RECORD BREAKING CROPS IN VIEW

Harvests Will Be 20.3 Per Cent. Greater Than the Crops of Last Year.

Washington, Sept. 12.--The cereal crops of the country, from present indications, will reach the unprecedented total production of 133,916,000 tons. Victor H. Olmsted, chief of the department of agriculture's bureau of statistics, makes this announcement. With record breaking crops of corn, spring wheat, oats, barley, rye and buckwheat, the year's harvests will be 20.3 per cent. greater in weight than last year's production, 6.1 per cent. greater than the big year of 1910 and 16.2 per cent. greater than that of 1909.

Prospects for the record-breaking potato crop indicate it will be 36 per cent. greater than last year, when the crop was very short, 14 per cent. greater than in 1910, and 2 per cent. greater than in 1909, when the previous record production was harvested. The hay yield is estimated at about 31 per cent. more than last year and 4 per cent. more than in 1910 and 1909.

August, like July, was decidedly favorable for crop development throughout the country, department of agriculture officials declare. They figure the composite condition of all crops on Sept. 1 as being about 16.5 per cent. better than at that time a year ago, and 4.1 per cent. better than the average condition on Sept. 1 in recent years.

DON'T KNOW THEY HAVE APPENDICITIS

Many Barre people who have chronic appendicitis, which is not very painful, have doctored for years for gas on the stomach, sour stomach or constipation. C. H. GIBSON READY FOR ARREST

Waits in Office While Warrant is Delayed

TO BE ACCUSED OF MURDER

He Maintains His Calm in Face of Developments--Accumulation of Evidence in the Strange Case Involving New York Man.

New York, Sept. 12.--The imminent prospect of arrest failed to deter Burton W. Gibson, the lawyer, who was with Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo when she met death in Greenwood lake, July 16, from the usual routine of his affairs yesterday.

Surrounded by a self-appointed bodyguard of reporters and detectives, he reached his office downtown at the customary time, went in and locked the door.

"I am here and I expect to be arrested," he told the reporters upon his arrival in New York.

"In fact, the detectives have told me I will be. I am waiting now and I am ready. I do not know anything about this story of Mrs. Szabo's death being due to strangulation except what I read in the newspapers."

When told that the autopsy on Mrs. Szabo's body which had been exhumed from a Jersey City cemetery at the behest of the Austrian consulate-general, disclosed that her wind pipe had been wrenched out of place, Gibson declined to add to his statement.

Detectives employed by the Austrian authorities formed a cordon around the lawyer's home in Rutherford, N. J., Tuesday night and guarded every exit from his office yesterday. They had instructions, they said, not to permit him to get out of sight.

The autopsy performed on the exhumed body of the Szabo woman showed that the windpipe was wrenched out of place and the superficial appearance of the internal organs was such as to cause the surgeons to retain them for both microscopic examination and chemical analysis.

The physicians who performed the autopsy, it was said, were agreed that Mrs. Szabo's larynx was found to be so crushed and forced up into her throat that it would have kept any water from entering her lungs, so that she must have died from strangulation and not drowning.

PRESIDENT TAFT WANTS PIE AND DOUGHNUTS

Therefore on Saturday He Will Journey to Milbury to Invade the Pantry of Aunt Delia.

Beverly, Sept. 12.--The appetizing apple pies and the rich brown doughnuts that Miss Delia Torrey used to make for nephew "Will" Taft are fragrant in the memory of the president, so on Saturday he will make a pilgrimage to Milbury, Mass., where Miss Torrey lives and where all such good things abound. The president is "Aunt Delia's" favorite nephew and he can always find a pantry stocked with the best, with many a tempting pie displayed. Mrs. Taft and probably the Taft boys will accompany the president on this visit. They will motor to Milbury by way of Worcester, leaving Beverly early Saturday afternoon. The return trip will be made Sunday. Many of President Taft's relatives are expected to shake his hand in Milbury Sunday, and Miss Torrey's house will be the headquarters of a small Taft reunion.

IMPROVE YOUR LEISURE TIME.

Everybody's Cyclopaedia Makes Advancement Possible For All Ambitious Persons.

There is always much talk of the "man higher up." In political parlance this is usually meant to indicate the head of a clique or ring, but there is always a "man higher up" in business and also sometimes this "man higher up" may be a woman, as in the case of a young woman not a thousand miles from this city who is the business manager of a large manufacturing concern.

Improved Leisure Time. In reply to a question this young woman said:

"I always wanted to be a business woman and lost no time in fitting myself for such a position. I improved my leisure time by reading and my ambitions were realized because of the knowledge thus acquired."

If you are ambitious to become the "man higher up" you should be the owner of Everybody's Cyclopaedia, which is now being presented by the Times. You can then improve your leisure hours in the perusal of any subject which is to your liking, whether it be science or art, manufacturing or agriculture, philosophy or literature, or the learning of a trade.

Crowded With Information. Thousands of subjects are contained in these big little sets relating to all arts, professions and trades. Think of the topic you are most interested in and then follow it up throughout every volume of this wonderful set and you will find that your leisure time is well occupied.

