BRADSTREET'S VERMONT WEEKLY TRADE REPORT

Reports to Bradstreet's for the week show manufacturing plants are well employed generally. Wholesale firms in dry goods report demand normal; hardware and building material reasonably good. Retail merchants complain of late season and unfavorable weather conditions. Among marble manufacturers, plants are well employed and a good demand for work is reported. Granite manufacturers also report favorably regarding volume of business on hand. Machine industries are employed full time and future outlook is considered good. An improvement is noted with furniture manufacturers. Woolen mills note demand is light and stocks of manufactured goods accumulating. Reports from country districts show hay crop will be a good one, but excessive rains have delayed planting generally and it is feared that by the time the soil is in condition for crops the work of harvesting may be at hand. Some farming lands are still too wet to be worked to advantage. Country roads are in poor shape for travel. The continued wet weather has delayed trade in vegetable goods. Cold weather has generally prevailed. Collections are uneven with tendency toward slowness.

Burlington manufacturing firms report normal conditions. Retail trade, while affected by unfavorable weather conditions, shows a fair volume while collections are reported uneven with tendency toward slowness. Retail reports marble manufacturers are employed to capacity and demand holds good both for marble for building work as well as monumental work. A fire during the past week destroyed one manufacturing plant but it is expected that the company will be able to resume shipments in a short time. Reports from merchants at St. Albans note cool weather during the past few weeks has interfered with general trade. Labor is well employed but farmers are delayed in their planting operations. St. Johnsbury reports labor well employed and general conditions favor an increase in retail trade with better weather conditions. Some damage was done to crops by reason of cool weather. Barre granite manufacturers report labor well employed and some improvement in collections. Retail trade continues about normal. Reports from Montpelier are in the main of a more straggled nature. Manufacturing plants are well employed and retail trade fully as good as could be expected. Local collections are reported more or less slow. Brattleboro manufacturers are employed full time. Retail merchants at that point state unsettled weather conditions have retarded volume of trade. The farmer reports it has been too cold and too wet for crops generally, although hay crop will be a large one. Reports from Bellows Falls indicate but little change in general conditions. Reports from other places are reflected among local trade. Bennington reports knit goods mills are employed to capacity. Rutley weather has delayed business among the retail merchants. At Chester the soapstone works are employed to full capacity. Considerable business is reported by wood working shops.

THE CONSERVATION OF NATURE'S REMEDIES

Applies as well to our physical state as to material things. C. J. Indigo, Washington, D. C., realized his condition and took warning before it was too late. He says: "I suffered severely from kidney trouble, the disease being hereditary in our family. I have taken four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy, and now consider myself thoroughly cured. This should be a warning to all not to neglect taking Foley's Kidney Remedy until it is too late. J. W. O'Sullivan, 24 Church street."

TOO BAD.

Mrs. Sayro—I should think that the criticisms that your son received on his book would fairly make him smart.

Mrs. Ruyter Down—Well, I guess they do—but they don't make him any smarter.

POWER FOR TRACTION CO.

Other Creek to Turn Wheels of Burlington Street Cars.

W. F. Hendes, J. J. Flynn, Elias Lyman and C. W. Brownell, recent purchasers of the Other Creek water power at Vergennes, have just received the deed of that property from Dr. Seward Webb. The power is considered by experts to be one of the best in the State and the primary object of the purchasers was the production of the Burlington Traction Company.

For the past few years the Traction company has been getting its power from the Burlington Flouring company and it has not had a sufficient supply. When a plant is installed at Vergennes however, there will be enough and to spare. An electrical engineer will be employed at once to make a preliminary survey with the object of ascertaining how to get the greatest amount of power out of the falls.

It is expected that the falls will develop 3,000 horsepower in low water and 5,000 or 6,000 horsepower in high water. The new owners of the falls will build a station at Vergennes and install three motors. The power will be brought to Burlington over 75 miles of wire. Three wires will be used and about 80 poles.

A distributing station will be installed in the city at the car barns where the electrical equipment will be housed. The generators from the Burlington Flouring company and the American Wooden company's plants will be brought to the new building at the car barns. Two new motors will be required there to transfer the power to the above generators. The generator at the Flouring company's plant is a 575 kilowatt machine and will develop 500 horsepower. The one at the wooden company's plant is 100 kilowatts and develops 80 horsepower.

The plant at Vergennes is now stands consists of about 20 acres of land on which are located the works of the Haviland Shade Roller company, a saw mill and several other buildings. The Haviland company will continue to operate under a lease.

While the first object of the purchase was to protect the interests of the Burlington Traction company and the property will ultimately probably be turned over to that company, W. F. Hendes said yesterday that the people of Vergennes should be taken care of and their needs supplied. After the first object of the purchase is satisfied, namely, the protection of the Traction company, the people of Vergennes can have what power they want. Then power will be sold along the line between Vergennes and Burlington and, lastly, power will be sold in the city.

Dr. Hendes has arranged to take his horse-power for lights and power on his property. He will use 1,500 lights. Hereafter the car service in Burlington will be ample and regular upon all occasions.

BOYS' SECRETARY SECURED

F. A. Cunningham to Have Charge of That Department in Y. M. C. A. Work.

An enthusiastic gathering of the committee of the Young Men's Christian association was held Tuesday night. The young men's supper committee looked after the supper in a very satisfactory manner. President Fred S. Pease presided and various club reports were given for benefit of work their committee had outlined for next year. Among the chairman who responded were Messrs. Chittenden, Colclough, Wood, Tracy and Dr. Pease. Many very practical matters were presented. Among others who were called upon were Dr. J. P. Messinger, Harry H. Thompson, who is to be general secretary of the student association next year.

General Secretary Allen announced that there had been secured a boys' secretary for the association. He is Frederick A. Cunningham of Springfield, Mass., and the officers of the association consider that they have secured an especially capable and experienced man. Mr. Cunningham has been a secretary or executive officer of the Springfield association for about ten years. He has held almost every important position in the boys' department. He was three years president of the boys' cabinet, and has a camp leader, Bible class teacher and general organizer. It was the great regret that the Springfield association consented to his leaving as he was looked upon as a future boys' secretary of that organization.

Mr. Cunningham has been connected for some time with the Boys' Scouts and was the first chaplain to be appointed to this organization in this country.

THE PROPER PLACE TO LOOK

During the moving of a portrait of one of the ancestors of the Brent family had got lost. No one could find it at either the old or the new house, and there was great consternation. William Brent, aged six, was offered a "treat" value not announced, for any hint that would lead to the return of the missing grandfather.

One noon he came home from school breathless. "I think, mamma," he said, "I think we can find Grandfather Brent's picture."

"Where?" asked his mother. "Downtown," said William, confidently. "I saw a notice on a shop window and it said 'Paintings restored within.' Youth's Companion."

REFINED

"I suppose you regard the enormous price you paid for that picture as 'not exactly' your appreciation of art?" "Not exactly," replied Mrs. Camrox; "but it does show folks that we are too refined to care for money."—Washington Star.
