Robert D. Carpenter, a pipeman employed at the fire station, went this morning to Robinson, where he will pass Thanksgiving with his mother. His place at the station is being filled by G. A. Knapp.

C. Colombo, who came to Barre from Northfield yesterday to attend the wedding of his niece, Miss Lena Abbiatti, to Felice Marchesi, is passing a few days in the city as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. Abbiatti.

Order ice cream or frozen pudding early, also get all the milk and cream you wish, as we close at noon Thursday for the remainder of the day. Limited supply of strictly fresh eggs on hand. L. R. Dodge.

C. Rollins Smith of St. Albans, a locomotive engineer, yesterday filed a petition in bankruptcy with Clerk F. S. Platt of the United States court. His liabilities are $394.20 and his assets are given as $238.35 with $250 claimed exempt.

Harris' orchestra went this afternoon to Roxbury to furnish music for a Thanksgiving dance this evening. Tomorrow the same musicians will play for a dance to be given in Waterbury under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias.

Elder Frederick Stray, a Seventh Day Advent preacher, who has been conducting services in the Worthen block hall for several weeks, has discontinued the series for a fortnight. He is attending a conference of the denomination in New Hampshire this week.

To-night being the eve of Thanksgiving, all union stores will remain open until 9 o'clock. Tonsorial parlors affiliated with the barbers' association will be open to-night until 10 o'clock. Both barber shops and union stores will be closed all day to-morrow.

In the Church street gymnasium last night the D. C. V. team of the North Barre Methodist mission defeated the Mud Scratchers at basketball by a 7 to 6 score. Three of the D. C. V. baskets were shot by Kio Grana. The two teams will come together again next week.

Cadet W. H. Munsell of Wells River, A. L. Bayles of Taunton, Mass., W. F. Gillilan of Barre and C. L. Stevens of East Hardwick rode to Barre from Northfield last night and visited friends in the city to-day. All of the men were mounted and the return to the university was made this afternoon.

Among the college students home for the Thanksgiving vacation are: Earl C. Williams, Harold Morse, Alex. Brown, James M. Langley, Howard Miles and Sprague Drennan from Dartmouth college, Hanover, N. H.; William T. Maiden, Albert Marr and Louis Tomasi from the University of Vermont, Burlington; and Stanton Burgess and A. Aulay Ogston from Norwich university, Northfield.

The guest list at the City hotel yesterday and to-day contained the following entries, among others: H. M. Spaulding, St. Johnsbury; L. E. Butler, St. Johnsbury; H. S. Stafford, Orleans; F. H. Hayes, Burlington; F. L. Follansby, Guildhall; H. E. Knaught, Palmer, Mass.; G. H. Gebe, Boston; R. W. McGarry, New York City; B. F. Shaw, Roxbury; W. J. Newcomb, Springfield, Mass.; J. J. Gallagher, Readville, Mass.; S. E. Pearsons, Burlington; four cadets, Norwich university; C. S. Russell, Sunapee, N. H.; B. E. Beauregard, Springfield.

Breach of peace cases against Pompio Galli and Charles Maffini in city court yesterday were continued until Friday morning for sentence, both respondents having pleaded guilty. Charged with being implicated in an altercation on Center street in which Galli and Maffini were alleged to have figured, Luigi Brovalli of 15 Center street was arrested yesterday by Officer John Dineen. Brovalli furnished a physician's certificate saying that he was too ill to attend court and the case against him was continued until Friday.

Parcel post and the annual Christmas combination will be a new combination this year and how the two will size up together is more or less conjectural. The postoffice department is confident that the handling of the holiday mail this year will be greatly facilitated by the parcel post. The public will appreciate the new branch of the mail service more than ever before. In the local postoffice, as well as elsewhere, the government has caused to be posted in conspicuous places, placards urging patrons to mail their Christmas packages early, wrap them securely and address them plainly. A footnote adds that the words, "Not to be opened until Christmas," are perfectly permissible on the wrappers. Parcel post business at the Barre postoffice is now handled more adequately with the aid of a team.

