Nazol is an ideal nasal ointment.

This is a day of Wm. Fox productions at the Globe. Suppose you went to sleep as one person and awoke as another. Suppose you found yourself accepted as the heir to an estate of millions, an estate of which you had never heard. You'd be inclined to follow up this mystery. These things happen in "Putting One Over," a Wm. Fox production with George Walsh as the star. It's a tonic, with laughs, rapid action and mystery. Another Wm. Fox production to be shown is Gladys Brockwell in "The Divorce Trap." In the days when milady lived in a stone cave, the married woman was her husband's vessel. In these days of Paris modistes and skyscraper apartment houses, one out of every nine marriages in the United States ends in divorce.
