GRAY OUTLINES PLAN FOR NEW NEWPORT PLANT

Success of Plan Depends Upon Raising $10,000 In City

A meeting of the business men of Newport to discuss the proposition of H. E. Gray of "Graylawn Farms" Inc., opening a factory in this city for the manufacture of the louse killer which he invented some time ago and which is now being manufactured in Waterbury, was held in the Young Men's Improvement Club Rooms Friday evening and was attended by a good sized gathering of men.

Mr. Gray was detained on his way to Newport and did not arrive on the scene until nearly 10 o'clock. However, in the interval Philip Blanchard and Charles Brown outlined the proposition Mr. Gray has in mind and gave those present a very good idea of what was expected to be done. When Mr. Gray did arrive he added a few things to what had already been said and made a few points more clear in the minds of some.

It is proposed to issue preferred stock in "Graylawn Farms" Inc., of the par value of $20,000 divided into 200 shares. Such stock is to be a 7 per cent cumulative stock, payable at 3 1/2 per cent semi-annually, having preference over the common stock, both as to dividends and assets, in case of liquidation or dissolution. Each person taking five shares of preferred is given gratis one share of common stock to the value of $100.

Mr. Gray plans to raise $10,000 in Newport and $10,000 elsewhere, probably through the stockholders in the present company. The selling of $10,000 worth of stock here is contingent upon the agreement that the Graylawn Farms, Inc., establishes their factory here and not St. Johnsbury or Waterbury, the other two places that have been mentioned as

LYNDONVILLE WOMEN LEARN HOW TO VOTE

House to House Canvass to Instruct New Voters of Their Rights

A large number of ladies, together with several of the men, met at Mrs. Charles Stuart's in Lyndonville Thursday afternoon, to discuss various phases of the suffrage question, and learn the necessary things about voting. There are now 15 women in this town who have registered and pay a poll tax, and many were under the impression that no one could vote without paying such a tax. The contrary, however, is true, and those present at the meeting were informed that they would simply have to register at the town clerk's office, and take the Freeman's oath, before 2 o'clock on Saturday, Sept. 11. Possibly by another year the coming legislature may make different requirements.

A great deal of interest was shown by the newly enfranchised women, and many have since registered. It was thought best to hold other meetings, in which the same subject will be considered, and there will be three coming week, the first Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, with Mrs. O. D. Mathewson at the Center, the second Thursday afternoon at the same time with Mrs. W. J. Moon, at Lyndonville, and the third Friday afternoon at Lyndonville with Mrs. H. E. Folsom. It was also decided to make a house-to-house canvass of the town, for the purpose of informing all the women of the necessary steps toward the exercise of the franchise.

It seemed to be the opinion of those present that it would be advisable to have a public meeting in Music Hall very soon, with a good speaker, and other good attractions, to celebrate the final passing of the Anthony amendment. Miss Ella Wilmarth, president of the Good Citizen-

COL. LOGAN OF 101ST INFANTRY TAKES BRIDE

WALTHAM, Mass., Sept. 4.—Miss Cecelia Frances Mullen of this city was married today to Col. Edward L. Logan, commander of the 101st infantry regiment overseas, past state commander of the American Legion and judge of the South Boston district court. The wedding took place at St. Mary's Roman Catholic church before several hundred guests including Governor Coolidge and prominent army officers. Col. and Mrs. Logan will spend their honeymoon in France, touting the battlefields.

BEAT WEALTHY MERCHANT AND ESCAPE WITH $40,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Forty thousand dollars including a $10,000 bill and more than $20,000 in jewelry was stolen in a ten minute daylight robbery by two gunmen who beat Philip F. Smith, a wealthy merchant, into insensibility in his office here today. The bandit entered Smith's establishment just around the corner from Broadway, backed him against the wall, beat him with their revolvers and escaped in record time.

GEN. WRANGEL LAUNCHES COUNTER OFFENSIVE

AGAN SPEAKS TO A CROWD AT TOWN HALL

Favors Local Option, Better Roads and the Little Red Schoolhouse

Frank W. Agan of Ludlow, one of the candidates for governor, spoke to a crowded house at the town hall Friday night and in the audience was a generous sprinkling of lady voters. The St. Johnsbury Band furnished good music and Guy W. Hill, Esq., presided. Mr. Hill complimented the ladies on securing their political rights and all the speakers began their address with "Ladies and Gentlemen." Mr. Hill told the only story of the evening and it was very pertinent to the campaign.

