Vocational School

Wins By 54 to 17

The husky Vocational school basketball team defeated the Summerville A. C., a budding aggregation of stars in a game at the Fairbanks, A. A. last night by the score of 54 to 17.

For the Vocational quintet, Burrows, Ellis and McCrillis were great bulwarks of strength. Each of this trio scored six field goals and kept the opposition continually worried. For Summerville, the work of Natole and Dutch Leonard stood out prominently.

Dr. Atwood Sails to Study Old World

Dr. Wallace W. Atwood, famous geographer, President of Clark University and Director of the Institute of International Information, has sailed for a tour of Europe where he will investigate the methods used in teaching school children about other countries of the world, to be reported to the public in Our World, in a series of articles. This work is preliminary to the world conference to be held by the National Educational Association in June, and Dr. Atwood's findings will be discussed by educators of many countries in an effort to formulate a policy as to how coming school generations of all countries may come to an understanding that will serve as a basis for world peace.

Dr. Atwood was a speaker here during the Teacher's Convention held on October 11 to 13.

War Savings Stamps

of the 1918 Issue mature January 1, 1923

We have arrangements whereby we can send in to the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston all War Savings Stamps which are not registered and by forwarding well ahead of January 1, payment will be made to us promptly. This will obviate delay in receiving funds as might prove true, due to congestion of business, if settlement is attempted through the local post office.

Funds will thus be received, we expect, in season to start interest on any deposit from January first.

We have already given attention to those we hold for safe-keeping for our customers but if you have any not yet presented to us, please bring in at once and we will collect, free of any expense to you.
