Earliest Form of Shoes.

The earliest shoes known were sandals of hide, leather or wood. When one encounters the word "shoe" in the Bible he may be sure that it is the sandal that is commonly meant. In Egypt the sandal was woven of palm leaves and papyrus. As a symbol of the subjection of their enemies the Egyptians often painted the figures of their opponents on the lining of their sandals.

Ide was at one time principal of the academy, has long been in close touch with its affairs and is well qualified by experience and training for the place.

NINETY TONS DROPPED

Italian Dirigibles Cross the Alps to Bomb Austrian Cities. Ninety tons of explosives were carried across the Alps and dropped on enemy territory by Italian dirigibles from August, 1917, to the end of August, 1918. The encounters with the enemy of the Italian airships totaled 102, a record-breaking number. The Allied and enemy nations have not used dirigibles extensively because of the difficulty of operation due to atmospheric conditions, and the difficulties of aiming correctly, but Italy has succeeded in overcoming them to such an extent that her dirigibles have become an active part of her fighting organization. During August Italian dirigibles navigated for a total of 280 hours over 11,560 miles, and threw 40 tons of bombs on the station of Trento, on the military works at Bolzano, on the arsenal at Pola, on Austrian aviation camps, on railroad lines and on enemy soldiers' barracks.

San Stiro di Livenza, one of the most important railroads connecting points on the Austrian front, was bombed nine times in two months by Italian airships. The headquarters building of the aviation camp at Comina was destroyed by bombs from the dirigibles. The record quantity of bombs carried by an airship is held by an Italian captain, whose dirigible carried seven and a half tons in one month. Another dirigible, piloted by an Italian ace, in a flight over the Alps to the Trentino, crossed Carre Peak, the highest summit of the icy Adamello, at an altitude of 3,465 yards.

All November Calls Suspended by Sec'y Baker

Washington, Nov. 11—Almost the first action of the war department today after announcement of the signing of the armistice with Germany was the cancellation of all army draft calls under which more than 300,000 men had been ordered to enter "or camps before Nov. 30.

Urgent telegrams prepared three days ago at the direction of Provost-Marshal Crowder were sent to all local draft boards, directing that the movement of 252,000 men under orders to enter camps be stopped immediately. The telegrams reached most of the boards in time, but a few men are known to have started for camp. Secretary Baker said, however, that wherever possible their immediate return to civil life would be arranged. "I have suspended further calls under the draft and inductions," Mr. Baker said. "There will be for the present no additional men brought in under the draft, and to the extent that we can we will turn back those men who have been entrained and have not yet reached training camps."

Never A Night Before Away From Home BY BRUCE BARTON

The whole town was gathered on the platform that morning to see the train pull out—men and women and children, waving and cheering and trying hard to keep on smiling through their tears. Out of the car windows leaned the boys to wave a last good-bye. Just average, clear-eyed country town boys; twenty of them altogether. And seventeen of them had never slept a night away from home before. They are dwelling in a strange land tonight, whose language they cannot understand. But across the mud and the snow a light gleams warm from a hut on the edge of the town, and inside good cheer and happiness are ready for whoever will come in to claim them. Friendship dwells in the hut; keep its warm fires burning bright this winter. Let it be perfectly clear to the men over there that you have not forgotten. —to the men that only a little while ago were boys who had never slept a night away from home.
