HOW ONE MAN WON

Voluminous books are written telling young men how they can succeed in business. But the biographies of successful business men tell just as much. The fellow who studies how a man like John Wanamaker, whose death has just caused deep regret, attained his position in the business world, will get a pretty good idea as to what are the foundations of success.

Mr. Wanamaker based his amazing results as a retail merchant principally on two ideas: First, fair treatment for the public; second liberal advertising. The key-note of his whole career is found in the story of what he did with the receipts of his first business day as a clothing dealer. Out of the $24.67 he had taken in on that day, he set aside 67 cents to make change with and spent the $24 in advertising. Thereby he manifested the principles of initiative through which any man who sells good goods can make a success of business.
