The St. Johnsbury office of the United States Employment Service received an urgent call Wednesday morning for help at Springfield to complete houses for the men working in the big machine shops in that bustling community. WOMAN'S CLUB HOLD THEIR MEETING

Address by Principal of the Johnson Normal School

The St. Johnsbury Woman's club held their November meeting at Pythian Hall Monday evening, with a very good attendance of club members and teachers, guests of the club. The president, Mrs. Robert French, announced that the executive board had voted $25 to the state scholarship normal school fund, and that the club had paid Mrs. I. G. Marshall $38 for her splendid service in the homes of the sick during the recent epidemic.

The following members were approved and admitted by the executive board: Mrs. G. A. Martin, Mrs. George Franklin, Mrs. M. E. McKeen, Mrs. Helen Bonette, and Mrs. A. C. Howard, as regular members; and Mrs. Harold Powell, Miss Hattie Buckley, Miss Ellen Magoon, Miss Ruth Parker and Miss Mary Root, as associate members.

To accommodate the speakers the December meeting will be in charge of the committee on public health, and the next committee will hold their meeting in January.

An appropriation of $14 was granted the civic committee for the settees which the committee placed on the Court House park last summer.

The president spoke feelingly of the death of two members since the last meeting, Mrs. Timothy Murphy and Mrs. Foster G. Stevens, and the following committees were appointed to draft resolutions: For Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. L. N. Smythe, Mrs. Elsie Harvey, Mrs. Henry Ellis; for Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. A. B. Noyes, Mrs. D. D. Patterson, Mrs. Charles Flint.

The program was in charge of the education committee, Mrs. Clara Burrows, chairman, and was preceded by two pleasing piano selections by Miss Sigrid Eklof. The speaker, Miss Bessie Baker Goodrich, principal of the Johnson Normal school, gave a most interesting talk on modern methods of teaching and brought home with great clearness that intelligent and responsive work in the schoolroom must have the right environment, everything, even the location of the chairs, going to make up a perfect background, which would result in better work and change the old-time schoolroom into a restful, interesting classroom. She emphasized the point that a child must take the initiative and develop originality, that his efforts should be guided, but not dictated, that when a pupil is interested in his work discipline is unnecessary, that the day for the rigid disciplinarian is past, and that often a change of position from the tiresome hard seats which formerly graced (?) our school-rooms a pupil could and would be relaxed and rested and do better work.

She cited many interesting instances proving her points and her talk showed remarkable insight into the character and development of children. She brought a splendid collection of posters and cards showing the excellent work done by the pupils of the Johnson Normal school, of which Miss Goodrich is the principal. Her talk was sensible and practical and at the close of the address the president suggested that the mothers present could apply the same principles in home training of their children and quoted a remark made by a mother who had raised a large family, "If I was to live my life over again I would leave out the word 'don't,' and 'do' and encourage my children to be more self-reliant and depend less on my judgment and more on their own in determining their daily problems."

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the State Board of Health on Dr. Caverly's Death

At a meeting of the State Board of Health and laboratory staff held at the office of the secretary at Burlington, November 8, the following resolution was adopted:

The death of Dr. Charles S. Caverly, occurring at his home in Rutland, on October 16, 1918, has broken our Board by removing one who for twenty-seven years has served as its president, and whose place can never be filled.

Dr. Caverly's sterling worth of character, strong personality and professional ability made him a strong tower on whom we were accustomed to lean and his judgment on the various perplexing matters which came up for decision was unvaryingly sound and good. He was always progressive, and to him must be credited a large share of the advanced legislations and public health regulations which have made Vermont a recognized leader among the states of the Union. His studies of communicable disease, especially poliomyelitis and tuberculosis, gave him an honored place among the foremost national medical authorities.

Realizing our loss, we desire to express our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Caverly and his many friends and hereby order that this resolution be entered in the minutes of this board and a copy sent to the family of Dr. Caverly and published in the press of the state.