THE LAWYER'S EXORBITANT FEE

A Modern Shylock Beaten at His Own Game.

"Father, tell us a story about your law cases."

"Law cases are very uninteresting affairs. However, there is one case which I think may be interesting to you youngsters because it has a direct influence on your existence."

"One day after I had got fairly well started in my practice my office door opened and a Jew entered."

"I hold," said he, "a note for $200, secured by chattel mortgage on some furniture. The note is due, and I cannot collect the money. I wish you to foreclose the mortgage."

"I told him that I did not take such cases, but would find him a lawyer. Your Uncle Tom was then scraping along for a practice, and I intended to give the case to him. The Jew assented and agreed to call the next day."

"He had not been long gone when a lady was announced. She was shabbily dressed in mourning, but she interested me from the moment I looked at her. She was evidently in great trouble."

"Would you mind telling me," she said, "if Moses Well has been to you to get you to foreclose a chattel mortgage on my furniture?"

"A Jew has asked me to foreclose such a mortgage," I replied.

"Then I am going to ask you not to take the case. I am a widow in very straitened circumstances. I have been obliged to borrow money from the Jew. I can't pay the indebtedness, and if he takes my furniture I shall have to go to the poorhouse. I can't pay board, and the only way I can live is in a little cot. Thus far I have persuaded every lawyer the Jew has asked to take his case not to do so. I hope you, too, will refuse."

"I was surprised and distressed to see so refined a person thus reduced. I was about to promise her that I would not take the case against her when I thought that by doing so I might be of service to her. But I had no final plan and did not care to commit myself. I therefore told her that I would consider her request. She left me much disappointed."

"The next day when Well appeared I told him that I had reconsidered the matter and would oblige him. He was very much pleased--indeed, so much so that he said nothing about the expense attending the matter except the court fees, for which he made a deposit. He probably feared to antagonize me by mentioning my charge."

"I called upon the widow and told her frankly that her plan of persuading all the lawyers not to act in the matter was hopeless."

"You are the first lawyer," she said, "that has refused me. Tell me what your fee is to be from the Jew, and I will endeavor to raise the money and pay it to you to refuse the case."

"That would not be in accordance with the code among lawyers, certainly not my code."

"Is it their code to assist creditors to bring debtors to beggary? Indeed, I know that it is not, for several of your profession have refused to do so."

"This man Well," I said, attempting to give her reasons that should satisfy her, "is determined to sell you out. He will in the end find a lawyer to do his work. That you may not think me more sordid than I am, I will turn over my fee to you."

"My offer had no other effect than to irritate her, and I left her."

"When the papers in the case were ready I sent for my client and the widow to meet me at my office at the same day and hour. It was not a pleasant gathering. The lady cast a reproachful glance at me, then looked fixedly out of the window. The Jew looked meek."

"Mr. Well," I said at last, "these papers give you possession of this lady's household goods--that is, they give you possession when I turn them over to you on payment of my fee. This fee--I turned to the widow--I voluntarily agreed to turn over to you. Therefore, Mr. Well, you may as well pay the money direct to the lady."

"Certainly," said the Jew, pulling out his wallet. "How much is the amount?"

"Two hundred dollars."

"He looked at me aghast."

"I pay you everything?"

"It happens that my fee is the exact amount of the indebtedness."

"Suppose I don't pay it?"

"You will not get the papers, and I will collect my fee by law. You are perfectly good for the amount."

"Meanwhile a light began to break in upon the widow's brain. The Jew argued, threatened, pleaded, I was immovable. Finally I proposed to remit my fee on one condition--that he should renew the lady's note for two years at a moderate rate of interest. Then he left me alone with her."

"Pardon me," she said, with great feeling, "for misjudging you. Why did you not tell me what you were going to do?"

"Because I did not know myself till the last moment."

"I paused. I had finished my story. And who was the widow?" asked a chorus of voices.

"The widow was a lady to whom you are indebted for many kindnesses."

"Do tell us."

"Well, since you are so eager to know I don't mind telling you that she is your mother."

Women From Forty-Five to Fifty Are Much Benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The "change of life" is a most critical period in a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason.

When her system is in a deranged condition, she may be predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of some organ. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

These symptoms are calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance and the cry should be heeded in time.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is prepared to meet the needs of women's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

Mrs. Estella Gillispie

ONE CASE OUT OF MANY TO PROVE OUR CLAIMS.

St. Anne, Ill.--"I was passing through the change of life and I was a perfect wreck from female troubles. I had a displacement and bearing down pains, weak fainting spells, dizziness, then numb and cold feelings. Sometimes my feet and limbs were swollen. I was irregular and had so much backache and headache, was nervous, irritable and was despondent. Sometimes my appetite was good but more often it was not. My kidneys troubled me at times and I could walk only a short distance."

