Emma F. Clough returned yesterday to her home in Marshfield, after having made an extended visit with relatives in Barre and vicinity.

Mrs. Susan M. Chandler and Miss Harriet Chandler left last night for Jersey City, where they expect to visit friends for the remainder of the winter.
Mrs. W. D. Morrison left this morning for her home in lower Waterford, after staying with her mother, Mrs. James Harvey, on the East Montpelier road, who has been quite sick, but is now recovering.

Ex-Governor J. Frank Hanly, who is touring New England with the Flying Squadron of America, left last night at 9:30 o'clock for Boston, after having delivered an address in the Hedding Methodist church.
Miss Anna R. Robertson of Currier street returned last night from Boston, where she has been spending several days with her sister. Miss Robertson resumed her duties in the office of Water Superintendent H. E. Reynolds this morning.

Not in several winters has there been such a constant demand for free lodging at police headquarters and scarcely a night passes without one or more unfortunate applicants for accommodations.

Yesterday a man who has traveled shank's mare all the way from Conway, N. H., to this city, asked the police for shelter. Thrown out of work in the lumber woods of New Hampshire, the man said his thoughts turned to Barre, where he was employed until 14 years ago and where he formerly belonged to the state militia. Every inch of the distance, he claims, he covered on foot, inquiring at nearly every farmhouse for work. He said that the country highways are frequented by many "trampers," all of whom seem anxious to secure work of any kind.

Joseph Blair and son of Chazy, N. Y., arrived in the city late yesterday from Stowe, where they have been visiting since coming to Vermont last week from their home in Chazy, N. Y. Father and son made several inquiries as to the whereabouts of William Charbonneau, as their visit in Barre was to be made with him. The elder Blair, who lacks but a few months of his 80th birthday, confided his desire to George Leclair, who volunteered to guide the old gentleman to the home of Moses Charbonneau on Presidential hill. The Madison avenue man could claim no kin with the Charbonneau sought by Mr. Blair and the latter was about to give up his search in despair when someone directed him to police headquarters. There the officers were able finally to locate William Charbonneau, who lives near lower Webster-ville.

A threatening chimney fire broke out at the home of Richard A. Hoar of 31 East street last night around supper time and before the danger of a bad blaze had entirely vanished the fire station was notified and Chief Gladding ordered out the auto truck. Sparks were rolling out of the chimney in columns when the fire men arrived and the roof around the chimney was getting uncomfortably warm, according to the regulars. Neighbors were advising the occupants of the house to prepare for serious results when the firemen scaled the roof and began soaking the shingles with chemical solution. From within, a successful effort to extinguish the fire was made and in a short time the danger had been removed. Smoke did a little damage to the interior of the dwelling. The firemen returned to the station shortly after 6 o'clock.
It was definitely announced today that the series of basketball games between Spaulding and Goddard, which was projected for February and March, will not be played this winter. Fans who have been setting a store by this "classie" in Vermont preparatory school circles will regret that the management of the Spaulding side was unable to come together. A faculty member at Goddard seminary, in explaining the situation, declares that Goddard is willing to meet the high school if satisfactory arrangements for a referee can be made. According to the spokesman for Goddard, the seminary players object to playing under the rulings of the referee chosen by Spaulding for the first game. A vote on the question was taken as soon as the players returned from their trip last week and there appeared to be a unanimous opinion that the seminary should not play unless Spaulding promised to change the referee.

EAST BARRE.

A very pleasant gathering was held in opera house hall last Friday evening in honor of the 18th birthday anniversary of Miss Florence Carter. Friends were present from Barre, Grantville and Webster-ville. Music was furnished by Barre's orchestra. During the evening an intermission was called, at which time Miss Carter was presented a purse of money as a token of the esteem of her many friends. Refreshments of punch and waters were served. The company dispersed about 2 o'clock in the morning, having enjoyed a pleasant evening and wishing Miss Florence many returns of her birthday. The messengers of the women were Mrs. F. F. Furrer, Webster and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Whitcomb.
Little Jack Osborne is ill with pneumonia. Miss Sutherland, a trained nurse, is caring for him.
The ladies of the women's auxiliary, captained by Mrs. J. A. Fitzhugh, will serve a beautiful supper in 904 Fellow's hall Friday evening.
The Sunday night train running to East Barre and Grantville will reverse the trip on Saturday, Feb. 12, going to Grantville first and then from there to East Barre. This is done to accommodate persons wishing to attend the ocean at East Barre.
