DAY—WARREN.

Wedding Took Place at Woodstock Last Evening.

Woodstock, Nov. 4.—A pretty wedding at the home of George H. Day on High street in this place was solemnized when Miss Maude Louise Warren, formerly of Burlington, was married to C. G. Day of Woodstock at 8 o'clock last evening by Rev. H. L. Canfield. The ceremony was performed under an arch of ferns, from which was suspended a four-leaf clover in white carnations. The best man was Arthur E. Warren of Boston, brother of the bride. The bride wore white silk crepe de chine and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. Miss Amy De Lance of Canton, N. Y., maid of honor, was gowned in white silk chiffon over pink messaline and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The Misses Lula Eggleston and Leona Trudo were ushers. The dining room was decorated with barberries and ferns. The reception hall was decorated with palms. After the ceremony an informal reception was held. There were many beautiful presents. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a mahogany linen chest of his own make. After the ceremony the couple started for a wedding trip to Montreal and will come leisurely back through different parts of Vermont and will be at home on High street in Woodstock after January 1.

Who Has the 100 Per Cent Baby?

We are sure Barre has a perfect baby and we should like to know who owns him. The doctors who will examine the children at the better babies' contest to be held Nov. 9 and 10, under the auspices of the Barre Women's club, will keep their eagle eyes open for him. Every mother will wait breathlessly for the verdict of the scoring committee.
 Big blue eyes and glossy golden curls will not conquer the hearts of the doctors; only firm muscles, clear, alert eyes, and a willingness to do what they are told will help the small competitors. Prize winners will be determined by a scientific grading showing physical and mental development. A bronze medal and diploma presented by the Woman's Home Companion will be given prize winning babies.
 Just what constitutes a perfect baby is a question well worth considering. For instance—just how tall should a perfect child of two years be? How much should he weigh? What should be the size of his head? What is a reasonable test of his normal mental development? These are questions every mother should be glad to have answered; and it is worth a great deal too to have a little imperfection pointed out so that if it can be remedied it may be looked after. Competent physicians will be in charge of each test and examination, and they will be glad to answer any question which the mother may ask. The contest will open at 9:30 a. m. and 2 p. m. Nov. 9 and 10 at Howland hall.
 Here is an unusual opportunity to secure a thorough examination of your baby free of charge.
 If you have a 100 per cent baby Barre ought to know about it. If your baby has defects which cause him to be scored low, you ought to know about it so that you can remedy them and ultimately have a perfect baby.
 A committee will meet the mothers and their babies at the school commissioners' room, city hall, Saturday afternoon from 2 until 5, that the babies may be properly enrolled for the better babies' contest.

SUCCESSFUL FAIR ENDED.

Ladies of Hedding Church Feel Well Repaid For Efforts.

The two-day fair at the Hedding Methodist church came to a very fitting close last evening with a chicken supper that was served between the hours of 5 and 7. The table made an attractive appearance. A force of about 15 young ladies of the church were hurrying here and there as soon as 5 o'clock came for nearly all the tables, which accommodated 140 at a time, were filled at that time. In all nearly 300 people were served to satisfaction at the supper. Among those who were present were 32 clerks and friends, of the A. P. Abbott store, who attended in a body under the invitation of Mr. Abbott.

No program was arranged for yesterday but during the afternoon the ladies spent their time in viewing and purchasing articles on sale. All of the 26 booths with as many different kinds of articles, had excellent fortune in getting rid of their things, with capable salesladies behind them. What few articles were left will be kept for another sale the ladies and pastor's union is preparing for December. Only a few of the perishable things, as vegetables and foods, were put up at auction, with Mr. Andrews as auctioneer. Under the hammer these brought about as much as at first marked, so the ladies lost little there.

No small credit is due to Mrs. Eugene Glysson, president of the union, and Mrs. Charles Clough, chairman of the executive committee for their planning and overseeing the work of such a fair, assisted by the others. Those attending the affair have nothing but words of praise to offer to the ladies for their great success.

What exactly will be realized out of the two days of work cannot yet be ascertained, but it will be no mean sum. The supper alone of last night, being so well attended, will bring in a large amount and the admission fee of Tuesday night will also add to the proceeds from the sale.
