PRIZES FOR GROWING PIGS

Chance For Vermont Boys and Girls To Win $100. This Season.

The Vermont State Bankers association has made available through the Vermont Agricultural Extension service, $100 in cash prizes for meritorious effort in a pig club.

Any boy or girl in the state, 10 to 18 years inclusive, is eligible to enter the contest. Enrollments must be made not later than April 25. The contest will begin May 1 and close August 31. (Local contests may be continued until Dec. 1, so as to get benefit of fall feeding, local exhibits, etc.) Each member must secure at the opening of contest, at least one pig from 4 to 12 weeks old, and care for same in person, and must keep a careful record of his work throughout the contest.

The work will be graded and the prizes awarded on a four-point basis: Rate of gain, 20%; cost of gain, 40%; quality of pig, 20%; record and story, 20%.

The prizes will be (a) In each county a first prize $2.00, a second prize $2.00, a third prize $1.00; (b) In the state a sweep-stakes prize—state champion, $10.00, a second best state prize $5, a third best state prize $1.00.

The extension service will furnish further details to each member on enrollment, blanks for records and reports, seasonal helps and other follow-up instructions from time to time during the contest.

Send enrollment at once and address all correspondence to E. L. Ingalls, Agricultural Extension Service, Burlington, Vermont.

Paper going higher; order now!

Work For the Soldiers.

During April every Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock all women interested to work for the soldiers in hospitals across the sea, will meet at the Methodist church.

Last Tuesday 115 were present. A box containing 200 surgical dressings, knit stockings and bandages was sent to Springfield, Mass., from which point they were shipped directly to European hospitals.

The Transportation of Coal in the Winter Has Become a Big Problem

So much so that hundreds of people who have never done so before, will put their coal in during the spring and summer months this year. Not much change in price this year probably.

Changes At Fairbanks Factory

Fairbanks, Morse & Co. Have Taken the Stock of E. & T. Fairbanks & Co.—Five New Directors Chosen—C. H. Morse, Jr. Made Vice President, Fred C. Beck Treasurer, A. E. Ashcroft Superintendent, J. H. A. Bousfield Engineer and C. B. Rathburn Factory Accountant—P. F. Hazen Has Resigned.

On April 1st, 1916, representatives of Fairbanks, Morse & Co., of Chicago made the exchange with the officers of the First National Bank of certificates of the stock of E. and T. Fairbanks and Company for those of Fairbanks, Morse & Co., according to the terms of the offer sent to the stockholders January 27th, 1916.

This transaction is remarkable in several ways, but in no particular more than that all holders of the stock save 15 shares have either deposited or forwarded for deposit their stock. These 15 shares are owned by seven stockholders out of about 600 in all. The practically unanimous consent can be considered unusual in that only six weeks brought about the result above stated. It is also remarkable in that it apparently shows confidence that the business integrity and honor of Fairbanks, Morse & Co., can be trusted to work out successfully, with justice to stockholder and employee alike, the problems that confront the management of any large enterprise.

A meeting for the election of new directors was held on Saturday, April 1st. The following directors resigned and their resignations were accepted: Gov. Henry C. Ide, Joseph Fairbanks, A. H. McLeod, Charles A. B. Pratt and C. L. Harpham.

The vacancies occasioned by these resignations were filled by the election of the following to serve as directors: C. H. Morse, Jr., W. E. Miller, H. J. Fuller, Thomas McMillan and W. S. Hovey.

Who The New Men Are.

C. H. Morse, Jr., a son of C. H. Morse, the founder of the house of Fairbanks, Morse & Co., is now president of that company, and was also elected last Saturday as vice-president of E. and T. Fairbanks and Co. Mr. Morse, like the father he resembles in many ways, is a man of few words, but making every one count, and is primarily a man of action, force and ability. He is greatly interested to see the St. Johnsbury factory prosper and the scale output largely increased.

Mr. Miller is first vice-president of Fairbanks, Morse & Co. He has been long identified with the Chicago house as manager. By wise planning, enthusiastic working and sound business judgment, he has accomplished much for the business he has devotedly developed.

Mr. Fuller, a son of a former principal of our Academy, Homer T. Fuller, needs no introduction to the people of St. Johnsbury. He gained his first business training in the scale factory. His rapid rise to positions of great importance is a tribute to his keen insight and grasp of difficult

NOTRE DAME HOUSE

Fine Residence To Be Built On Site of Present House—Contractor Has Begun Work

The contract for reconstructing the parochial residence of Notre Dame church has been awarded and workmen are now dismantling the old structure. In its place will be erected one of the most beautiful residences in St. Johnsbury and one which will be both an ornament and a credit to the village. Rev. E. C. Drouhin, the rector, is enthusiastic over the plans for the new house and is entering into the work with much spirit.

The architect's plans call for a main building of 37 by 43 feet dimensions, and an ell 30 by 45. French Gothic designs will be followed throughout to harmonize with the church building. Among other features a cloister on the east front and the Gothic arches of the front porch and windows will bring out the fact that it is an ecclesiastical structure. The exterior will be of red brick and white cement mortar with trimmings of artificial stone.

A Conservatory

The front porch will open into a conservatory on the right and this in turn into the cloister which takes the place of the more common piazza or veranda. This conservatory will be 25x10 feet and the cloister 20x10 feet.

CROSSING ACCIDENT

Peter McDuff's Horse Killed At St. Johnsbury Center And He Somewhat Injured Yesterday.

Peter McDuff who lives about three miles above St. Johnsbury, Center had his horse struck by a freight train and killed, his carriage badly damaged and himself somewhat injured at the crossing by the depot at Centerville early yesterday morning. The train was a south-bound freight and the noise of the brook beside the road down which Mr. McDuff was approaching the crossing prevented him from hearing the train and he did not see it until his horse was on the track. The engine struck the horse in the shoulder crushing it. The carriage was considerably smashed and Mr. McDuff thrown out. He struck on his back on a rail on the side track. He also complained of injury to his arm. After the wreckage was removed from the highway he walked about a quarter of a mile to the house of Ernest McLeod where Dr. Wesley was called to attend his injuries. Later in the day he was taken to his home.

This accident follows very closely the closing of the two dangerous crossings within half a mile of the place where the accident occurred.

Concert in F. C. A. Hall. The girls of the convent and boys of St. Gabriel's school united in giving a concert in F. C. A. hall Thursday night. The program included two different plays, one given by the girls and the other by the boys. A good attendance was on hand and a substantial sum was realized which will go toward paying for the electric motor recently installed in the church to pump the organ.

YES, THE LADY IS HERE NOW

The Special Demonstrator has come from the Round Oak Factory, Dowagiac, Michigan, to demonstrate, show and prove the added convenience and economy of the Round Oak Three Fuel Range.

This Is The Range
We want You to see

LISTEN!

The lady will tell you

Why it burns coal, gas and wood in the same range.

Why it is cool and cheery in the stifling summer.

Why it is cozy and warm in the bleak, cold winter.

Why it is a good investment to secure one.

Why it is the range we selected to go hand in hand with our Sterling Range.

By filling out this coupon and presenting it to the Lady Demonstrator you will receive a 14 inch Kitchen Fork with safety guard to prevent slipping into the kettle. You will wonder how you got along without it.
