The World's Greatest Tribute to Dependability

Cadillac Sales in the Last Three Years Were Nearly One-Third Greater Than the Combined Sales of the Eleven Other American Makes Listed at the Cadillac Price and Higher

It has been our pleasant privilege to share with the public the many splendid tributes that have been paid to Cadillac since the beginning.

We have taken a just pride in the long succession of official and popular testimonials to the Cadillac's engineering excellence, its fine mechanical construction and its dependable performance.

Our friends the world over have rejoiced with us in celebrating the remarkable honors that have been conferred on Cadillac, particularly during the last three years.

Cadillac owners would be less than human if they did not partake of our sense of satisfaction over the appointment of Cadillac as the Standard Seven Passenger Car of the United States Army,—the greatest official tribute ever paid to any automobile.

And Americans in general shared our pride in the most recent compliment to Cadillac,—its characterization by a noted English motor authority as "more closely approaching the ideal (of perfection) than any other car on the market to-day, regardless of price or size."

But, impressive and significant as these testimonials are, we feel that a more impressive and more significant tribute has been paid to the Cadillac during the last three years, by the world's buyers of high-grade motor cars.

Of the twelve makes of automobiles selling at the Cadillac price and higher, Cadillac was chosen by one-third more people than all the eleven others combined.

What these figures would have been had we been able to manufacture all the Cadillac cars the world wanted, is merely conjectural.

It is a well-known fact that many persons who wanted Cadillacs, bought some other make of car because they could not get a prompt delivery of a Cadillac.

The fact is that when it was possible to get a Cadillac, nothing else would suffice.

This was strikingly exemplified during the last three months of 1920, when our production began to approximate the demand.

During those three months, Cadillac sales leaped to a figure 43 per cent greater than the eleven other makes combined.

We are grateful to the public for this unparalleled tribute to Cadillac, and we are fully conscious of the responsibility which it entails.

We pledge ourselves again to go on building, better and better, a Cadillac that can be depended upon to do all the things an automobile is intended to do; do them better than any other car, regardless of price or size; and continue to do them for a longer period, without any nursing, coaxing or petting.

It is our resolve to continue to build the Cadillac in such manner that it shall grow more and more worthy of the wonderful allegiance of Cadillac owners.

Ruining a War.

It was a perfect French night. In other words, the rain was coming down steadily and the mud was at its stickiest. In "squad" formation—two, three, five and sixes—a regiment of Buffaloes was moving into an alleged rest camp. The accent was on the camp.

The most forlorn of all the forlorn crew staggered against a barrack's doorway, where he was accosted by a white nanooon.

"Well, Sam, whaddye think of this war now? Pretty good war?"

With a facial expression that said he meant it, Sam replied:

"Boss, dis yeah war never was a good war—and dis last day practically done ruined it completely."—American Legion Weekly.

"Black Beauty," known and loved for forty years in every part of the world where books are read, has come to life, and will soon be seen in high-class theaters all over the country.

The wonderful horse whose autobiography was recorded by Anna Sewell, to delight many millions of readers in every civilized country on the globe, is to be seen in action. His life, through all its changing phases of playful colthood, early pleasures, trials and fears; its contact with the lives of other horses and of human beings; its hardships, dangers and triumphs—all these are unfolded on the motion-picture screen.

The screen version of "Black Beauty" is all that the book was—and more. Every bit of the story has been told, and additional thrills have been interpolated. "Black Beauty" is a story of human beings, as well as of horses.

In the film version a thrilling and romantic drama has been woven about the human beings, and in many phases of this "Black Beauty" participates without being aware of its nature, and of the big part he is playing. The race scene, in which "Black Beauty" saves the day, provides one of the greatest screen thrills ever filmed.

Jean Paige, in the leading role of "Jessie Gordon," is a sweet, appealing heroine, and her portrayal will long be remembered in this unusual Vitagraph production.

What The New York Newspaper Critics Said About "Black Beauty"

"It is a far better product than the book itself, and it is probable that Anna Sewell would say as much. Must be considered as one of the fine pieces of motion picture work of the season. A picture play deserving of large patronage and long life."—New York Morning World.

"Charm and good taste—the production and direction team with them. 'Black Beauty' is the sort of wholesome entertainment that builds sturdy tissue in the interesting picture industry."—New York American.

"Right after two weeks' run of 'The Kid' the Strand Theatre presents this week 'Black Beauty'—another of the best pictures of the season. The picture is so refreshing in its atmosphere, so kind in its message and so clean in its purpose that it cannot fail to captivate the hearts of motion picture patrons."—New York Morning Telegraph.

"The presence of the various stable characters makes this picture one of the alluring novelties of the season. A very attractive production which, in the immortal words of any clothing advertisement, is 'fitted to customers of all ages.'"—New York Herald.

"It's a job to be proud of, I think, having made 'Black Beauty' into a picture which will please infant and adult, a job which so easily might have been badly done, but is not. At the Strand there were hosts of unfashionably quiet little boys marshalled to see it. They thought it was 'great stuff.'"—New York Daily News.

"A picture that will attract thousands of animal lovers to the Strand this week. The film version of this tale follows the book closely."—New York Journal of Commerce.

"So skillfully has Vitagraph told this story on the screen that to many it will seem even better than the book itself."—New York Evening Telegram.

"As a picture it is indeed a novelty for which the producers deserve more than the usual credit."—New York Globe.

"On the silver sheet 'Black Beauty' is in many respects a remarkable picture. There are thrills aplenty likewise, the race for the train in the final scene being one of the best filmings of its kind the motion picture world has produced, with a succession of sensational riding feats. Jean Paige has an appealing beauty. She screens and plays extremely well. Her supporting cast is of the best."—New York Evening Mail.

"One of the unique offerings of the season is 'Black Beauty,' which atones for many a vampire-laden blight of the past. It's a relief to meet with actors who aren't always trying to register. Jean Paige leads the human battalion and does it as one to the manner and the saddle born."—New York Evening Sun.

"'Black Beauty' scores. There is an excellent race to climax the story."—New York Journal.
