Recruits in Air Service Sought.

Uncle Sam takes great pride in his army and navy, especially when his ranks are well filled with robust healthy lads, who everyone knows must measure up to certain standard in physique. Responses to naval enlistments have been so large since the war that he was compelled to stop naval recruiting, and now a young man with soldierly ambitions is able to enter only branches of the army service. In this he finds opportunities of all kinds, and a late order received at the local army recruiting station permits the acceptance of young men to the air service, and to young men who express the desire to do so it affords the opportunity to fly.

In all branches of service one is enabled to learn and improve himself along trade and educational lines, but to those entering the air service there are more trades open than any other branch in the service. So many departments, trades and positions exist in this branch of the service that there is a place for every young man interested in the army. Mechanics and assistants are one class of men who find unusual opportunities awaiting them in the air service, and are especially desired by this branch. One existing should define which branch of the air service he wishes to enter, there being the "heavier than air" and "lighter than air" branches. "Heavier than air" is that branch which operates only with air-planes, while the "lighter than air" operates with dirigibles and balloons.

This air service recruiting has just begun and anyone desiring further particulars may see Corporal Arthur C. Noetting at the city court room in the city building, the recruiting station.

TIRED MORNINGS?

When you awake in the morning feeling tired out, feeling worse in fact than when you went to bed, you are confronted with the characteristic symptoms of neurasthenia. It is due to the run-down condition of the nerves that rest does not bring renewed strength and sleep refresh the tired brain. Overwork and worry are the most frequent causes of this condition.

If you are nervous and melancholy and are losing strength and energy you will find the story of Mr. Anton Patrick of No. 684 West 24th street, Des Moines, Iowa, encouraging and interesting.

"I was badly run down in health and my strength was leaving me very fast. I could just do my work and that was all. I lost weight and became so nervous that I could not get the sleep I needed and felt as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. My blood was so thin that I did not have any color. I became discouraged.

"A friend told me about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, so I began to take them. I felt a little better after the first box so I kept on. I have taken one more weight. My color has improved and my appetite is as good as ever. My nerves are stronger too and I have more ambition. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have helped me greatly and I can honestly recommend them."

The free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System," will interest you. Write for it to-day to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 60 cents per box—Adv.

DISTRIBUTING MEDALS

To the Service Men in the World War—Must Present Discharge Papers.

To-day is victory medal day at the Barre army recruiting station. Every ex-service man of the World War should present himself with his discharge to-day, and receive one of these medals. There is no "red tape" connected, simply show your discharge to Field Clerk Henry J. Prue, who arrived this morning as a representative of Lieutenant Caswell of the Albany recruiting headquarters. It is beautifully designed in bronze, one side of it bearing the following words: "The Great War for Civilization." Beneath these and placed on sides of the United States coat of arms are the names of allied countries—France, Italy, Serbia, Japan, Montenegro, Russia, Greece, Great Britain, Belgium, Brazil, Portugal, Rumania and China.

On the other side of the medal is engraved the Goddess of Liberty. The ribbon from which the medal suspends is the victory ribbon, adopted by all the allied countries as the most appropriate medal ribbon. Its colors are the most beautiful and arranged in rainbow order. Across the ribbon is a bar bearing the word France, which is given to any man who reached France but did not get into actual fighting. To men taking part in any major engagement, bars bearing the names of those are procured from Washington, D. C., upon order of Field Clerk Prue, and will be mailed directly to the soldier's home. For instance, if you fought in the battle of Cambrai, Somme, Defensive, St. Mihiel, Aisne-Marne or any other major battle or as many bars as battles will be presented you from Washington to wear on this medal.

To the men who did not leave the United States the same medal is presented following is the list of officers recruiting office will be open until late this evening, just as long as anyone continues to call for a medal. Remember to bring your discharge papers along.
