CALLS ON IRISH TO RULE STATE

Ex-Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston Said It Was Massachusetts' Hope

TO RECEIVE IMPETUS FROM IRISH ENERGY

Declared Others Have Neglected to Boom Boston as They Should

Boston, Oct. 21.—"It is you and you only who can make this a better, bigger and busier Boston," said former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald in addressing members of the charitable Irish society. He declared the hope of Boston lies in the Irish Catholics of this city. The former mayor explained that the majority of the people in Massachusetts are Irish or of Irish descent and that they should control the affairs not only of Boston but of the state.

He advised members of the organization to train their children so that they would be fitted to rule. "Develop your children and bring the best there is out of them," he said. "It is up to the Irish Catholics in Massachusetts and the city of Boston to arouse this city to her opportunities. Others have neglected this chance. Come into your own, for it belongs to you. It is you and you only who can make Boston one of the great cities of the world. It is you whom I look for the further and proper development of Boston, which I love so much." "Must Assert Ourselves."

He said the affairs of the state should be managed in harmony with the ideals of the Irish race because of the fact that the majority of the population are Irish Catholics. "We Irish Catholics must assert ourselves," he insisted. The former mayor declared that through the activities of such men as Gov. Walsh and Cardinal O'Connell the atmosphere of prejudice against the Irish has been partly swept away. But he said that some of this prejudice remains. He asserted the Protestants of Massachusetts have had the superiority of the Irish forced upon their attention through the work of the cardinal and Gov. Walsh and other leaders of the race.

Mr. Fitzgerald said there should be more Irish Catholic judges and teachers in the state. He declared the race should be recognized to a greater extent. "If it was there would be more activity in all lines of business," he continued. "There would be more progress and more justice." Practically all the reforms in the state in the last few years were attributed by the mayor to the rise and delayed recognition of Irish Catholics.

He exhorted the members of the Irish Catholic race to awaken to the opportunities that were within their reach. He warned them business was slipping through their fingers into the hands of foreigners. This should not be so, according to the ex-mayor. The young men of the Irish Catholic element should check this tide and take hold of the city's and commonwealth's business themselves, he declared.

"I went to Congress and fought there in the interests of the Irish," said the former mayor. "Then, when I became mayor, I showed this great city of Boston was a big loser by not making use of the Irish Catholic vigor, enterprise and ingenuity." "Before the Irish began to assert themselves Boston and New England were cold, over-conservative and stagnant," declared Mr. Fitzgerald. "Boston was behind the times until we took hold," he added. "It was backward and needed new life. The city is only now emerging from the stupor that opposed to us kept it in. The Irish Catholics instituted everything in Boston that is progressive; the port board, commercial schools, etc."

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"Way Down East" at Barre Opera House Thursday.

Always refreshing, ever invigorating, never wearisome, because it appeals to the best that is in the human breast, "Way Down East" will last as long as an audience will respond to the pathetic, to the humorous, to the quaint and to the paternal instinct. Lottie Blair Parker's famous play comes to the opera house Thursday, Oct. 22, matinee and night.

Of this delightful New England idyll nothing new can be written. It has no peer among American domestic dramas. It stands for what is good and wholesome, true and honest in rural New England, and is bound to have perennial youth, because it tells a true story of the human heart. Season after season it has been welcomed, and the present is no exception and the wonderful business everywhere leaves no doubt of the pleasure felt at the return of this old friend of 20 years' standing. This season a special new production, as faithful as a loyalty and art could make it, has been provided. The cast is one of exceptional merit, headed by Dr. William Lawrence, for 10 years past starring in Denman Thompson's "The Old Homestead."

The musical features are the same as of old and are as heretofore one of the special delights of the performance. Prices always 25c to $1. A bargain matinee is announced at 25c and 50c.—Adv.

WILLIAM LAWRENCE In "Way Down East," Opera House, Thursday, October 22

Edith Thayer next Monday. Underlaid and unheard of, coming from the unknown, she flashed upon the theatrical firmament last season as a bright ray of sunshine. She charmed and captivated all who came to hear her sing. She is an elf, a sprite, a joyous nymph, an incarnation of mischief, but she possesses a voice, clear, sweet soprano, and it rings true in her vocal recitation. Rudolf Friml, who composed the music, is said to have turned out the most popular and charming string of songs for this opera that will be heard locally in many a day.—Adv.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-Time Recipe That Anybody Can Apply. The use of sage and sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. But having at home a handy and out of date Newbury, he asking at any drug store for a liberal bottle of "Wynn's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, scaly, itching scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says: "I do not think the hair so naturally and surely that nobody ever felt it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking care that it is done. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.—Adv.

MONTEPELIER

Fire Damaged Scribner Property to Extent of $1,500. Fire gutted the Polly Scribner house on Main street early yesterday afternoon, with a loss of about $1,500, which is partly covered by insurance. It is supposed the blaze was started by children, as a number of them were noticed playing about the property a short time before. There was much excitement for a while, as the last time Mrs. I. Stekolnick noticed her young son he was near the Scribner house. Not being able to find him at the time of the fire, she became much alarmed, thinking him to be in the ruins. Searchers investigated carefully until it occurred to someone that he had not been looked for at home, and a search there revealed the three-and-one-half-year-old youngster hiding under the sideboard. The Scribner house was owned by George Scribner of Burlington. One of the tenants, Mrs. Hannah Broadwell, moved out of the house Saturday and left for Plattsburg, N. Y., while the other tenant, Roy Wiggins, works on his father's farm in Worcester. His goods were insured for $300. It was an hour from the time the alarm was rung in at 12:25 until the all-out was sounded.
