too highly about your Kidney-Wort Tablets. They have done wonders for me, as my case was a bad one, and I knew the Tablets have helped me wonderfully. I have told others what they have done for me, and they are using them for the same troubles as mine, and tell me they are doing them a great deal of good. For the benefit of sufferers from kidney troubles I am willing you should refer to me, for I am convinced that Kidney-Wort Tablets will cure people afflicted with kidney disease, even when every other remedy has been tried and found useless.

Respectfully yours,
H. A. CREHORE.

The scientific methods of today discard liquid alcoholic kidney remedies as worse than useless. It takes up, after most searching experiments and trials, Dr. Pettigill's famous Kidney-Wort, puts it into tablet form, and proves it to be a trustworthy, genuine specific.

Thousands of people suffer from pains in head, sides and limbs, and are discouraged when liniments do not cure them. Rheumatism, burning smoky colored urine, lumbago, dropsical swellings, sediment in urine, irregular heart action and general urinary derangements should be referred to their true cause—disordered or diseased kidneys. Let a small quantity of your morning urine stand twenty-four hours before examining it for cloudiness, reddish deposits or high color.

THE ARMY OF SANTIAGO.

Reunion in Detroit Opens Under Auspicious Skies.

Detroit, Mich., July 17.—Under beautifully bright skies the military parade which opened the reunion of the Society of Santiago de Cuba and the Fifth army corps, marched through the central business portion of the city. Major General A. B. Chaffee, U. S. A., was chief marshal and Major General J. C. Bates, commander of the department of the lakes, was in command of the military division, which was composed of one battalion of the Ninth infantry, one battalion of the Third infantry, one battalion of the First infantry, one battery of the Twenty-first artillery from Fort Sheridan and Captain Brett's famous troop of the Second cavalry.

Following was a detachment of marines and jacksies from the U. S. S. Michigan, which is anchored in the river here. One battalion of the First Michigan national guard, the two divisions of the Michigan naval reserve and several hundred veterans of the Spanish-American war.

Major General Joseph R. Wheeler, Major General Hawkins and several other military men of prominence occupied carriages after the military division.

Major General William R. Shafter, president of the society, left the march at the corner of Fort and Griswold streets and drove to the stand in front of the city hall, where the parade passed in review.

In the afternoon the first of the military tournaments was given at their inclosed camp by the infantry, cavalry and artillery, which are here for that purpose. Another performance was given at night.

A A KNAPP FOUND GUILTY

Ohio Murderer Receives No Mercy From Jury.

CONFESSED TO MANY CRIMES

Slew at Least Five Women and Has Spent Over a Third of His Life in Prison—Only Defense Insanity.

Hamilton, O., July 17.—Alfred A. Knapp was convicted of murder in the first degree for the murder of his wife, Hannah Goddard Knapp, by Judge Belden's jury here. To the surprise of everybody, there was no recommendation of mercy. The jury for a long time stood ten for conviction without mercy and two for conviction with mercy, being unanimously for guilt. When an agreement had been reached Judge Belden was sent for, and Knapp was brought into court by Sheriff Bisdorf. There were but few spectators present, and there was no excitement.

Knapp took his seat quietly and when the verdict was read did not show any sign of emotion or make any comment. He seemed to have steered himself for the ordeal. Knapp was taken back to jail at once, and Sheriff Bisdorf will allow no outsiders to see him. The result of the trial is accepted with great satisfaction by the public. Knapp's mother and sister were very much affected when they heard the verdict.

The case will be carried higher on the usual appeals, but it is generally believed that Knapp will now be electrocuted.

Knapp confessed Feb. 26 to officials here to five murders, as follows: Emma Littlemann, killed in lumber yard at Cincinnati, June 21, 1894.

May Eckert, murdered in room on Walnut street, Cincinnati, Aug. 1, 1894.

Janie Knapp, thrown into canal at Liberty street, Cincinnati, Aug. 7, 1894.

Ida Gebhard, strangled at Indianapolis in July, 1895.

Hannah Knapp, murdered at Hamilton, Dec. 22, 1902.

Irresistible Impulse to Kill.

Regarding the killing of his wife, Hannah Goddard Knapp, for whose murder he has been convicted, Knapp said that when he awoke the morning of the crime he was seized with an impulse to strangle his wife. After accomplishing her death he got a box and nailed her up. He hauled the body two miles from here and threw the corpse into the Miami river at Lindenwald. The body was found March 2 in the river at New Albany.

Knapp has spent two-thirds of his life in prison, but for the five murders to which he confessed he had gone unsuspected until a few unguarded words he let drop set the law upon him.

For years he had been a strangler, he admitted, pouncing upon innocent children and choking them to death. He was twice in state prison for fish-like assaults upon women.

Insanity was the only defense made by his relatives and attorneys. All of his victims were strangled.

Knapp's first wife was Emma Stubbs of Fort Wayne. She secured a divorce. Knapp's fourth and surviving wife lives at Indianapolis, where he was arrested last February.

Three hours after conviction Knapp said, "I suppose it is all off with me."

SCRANTON MINE GAVES IN.

Four Men Killed and a Church Badly Damaged.

Scranton, Pa., July 17.—The beautiful new Catholic church of St. Lawrence O'Toole at Rendham, near here, has been badly damaged by a cave in of the top vein at Jermya No. 2 mine. There is a big crack in the masonry, reaching from the foundation diagonally across the end nearly to the roof. The church was dedicated about a year ago. Much private property has been damaged in the neighborhood also.

The residents of Rendham were awakened between 4 and 5 o'clock by the creaking timbers of their houses, that were rapidly settling to the new level made by the cave. In one place a deep crevasse extends for half a mile, and a long section of one of the principal streets is rendered unsafe for travel by great breaks running lengthwise and extending down to a depth of twelve or fifteen feet.

Four miners were caught in the cave in at the No. 2 mine. One of them is seriously injured and the others only slightly hurt. A rescue party of thirty-six men searched for two or three hours for the men before finding them. There are rumors that other miners are still in the workings, but this is not credited by the mine officials.

He was found secreted in a house near by and in attempting to escape was probably fatally shot by Barkley. The wounded man was conveyed to Craft post office, where a posse of deputies guarded him all night to prevent lynching by indignant neighboring farmers, who came in from the surrounding country for miles around. Will was brought to Indiana and placed in the county jail. The girl's condition is serious.

The lean Meat of Wheat.

GLUTEN—is the prime muscle-making constituent of Wheat, and its flavoring principle. Indiana Wheat is richest in Gluten, yet 60 per cent of even that best wheat is—Starch.

Starch is a mere fat-former,—heating in Summer,—dyspeptic,—and a poor strength food.

PRESTO quick-flour is rich in Gluten, with only a low percentage of Starch, and is milled down to such unusual fineness, and uniformity, that it works into pastry twice as quickly, and twice as evenly, as other flours.

Because of this uniform fineness its tiny particles are promptly penetrated, and digested, by the Gastric juices of the stomach, being thus converted into strength long before ordinary flour starts conversion into fat.

Not six per cent of American flour is equal to PRESTO in nutrition, flavor, and "keeping" qualities.

Yet Cake, or Pastry, made from it costs a trifle less than from common flour—as comparative recipes prove.

PRESTO needs no Baking Powder, and much less than other flours, of that costly and indigestible thing—"shortening."