Judge Homer L. Skeels of Ludlow spoke for about 10 minutes on the constitutional rights of Vermonters. He said the people of Windsor county inherited a spirit of independence from the old Constitution House at Windsor and were jealous of their rights. He said the principal speaker of the evening had no entangling allegiances and was free to serve the people of Vermont. He declared that 155 members of the Vermont Legislature had voted away the rights of 20,000 voters when they passed the 19th amendment.

Mr. Agan spoke for about a hour, holding the closest attention of the audience and being frequently interrupted by applause. He gave most of his time to the discussion of the temperance question, following with his good road's platform and a strong plea for the return of the little red schoolhouse and a discontinuance of the present centralization policy of the educational department.

Mr. Agan said he decided to enter the gubernatorial contest when his friend, Babbitt, who wet one corner of his platform, declined to come out squarely against the 18th amendment and the Volstead Act. He then took up conditions in Vermont

BOBBIN MILL BURNED AT LUNENBURG

Plant of U. S. Bobbin & Shuttle Co. Entirely Wiped Out in $50,000 Fire

The most disastrous fire that ever visited Lunenburg started just before midnight in the boiler room of the U. S. Bobbin & Shuttle Company and wiped out the entire plant, including the boarding house, the finished product and the large stock of raw product. The loss will exceed $50,000.

The fire was discovered about 11:30 and spread with such rapidity that the men who were suddenly awakened from their slumbers could not enter the wooden building to save their tools or any of the property of the mill. The flames soon spread to the boarding house adjoining and this building was also destroyed, though there was time to save most of the furniture and the personal effects of the roomers. The automobile and four horses belonging to the corporation were saved. During the progress of the fire Ren Gee was overcome by the smoke and Saturday morning was still reported as being in quite a serious condition.

Besides the mill and the boarding house there were four large loads of bobbins burned and the raw products adjoining the mill.

The plant is located in the north part of the town and has long been utilized for the manufacture of bobbins. About five years ago it was taken over by the U. S. Bobbin & Shuttle Co. of Providence, R. I., and his corporation has greatly increased the business. Much new machinery has been installed and under the energetic management of H. T. Silby they have given employment to 25 men. The valuation of the buildings and machinery was at least $25,000. Manager Silby had not completed the insurance Saturday morning, but the insurance adjusters will reach Lunenburg Saturday afternoon and once begin the adjustment. The only insurance carried by St. Johnsbury agents, so far as could be learned, was $500 which was placed with the Crawford Ranney Agency. The bulk of the insurance is placed elsewhere. It is hoped that the corporation will rebuild the plant as it was a good location for the raw product and was Lunenburg's largest industry outside the big paper mills at Fitzdale.

Investigation of Advertising Activities of Treasurer Burrell Brings His Resignation

(By the Associated Press)

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Gov. Coolidge today appointed James Jackson of Westwood, former chairman of the N. E. division of the American Red Cross, as state treasurer under investigation. Pending confirmation of the new appointee, the governor named Secretary of State Langtry and two other officials a committee to take charge of the treasurer's office.

STATE TREASURER BURRELL RESIGNS

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Gov. Coolidge received the resignation of State Treasurer Fred J. Burrell in the morning mail today. He immediately called a special session of the executive council to take action in selecting Burrell's successor. He was said to have selected a man for the place. Mr. Burrell's resignation, which was announced last night, followed reported allegations that he had solicited advertising from banks holding state deposits for an agency which he conducted. In announcing his resignation he said he did not take the step because he had done any wrong but because of the pain and anguish of mind which had come to his aged mother. He asked his friends not to vote for him at the state primary on Tuesday at which his name will appear on the ballot. Relatives said today that Mr. Burrell had left the city on a vacation.

LYSANDER H. CARROLL DEAD AT CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 4.—Announcement was made today of the death late yesterday of Lysander H. Carroll.

A Special Occasion at the Globe Labor Day

In "The River's End" we offer the first photoplay from the studio of Marshall Neilan, one of the highest salaried directors in the world. For his first offering Mr. Neilan has secured James Oliver Curwood's great story of the vast frozen Northland, "The River's End" considered the author's most popular work. Quite naturally Marshall Neilan has spared nothing in the cost of cast and production to make his first personally produced and directed effort a stupendous masterpiece. To enhance the throbbing, thrilling realism of the play and add to the spectator's enjoyment a number of extra pieces have been added to the regular orchestra and a specially selected musical program of merit has been arranged by Mr. Drouin, the musical director. Everybody will be going to the Globe Monday. adv.