Leland H. Jeland, a student at Goddard seminary, left this forenoon for his home in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where he will pass the Thanksgiving recess. He was accompanied by Charles H. Dickinson, a student who has been attending Goddard for the past year. Mr. Dickinson will not return to the seminary for the winter term.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Miss Mildred Rooney of Summer street returned to-day from Rutland, where she has been spending a few days with friends.

Keep in mind the venison supper, which the Baptist ladies' aid society will serve in the dining room at the Baptist church Tuesday evening, Dec. 2.

Harold Adams, a student at the University of Vermont, was a visitor in the city to-day, returning to his home at South Barre to spend the Thanksgiving recess.

Among the transactions in the city yesterday was the sale of 35 shares of People's National bank stock for $114 a share, the sale being made to one of the directors.

The management of the Goddard seminary basketball team changed the date of their opening basketball game. The game against Norwich Independents was scheduled for to-morrow night, but a short time ago the game was deferred until Saturday, Nov. 29.

Misses Clair and Kathleen Miles, who attend school at St. Mary's academy, Burlington, arrived in the city to-day to pass a week at their home on West street. Misses Pauline Canning and Dorothy Donahue, also students at St. Mary's, will pass Thanksgiving as their guests.

The two children who were taken to the house of George Morehouse on the East Montpelier road, Monday, after they apparently had wandered from home, were claimed by a Second street man, whose home is about two miles from the Morehouse residence. To-day a Waitsfield woman called up the office of a local attorney, saying that she had read the descriptions of the children in the Times and thought they fitted quite accurately the descriptions of her own children who had not been staying with her part of the household for some time. The woman was anxious to get her children back.

A union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Presbyterian church to-night at 7:30. Rev. E. F. Newell of the Methodist church will preach the sermon. The Presbyterian choir will furnish the music. Last year for the first time the union Thanksgiving service was held Wednesday evening, instead of Thursday morning as of old. The response of the people was so enthusiastic and the attendance was so good that the Barre Ministers' union voted to hold the service the same way this year. Therefore this service is to-night, instead of to-morrow morning.

Alexander Wilson is at the City hospital recovering slowly from the effects of a painful accident which he sustained while employed at the Martinson estate plant on Ayer street Saturday. Mr. Wilson is a stonecutter, and while he was trying to adjust the position of a stone, it fell over and struck him on the right leg. Dr. V. C. Goodrich, who was immediately summoned, treated the man for a fracture of the right ankle and a deep gash above the knee. The ankle bone protruded through the skin, a severe was the fracture, and because of the man's condition it was deemed advisable to remove him to the hospital, where the fracture was reduced. Wilson is a married man and has apartments at the Northern hotel. It will be several weeks before he is able to resume work.

A large assembly of Redmen from East Barre, Montpelier and this city came together in the lodge of Iroquois tribe, No. 16, I. O. R. M., last evening for a supper of corn and venison. Red Men from Wachuset tribe, East Barre, and Sioux tribe, Montpelier, were guests of the local Indians. A well prepared supper of venison, corn and fixins was served at 7:30 o'clock and in the course of a social hour which followed several of the visitors as well as members of the entertaining tribe contributed to a program of song. Among those who gave vocal solos were Thomas McDonald, Arthur Pirie, John Milne, William Innes, Alfred Milne, William Wallace and Peter Brown of the Iroquois, James Jerome of the Sioux tribe and W. J. Bisson of the East Barre Red Men. E. C. Barrett of the Montpelier lodge gave an interesting five-minute speech. The gathering of the tribes was the occasion for renewing a debate as to whether the Sioux, the Wachuset and the Iroquois should come together for an evening this winter. Last year a joint meeting was held and several of the prominent Red Men of Vermont were present. It is likely that a gathering of the same kind will be held in January.
