Presbyterians take notice! Having received the gift of a memorial organ, the Saint Paul's Episcopal church of Burlington offers the pipe organ they have been using to the Presbyterians of this city for $500. This organ is one of the best makes and cost the Burlington people $4,300. As others are after this great organ, and the Presbyterians of this city have the first chance to purchase it, it is necessary that they take action at once. Let all those who would like to see this instrument come to Barre meet in the Presbyterian vestry on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock and talk over the matter. Is not this a splendid opportunity for someone to present to the Presbyterians of this city a dignified and lasting memorial in honor of a departed loved one?

BARRE WIRELESS SYSTEM.

Several Stations Set Up in Various Sections.

Gospel village is to receive and transmit messages by electric induction. To the three wireless stations already established in different sections of the city, it is to be added an equipment installed lately by George F. Ball, a railway postal clerk running between Boston and St. Albans.

At his home, 105 Hill street, W. H. Bishop and a gang of electricians Saturday completed the location of two galvanized iron standards on the roof of Mr. Ball's home. Mr. Bishop and his men had already installed the standards for stations on Spaulding street hill and in Portland, Me. and Stamford, Conn.

With Mr. Ball is associated his young nephew, Alden Ball, aged 14, to whose ingenuity is due much of the credit for the success of the plan. In young Ball's brain first appeared the germ of the wireless idea and with the aid of his father the idea has been worked out. The boy has constructed all of the station apparatus, while his father has been engaged in perfecting the aerial. The lad worked out his plan from approved specifications and has evolved the mechanical part of the scheme completely on his own resources. Within a few days the station will be already for its salutary message. Sentences will be exchanged with other stations in Barre for a test and later it is expected that communication may be made with Cape Cod and other wireless stations.
