Miss Hazel Wheeler of Elm street has resumed her duties in the office of the Vermont Mutual Insurance Co., at Montpelier, after passing a two weeks' vacation in Greensboro.

Mrs. B. A. Manchester of Randolph and Miss Constance Manchester of Boston arrived in this city this noon for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglass Barclay of Franklin street.

While turning from North Main street into the entrance leading to the Flanders garage, a Buick automobile, driven by Fred C. Eaton, today skidded and slewed into the curb, bending a rear wheel. Several of the spokes were broken, but they were braced in such a manner that the machine was able to be run to a place of shelter.

A gang of men commenced work this morning to reconstruct the abutments of the two bridges at Dodge's crossing in the town of Berlin on the Montpelier road. These abutments were undermined by the high water of last spring. At present only temporary abutments will be erected. The workmen also started on the work of cutting the brush on the sides of a piece of road below the crossing, which has been in such a condition that travel has been made, difficult. This piece of road is to be underdrained and will be widened, and a filling of gravel will slightly raise the elevation of the road.

Says Bryan Is Worth About $200,000. In the September American Magazine there is an article containing a great deal of "inside" information about the Chicago and Baltimore conventions. One of the interesting points brought out is the relation that existed between Bryan and the rich and powerful New York delegates. To his face they were friendly, but behind his back they reviled him. Especial attention was paid to the alleged great fortune that Bryan has made. The article goes on:

"It was a scandal and must be denounced. Ideas of the extent of the scandal varied with the various notions of what constitutes a fortune. Southern bankers and lawyers put it at about a million. Their more prosperous brethren from the North could not call a million scandalous and they estimated the Bryan pile at five millions."

"And every cent of it made out of the Democratic party. He has capitalized the notoriety we have given him. If rumors of these conferences reached Mr. Bryan they must have made him pensive, for he is said to entertain a respect for the dignity of a dollar that would meet the approval of Mr. Rockefeller. It never occurred to these conspirators that to save even a miserable million dollars from the proceeds of lecturing and writing would be impossible. We know little about Mr. Bryan's stock lecture except that it is said to appeal to the kind of intelligence that adorned the late Ian MacLaren. No doubt he is well paid for his platform appearances. No doubt he is over-paid for his writings. We admire Mr. Bryan as a public character and as a first-class fighting man but we feel bound to say that if we were advising any young man who wished to cultivate an English style, we should most certainly advise him to give no part of his days or his nights to the volumes of Bryan. The truth is that Mr. Bryan by very hard work with pen and open face, by saving and luckily investing has gathered together about $200,000. The writer personally regards this as a scandalous fortune, but he cannot understand why it should be so regarded by Mr. T. F. Ryan."

The Artist's Need. "Murder in Any Degree" is the title of a story by Owen Johnson, author of "Stover at Yale" in the August Century, in which the leading character of the story, a genius who fails to produce, says:

"Do you know what is the great essential to the artist—to whoever creates? The sense of privacy, the power to isolate his own genius from everything in the world, to be absolutely concentrated. To create we must be alone, have strange, unuttered thoughts, just as in the realms of the soul every human being must have moments of complete isolation—thoughts, reveries, moods, that cannot be shared with even those we love best. You don't understand that."

"Yes, I do."

"At the bottom we human beings come and depart absolutely alone. Friendship, love, all that we instinctively seek to rid ourselves of, this awful solitude of the soul, availing nothing. Well, what others shrink from, the artist must seek."

EVERY ROSE HAS ITS STEM. THE OUTLAW. A delightful and unusual comedy of a somewhat feckle youth, a sweet little miss in a flower store and a haughty stenographer. There is a pretty touch of sentiment and a touch of pathos. It's one of those delightful Edison pictures, all.

MISS IONE GHIO, Pianist. ADMISSION, 10 CENTS. CHILDREN, 5 CENTS.

SPORTING NOTES.

Rochester and Toronto are still going along at a neck and neck clip in the International race. The former has a slight lead.

The batting honors in the Connecticut league are falling to Cunningham of the Springfield team. During his brief career in the Nutmeg league he has claimed an average of .361. Cunningham is a pitcher.

Charles D. Redpath, the Syracuse runner and holder of the world's record for the 400-meter race, will start training this week for the national A. U. championships, which are to be held next month. Since his return there has been a question of the eligibility of his points being placed with the N. Y. A. C., but investigation shows that he has been a member of that organization over two years.

Comiskey of the White Sox arises with a calamity howl that the Red Sox are cracking. Never has a team been playing better ball and never has a team been rolling more harmoniously than the Boston team is today. For the last two months they have lost but about a game a week. The majority of their combats have been close ones and they have had to put up an clever fight in order to come from behind before the ninth innings were closed.

