BARTON GIVES ROYAL GIANTS LIVELY SESSION

Colored Players Cut Funny Stunts and It Takes 11 Innings to Win

In a thrilling diamond battle at Roaring Brook Park yesterday, Barton forced the invincible uebec Royal Giants to go eleven innings before acknowledging defeat. Out of 70 games which the colored players from Canada have played in, but five have been defeats. Yesterday's victory over Barton was the 33d consecutive scalp which the Giants have annexed. Yet if the veteran Barton shortstop had not been guilty of a pair of unfortunate miscues in the 8th stanza, the ebony skinned whirlwinds would have been turned back with a 6 to 4 defeat.

The visiting aggregation underestimated the strength of the Barton nine and for several frames indulged in vaudeville stunts and amused the huge crowd of fans with clever rattle. But in the third, Barton batted completely around and tallied a half dozen times, using to the best of advantage two extra base drives, a couple of singles and three pilfered sacks. Kid Heath was safe at first on an error and then stole second. Snyder selected one of Carter's fast pitches which he clouted for a double. Heath crossed the rubber and Berney Lee scored Snyder with a clean single. Peck Barrows hit safely and Ted Lee slashed out a long triple to right. Both the latter and Dubois scored on Beor's fly to left. Barton maintained this lead of six counters until the eighth, when the visitors managed to cross the rubber twice, the way being paved for them by Kid Heath's two unfortunate bobbles.

Sanger, who formerly twirled for Fitchburg in the New England league toed the mound for Barton and kept the hits well scattered. He pitched steadier ball than did Carter of the Quebec Giants and had been accorded perfect support he would have emerged from the hard-fought tussle a victor. In the tenth Emory was sent into the box and held the Barton nine to a single bingle in two innings while his teammates amassed a quartet of runs. Bowden, backstop for the Giants, displayed a peculiar tendency to getting hit by the opposing pitcher. He was awarded first base on three occasions after twirler Sanger had hit him. Once the colored player was

COMPANY L ON LONG HIKE AT DAYLIGHT

March Three Miles to Rifle Range—Start for Home Tomorrow

(By Richard D. Howe)
CAMP DEVENS, Ayer, Mass., Aug. 8.—As the time for departure from Camp Devens, where the First Vermont Infantry has been stationed during its annual maneuvers, draws near, the officers in charge of the activities are speeding up their schedule in an endeavor to get in the full quota of movements which the guardsmen are expected to go through during the encampment. Although today was wet and dreary, the men from Company L and I were sent to the Rifle Range to demonstrate their skill in handling and firing a regulation army rifle. Some of the men, those selected to care for the target were carried to the field in a big army motor truck while the other boys were forced to make the trip on foot, a distance of some three miles—a nice early morning hike.

The members of Company L should show up very well on the range because of the practice they received on the range in Newport. It is not improbable that several will qualify as expert marksmen or sharpshooters. It is known there are several crack shot in this outfit but of course the real test will come when the boys get up on the Camp Devens range and complete their shooting. The men will spend three days on the range. They get up at 4:30 and leave early for the range, returning late.

Captain Reginald Buzzell, commanding officer of Company L has been highly complimented on the efficiency of the Newport militia organization. A high ranking officer of the 13th Infantry congratulated Captain Buzzell upon the excellent work performed by Company L's men in capturing the strong point on Engineer Hill's against strong odds. The men started their advance down near the old camp laundry and made their way through bushes, tall grass and veritable woods, crossing brooks that lay in their path, keeping always out of sight of the "enemy" and taking their objective on the hill, a distance of one mile, without serious "losses" in men. The reorganization of the unit at the top of the hill was almost perfect and was a credit to the officers in command of the boys.

The officer of the 13th told Cap-

NEWPORT SUNSET LEAGUERS BEAT RICHFORD 10 TO 4

Fairbrother Proves Puzzle to Visiting Team in Exciting Contest

Newport's first Sunset League again came through to a victory yesterday when they bested Richford by nine inning contest on Gaines Trotting Park. The game was called at 3:10 p. m., with a fair-sized crowd in the stands, and it was a "hum-dinger" of a contest in every way. The play in the field brought forth but few errors, and three double plays were made, two by Richford and one by Newport, while at the bat, Newport easily led their opponents and used up two pitchers.

The visitors failed to solve Fairbrother and even the passionate cheering and coaching of Coach Pond on first base could not rattle him. Newport had a new player on second, Morrill, who banged out three hits out of four times at bat, and hit a liner into a double play the first time up. His hitting brought in three runs, and his fielding was very satisfactory. McCarten of Newport was also a strong addition to the field, since he batted for 1,000 and held his position cleverly at first base.

Harvey, Richford's leading moundsman, sought to terrify the batsmen with a red necktie and a Kelley green sweater, but his left handed groovers were exactly to the liking of many batsmen and in the fifth, James, a younger man, replaced him, and held Newport to two more runs. A col-

COMMERCIAL CLUB HEARS OF SO. AMERICA

Henry J. Fuller Addresses a Large Audience at K. P. Hall Thursday Night

Members of the Commercial Club and their guests to the number of 150 met in Pythian hall Thursday evening and listened to a most informing address upon South America by Henry J. Fuller of New York, president of E. & T. Fairbanks & Co. Mr. Fuller was most cordially greeted by all and before the meeting closed was made an honorary member of the organization.

In the absence of the president, Edgar R. Brown, Vice-President Hazen presided and at the brief business session these members were elected: H. W. Cary, Fred L. Follensby, Rev. Dr. A. P. Gint, Fred G. Johnson and Charles B. Rathbun. Mr. Hazen presented Mr. Fuller in a most felicitous manner and the latter said it was always a pleasure to come back to St. Johnsbury, and that he regretted that his short stops here on business did not permit of the social visits that he always enjoyed. He then spoke for an hour in an informal and most entertaining manner of a trip to South America which he took in February, 1919. The Panama canal was the boat's first stop, and Mr. Fuller said in passing that this was the one example of government efficiency in the country. The first South American country he visited was Peru where it rained only once in five or six years and where the machine shop he visited was right outdoors and the machines all in good order. At Callao he saw two carloads of Fairbanks scales and also witnessed a revolution and a change of government.

The leading bankers and progressive farmers of the country were Italians or of Italian ancestry, the Spaniards being too proud to work. The business in all the South American cities was conducted by the Italians, the English, the Germans and sometimes by the Americans. At Valparaiso in Chile Mr. Fuller described the disadvantages of foreign exchange and said that until recently Chile had been receiving nearly $200,000,000 in export duties of their valuable nitrates. This country possesses two of the largest copper mines in the world, the Cerra de Pasco and the Braden mines, and Mr. Fuller described his visit to the latter mines where Fairbanks scales were used and 12,000 men were employed.

He said the trip across the Andes was disappointing and inferior to the Canadian Rockies or those of the United States, but that the ride across the Argentina pampas to Buenos Aires was a wonderful trip. To his great surprise husked corn was used as fuel all along the railroad as it was impossible to get coal for fuel. Buenos
