Grannis, secretary-treasurer of the Lord's Day Alliance of the United States, to be given in the Congregational church on the evening of Sept. 18. No admission will be charged. Dr. Grannis is an able and forcible speaker. He has spoken in nearly every state in the union and through his efforts much has been done to make Sunday a day of rest, in fact as well as in name. He was one of the speakers before the national convention of postoffice clerks recently held in Boston, and being in this section of the country he is anxious to tell the people of Vermont the good work his society has been, and is doing, to gain the proper respect for the Lord's day. He will speak here under the auspices of no particular denomination but of all those who believe in his views which he is trying to make popular. Excursion to New York. See adv. on page 6.

HOW NATURE REPAYS.

The Loss of One Sense Seems to Bring Added Power to the Others.

When the third question put to the girl who was tinting a customer's hair a fashionable shade elicited no reply the woman turned to the manager of the beauty shop and said: "What is the matter with that girl, anyhow? Is she deaf?" "Very nearly," said the manager. "How does she hold her place?" said the woman. "It seems to me that a person employed in a place like this stands in need of her five senses." "That is just what they do not need," was the reply. "If one sense is lacking the other four make up for the deficiency and become the more valuable because more acute. Your hairdresser cannot hear, but her sight is marvelous. She can detect a gray hair half a block away, and her gift for shading and matching colors amounts to real genius. No woman with all her faculties is so consummate an artist as she is in touching up a difficult head of hair. When you are ready for massage I shall bring you a blind girl. All her art is centered in her finger tips. She can find and smooth away wrinkles that less sensitive fingers would not discover. Another deaf girl in the establishment is particularly sensitive to scents and is invaluable in mixing and applying perfumes. The manager in a place of this kind needs her five senses and as many more as nature can provide, but for her assistants elimination and concentration are desirable."—New York Press.

SWISS WRESTLERS.

Curious Contests In Which They Display Marvelous Strength.

Wrestling seems to be an international sport, but one of the most curious styles to be seen is probably that of the Swiss. There is generally an immense meeting of the wrestlers every year, called the "swingerfest," meaning literally the "festival of swinging," and to this festival come the mountain men from all parts of Switzerland. It takes place in an immense arena, generally four or six couples wrestling at the same time, with stands around for the audience. The men who are wrestling each wear a pair of short knickers, very loosely worn, and made of some stout material, with a leather belt at the top to strap it on round the waist, over their costume, and the idea is to catch their opponents by these knickers and throw them. Both shoulders must touch the ground, and the men are not allowed to hold their opponents except by the knickers. Of course it is mainly a question of brute strength, and on nearly all occasions the mountain men prove the better of the townsmen. Very often a man will throw his opponent clean over his shoulder through the air, and when one considers that this must be done only by gripping a piece of sailcloth or such like material in either hand, at the height of a man's loins, some idea can be gathered of the marvelous strength shown on these occasions.

Proposed by Accident.

Mr. Spooner, the clergyman who became famous for those humorous misplacements of initial consonants that have become known as "Spoonerisms," is said to have owed his marriage to a characteristic slip of the tongue. He was very shy and would never have had the courage to ask a woman to be his wife, but one afternoon in a friend's drawing room he was requested to ask one of the ladies present to make tea. In doing so he blundered as usual. "Will you take me?" he said, instead of "Will you make tea?" Blushing, the lady "took him," and thus he "blundered" into a happy marriage.

Lavassuer, the young left-hander, has attracted considerable attention and it is generally admitted that he will be seen in fast company before long. Admission, 25c; ladies, free. A large number of football candidates last night answered the call of Coach Kurtz at Goddard for practice. The team is without the services of Captain-elect Gilman and the new leader will not be picked for another week. The first game of the schedule has not yet been definitely arranged, but it is hoped that a date can be secured before the end of the month. Coach Kurtz will direct his main efforts to the development of a back-field, as that part was shattered by the loss of every man that played on last year's eleven. The work of forming a line is left with William Richardson temporarily. Richardson was one of the best football players ever at the seminary and had one year's experience at Tuft's college. He returns to resume his studies in about another week. Special convolve of St. Aldemar commandery, K. T., on Thursday evening at 7:30. Work, red cross degree.