Celtic park, New York, on Labor day will probably be filled to the gates in order to witness Martin Sheridan and James Thorpe fight it out for the championship all-round title. Sheridan belongs to the Irish-American club and holds the world's all-round athletic record. Thorpe won the decathlon and pentathlon events at the Olympic games at Stockholm. Experts are divided as to which will gain the supremacy. Glenn Warner, the Carlisle coach, says his charge will annex the title.

Two Cincinnati capitalists came to New York this week with proposals to purchase the controlling interest in the Brooklyn National club. They returned without the purchase. Pres. Ebbetts issued a statement to the effect that the club was not for sale.

Roland Barrows, the Jersey City outfielder, has been recalled by the Chicago White Sox. He will report the latter part of the month. He has been hitting for .345 and may replace Callahan in left field.

Murray has been playing better ball than any other member of the Giant cast on their western trip. His fielding has been spectacular and he has outbid his teammates.

The Peerless Leader has promised Richie $100 every time he beats the Giants. It is a good thing that other tired non-energetic pitchers in the big leagues have not this offer standing every time they enter a game.

Rube Marquard, someone said, has excited suspicion that he again is back in form. In his last start he had everything necessary to win and used excellent judgment on pitching to batters, and he held his best in reserve for tight pinches.

Last call on summer waists, all selling below cost to make room for fall goods. Paris Shirtwaist House.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Have you looked over the Campbell property on Spaulding and Perry streets?

Golda H. Douglass left yesterday for Burlington, where he is attending the Pythian convales.

Arnold Baneroff of Manchester, N. H., was a visitor in this city yesterday on his way to Websterville, where he will visit for a few weeks with relatives.

Miss Delilan Paine, who has been visiting in this city for the past few days as the guest of Miss Margaret Brusca of Howard street, returned yesterday to her home at Bethel.

H. E. Reynolds of Washington street left this noon by automobile for Burlington, where he will attend the state encampment of the Knights of Pythias. He will return to this city to-morrow night.

At Graniteville last night the Italian A. C. added another scalp to its long lists of victories with a win over the Graniteville A. C. Zarka, the new Millstone hill acquisition, was no puzzle for the Italians. Rovetta, the turn ball pitcher, was doing duty for the Barre team and held his opponents to one run.

Bycraft, the former Graniteville A. C. pitcher, in his new role for the Williamstown A. C., held the Montpelier I. A. C. to a lone run last night at Williamstown, while his teammates were manufacturing 12 tallies. Counter and Scampini were both used on the mound in an attempt to check the progress of the Biltown team.

This afternoon at the I. A. C. ball grounds of Berlin street, the Randolph baseball aggregation, that held the Italians to a tie score in an eight-inning game at Randolph several weeks ago, will appear primed for battle. Gay, their outpunch, who attended the university of Vermont last year, will be pitted against the local team.

Another baseball attraction is scheduled for Saturday, when the Italian A. C. and the Graniteville A. C. meet for the second game of their series at the I. A. C. ball park off Berlin street. The Graniteville team will pitch Zarka, the Proctor man. Zarka was with the Brattleboro club in the Twin State league for several weeks this season. Dan Beaton will do the twirling for the local team. It is understood that the Graniteville team is to be greatly strengthened with several star players.

Miss Marie G. Wells of Merchant street left this noon over the Montpelier & Wells River railroad for Danville, where she will be engaged for a year as a teacher in the public schools of that town. Miss Wells graduated from Goddard seminary last June with honors in the teacher training course. She has had considerable experience in pedagogy, having instructed in the public schools of this city. Miss Wells also holds a diploma from the musical department of Goddard, being a graduate in the course in 1910.

At Dreamland, To-day Only.

Colonial Jack, world's greatest long-distance walker, and his famous wheelbarrow, Jack walked and pushed a wheelbarrow around the border of the United States, a distance of 9,000 miles, in 357 days. He appears at Dreamland to-day only to tell you his experiences. There will also be the usual number of feature pictures, among them The Katzenjammer Kids on a trip to Germany, which affords a big long stream of laughs. Admission for this date only will be 10c.

Metal Production in Colorado.

The value of the gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc output in Colorado in 1911, according to the United States geological survey, was $32,418,218, as compared with $33,673,879 in 1910, a decrease in value for the year of $1,255,661. The output of gold decreased by $1,505,023; silver by $710,194; copper by $38,600; and lead by $211,568. The output of zinc increased by $1,229,784.