"I saw your advertisement in a paper and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I was helped from the first. At the end of two months the swelling had gone down, I was relieved of pain, and could walk with ease. I continued with the medicine and now I do almost all my housework. I know your medicine has saved me from the grave and I am willing for you to publish anything I write to you, for the good of others."--Mrs. ESTELLA GILLISPIE, R.F.D. No. 4, Box 34, St. Anne, Illinois.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE. Combination Butter Dish and Ornamental Mold.

An ingenious butter dish, which serves as a mold for the butter as well as in the capacity of a retainer, is being manufactured in France. The dish is made in two parts, the upper one telescoping into the lower. Butter is placed in the lower dish, and the upper, which is perforated, is placed over it, and when it is forced downward into the lower dish the butter is forced upward through the perforations in forms.

German Apple Cup.

Select fine grained apples, one for each service; core and pare, leaving on a section of the skin in the shape of a ring near one end of the apples. Cut heart stalks of celery very fine, but do not chop. Mix the celery with mayonnaise dressing, to which half the bulk of whipped cream has been added. Add also more salt and pepper. Use this mixture to fill the hollow centers of the apples, rounding it up above the apple a little. In the center of the mixture in each apple set a tiny heart leaf of lettuce. Place the apples on lettuce leaves and serve at once. The ring of apple skin gives a little color to the dish. The end of the apple on which it is left should be upward. If the apples must stand after paring rub over the exposed surfaces very lightly with the cut side of a lemon. This will prevent discoloration.

Cream Fish Chowder.

Put a fish weighing about three or four pounds into a wire basket. Set in the kettle with about three quarts of boiling water. Salt to taste. Cook about fifteen minutes, or until done without breaking. Have ready as many potatoes as you wish, with two onions, the onions cut very fine. Take out the basket, turn the fish out on a platter to cool and put potatoes and onions in the fish water. Cook until done. When done thicken. Pour into a tureen, with a tablespoonful of butter, one cupful of milk and a few crackers. Remove skin and bones from the fish, being careful not to break in small pieces. Put the pieces of fish in the tureen. The heat from the chowder will warm the fish enough.

To Restore Velvet.

Velvet when creased may be restored by steaming and pressing. Over steam place a damp muslin cloth. The creases are turned with the flat side up. Hold the velvet with both hands and draw it gently over the wet cloth, allowing the steam to pass through the velvet. As the muslin dries, put another wet portion over the iron and continue drawing the velvet over until all the pile is freshly raised. Do not touch the surface of the velvet until quite dry, when it should look like new.

To Cook Cabbage.

Have plenty of salted boiling water in which a teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved. Plunge the cabbage in, top downward, leave it uncovered and let it boil until tender. That will be from twenty minutes to half an hour. Take it out into a colander, drain well, put into a hot dish, add lots of butter, some salt and pepper and serve at once. It will be as delicate as cauliflower and the color be retained.

Pineapple Peel Juice.

Cut the peel of the pineapple into small pieces. Weigh and take same quantity of sugar. Make a sirup of one cupful of water to each pound of sugar, then add pineapple to sirup. Boil fifteen minutes, slow, steady boiling. Let stand overnight, then strain and squeeze in cheesecloth. Bottle and put on ice or in a cool place. This makes a fine pudding sauce and is delicious on boiled rice.

Sour Milk Biscuits.

Rub a spoonful of butter into one quart of flour, wet up with one quart of sour milk into which you have previously stirred one teaspoonful of saleratus which has been dissolved in a little hot water. Use as much more flour as you find necessary to make the dough stiff enough to roll out to one inch thick. Cut out as usual and bake in quick oven.

Duchess Potatoes.

To two cupfuls of potatoes add one teaspoonful of melted butter. Beat until light and smooth, then add six tablespoonfuls of milk or cream and the yolks of two eggs well beaten. When well mixed and seasoned with salt and pepper add the beaten whites. Fill hot gem pans and brown.

For Fishbone in Throat.

To remove a fishbone from the throat cut a lemon in halves and suck the juice slowly. This will dissolve the fishbone and give instant relief.

Fried Shrimps.

Rinse a can of shrimps in cold water; drain and let stand on ice one or more hours. Roll in powdered cracker crumbs, dip in beaten egg, roll again in cracker crumbs and fry in deep, hot fat. Drain on brown paper, dust lightly with salt and pepper. The shrimps may be dipped in beaten egg and fried in a spider if desired.

Fried Beets.

Wash the beets carefully, drop them in boiling water and cook until tender. Drain, cover with cold water, rub off the skins, cut in one-half inch slices, dredge with seasoned flour and fry on both sides in hot bacon or sausage fat.

Corn in Tomato Shells.

Sweet corn cut from the cob, seasoned with a chopped pepper, a little onion juice, a little salt and cream to moisten, mixed with the pulp taken from tomato shells, filled into the shells and baked, makes a delicious entree.

Green Pepper Salad.

For a tasty salad on a hot day mix a couple of green peppers, mix them with three tablespoonfuls of chopped chives and serve on white lettuce leaves with French dressing.
