

STIRRING THE SENATE

Changes in Rules Are Desired by the Administration

TEST VOTE SOON AFTER REASSEMBLING

Following This There Will Be a Cloture Program

Washington, Oct. 12.—The campaign to limit debate in the United States Senate will be pressed from the moment of the reassembling of that body at noon Monday, Dec. 6, 1915. Indeed, a test vote on a motion relative to the rules may be the first vote taken in the session. The advocates of cloture have decided to maintain that the incoming Senate will be without rules until rules are adopted, and upon this theory a motion to proceed under the old rules will be resisted by the administration leaders, who will have prepared a set of rules, including one to limit debate, for adoption. If enough votes to reject the old rules can be mustered, of course the senators favoring cloture will feel warranted in going ahead with their programme and will make cloture the immediate issue.

The theory here outlined is the direct opposite of the practice which has governed the Senate, for the upper branch of Congress always has been regarded as a continuing body, whose sessions are interrupted only in practice and not in theory when one Congress succeeds another. This view has back of it the fact that two-thirds of the Senate always holds over and that only one-third is elected every two years. Rules once adopted hold over exactly as do committee assignments and chairmanships, and if by any stretch of ingenuity or autocratic power on the part of the presiding officer it could be decreed that the rules had elapsed, so also, it would seem, would the organization of the Senate. Elder senators no doubt will regard as highly fanciful this desperate plan to end the system whereby unanimous consent must be obtained before the Senate can take a vote on anything; nevertheless such a plan is in process of incubation and its champions are ready to start up a fight on the opening day.

A movement also may be undertaken to substitute some other senator, perhaps Martin of Virginia, for John W. Kern of Indiana, as chairman of the Democratic caucus. Mr. Kern's success as the so-called leader of the Senate has not been altogether brilliant, although he commands the personal regard of all of his associates. The Democrats are plainly dissatisfied with their Senate organization, but it is both a difficult and delicate task to change it. The older men are more especially disgruntled over general conditions, for many of the most important measures considered by Congress in the last two years have been sent up by the president without any advance consultation with them, while they have been called upon often to vote against the sentiment of their own states in support of some presidential favorite. Party obligation, however, has proved to be a very useful instrument in the hands of President Wilson and he has used it unsparringly to promote his measures. The president is understood to be favorable to a limitation of debate in the Senate primarily in the interest of the shipping bill, but on general principles also to facilitate the enactment of administration bills. The western trip of Secretary McAdoo is said to be planned primarily for the purpose of investigating problems relative to public hearings, but he will open his tour in Indianapolis this week with a speech discussing the foreign shipping question, and it is understood that this will be the chief subject of his address wherever he goes.

A FRIEND TO THE WORKINGMAN

Five years ago I was so troubled with kidney trouble and inflammation of the bladder that I had to leave working my farm. Life looked dark to me until I heard of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root through a cured friend. I tried a bottle and began to feel better at once. After using five or six bottles, I felt fine and have continued to work as I had before my affliction.

I want to state that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is a kidney medicine that will cure, and I owe my good work during the past five or six years to it.

GOLF TOURNAMENT.

Exciting Contests Ended at Barre Golf Club.

The weekly tournament started May 5 and was brought to a close at the Barre Golf club's links on Saturday, Oct. 9. The members took far more interest in this tournament this season, especially the players with the larger handicaps, as they were placed in a class by themselves called Class B. This is the first year that the above tournament has been divided, and it has proved one big success. For the last week of the tournament there were only 10 score cards turned in, but the reason for so few having played was because the winner in Class A was decided, as the first points taken by James Freeland the week before gave him five points of a lead. However, in Class B things were different, as there were four players who had a chance to win out, and a tie was fully expected. However, George Murray had two points of a lead, but had it not been that one player who was not in the running came in with the lowest net score, then D. J. McMillan and J. C. Robertson would have tied up Murray, as he failed to come in with his net score.

Below are the last results of the weekly tournament:

Class A	Gross	Hdp.	Net
P. Brown	82	9	73
J. Daniels	78	4	74
J. Freeland	79	5	74
L. R. Hutchinson	82	5	77
H. Brown	89	8	81
Class B
Gross	Hdp.	Net
W. Mathison	95	20	75
D. J. McMillan	87	11	76
J. C. Robertson	89	11	78
J. Conolly	91	12	79
G. Murray	95	10	85

LEONARD ALSO A STAR

Pitched Boston Red Sox to 2 to 1 Victory over Phillies

ALEXANDER "GAME" TO THE VERY LAST

Speaker, Lewis and Hooper the Only Bostonians to Solve His Delivery

Boston, Oct. 12.—Faultless pitching by Leonard and heavy hitting by Speaker and Lewis enabled the Boston Red Sox to score their second victory of the series with the Philadelphia Nationals in the third game, played before 42,300 people on the Braves' baseball grounds yesterday afternoon. The score was 2 to 1. Leonard allowed but three hits, issued no passes and struck out six men. Opposed to him was Alexander, the great hurler of the Nationals, who had pitched a winning game at Philadelphia last Friday. This time the Red Sox gathered fewer hits, only three Boston players being able to hit safely, they being Speaker, Lewis and Hooper.

Philadelphia's only score came in the third inning. Burns singled and when Alexander tried to sacrifice, Hoblitzel dropped Gardner's throw and both runners were safe. Stock sent the runners covering first. Barrett then sent a single through the box to center field, scoring Burns and putting Alexander on the bench. Barry then made a sensational catch of Paskert's fly in short center and Lewis did the same with Cravath's long drive. Philadelphia was retired in order for the remainder of the game.

The break came in the ninth. Hooper, first up, singled to right. Scott sent the runner along with sacrifice. Speaker was passed deliberately by Alexander. On Hoblitzel's out, Hooper went to third. Lewis then singled to center and Hooper came in with the winning tally, two men being out. The score:

RUSSIA HAS MEN; NEEDS AMMUNITION

Japan Sees Chance to Help Allies, Which is Denied by Failure to Ask for Japanese Troops.

Tokio, Japan, Oct. 9.—Munitions—not men for Russia—that is the great need of the entente allies to-day, say Japanese officials. The authorities have repeatedly denied reports that Russia has asked for troops and that Japan will send troops. They are concentrating their efforts on the big problem of increasing the output of munitions for Russia.

The decision to enlarge government arsenals and even establish special factories pleases the military circles of Japan who see in this an opportunity not only to help Russia and hasten the end of the war but to create the means of increasing their own permanent production. It signifies military expansion without the necessity of a home campaign. Now that arsenals are to be placed on a war footing the enlargements will remain for future use and thus the actual expansion of military equipment will have been effected without attracting the notice of the public.
