Mothers Used To Say

Give me the good old fashion remedies made from roots and herbs in preference to the new fangled patent medicines on the market. I remember that when I had indigestion, was constipated, had a headache or my stomach was out of order, my mother would give me an old and reliable remedy called SEVEN BARKS and it would straighten me out in no time, so I always keep a bottle in the home for emergencies. Colds and grippe frequently will leave you with weak kidneys and aching back. The kidneys get overworked fighting off a cold or a contagious disease. When the stomach is out of order, the kidneys and liver not working properly, a few doses of SEVEN BARKS will stimulate the liver and kidneys, regulate the flow of bile, expel distressing acids and dangerous poisons, and quickly restore you back to good digestion.

For nearly half of a century SEVEN BARKS has been recognized as one of the most reliable remedies for correcting and preventing disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is absolutely safe, made from the extracts of roots and herbs, scientifically blended.

If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS do not fail to do so, and watch the rapid and wonderful results. Your sluggish keeps it, or will get it for you.—Adv.

NORTH RANDOLPH

Preston-Taft Wedding a Very Pretty Event and Largely Attended.

A very pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Taft Wednesday evening, Oct. 12, when their oldest daughter, Margaret, and Raymond Preston were married by Rev. Fraser Metzger of Randolph. The bride, attired in white satin, was attended by her sister, Mabelle, wearing pink crepe de chine, following the ring bearer little Helena Huse cousin of the bride, dressed in pink organdie. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Glen. The wedding march was played by Miss Eva Reed.

Refreshments of cake and ice cream were served to about 70 guests including many from out of town. The happy couple left amid a shower of confetti for parts unknown.

Mr. and Mrs. Demary of Springfield and Mr. and Mrs. Brown of Woodstock visited their brother, Levi Preston, and family a few days last week and attended the Preston-Taft wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kidder of Port Chester spent a few days recently at W. J. Cone's. Mrs. Kidder, who lived here in her childhood, has been spending the summer in the Catskill mountains and intends to go south for the winter.

Levi Preston and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood motored to Hartford Sunday.

Mrs. Ralph Thayer took a load of teachers to the convention at Rutland last week.

D. E. Sargent was a business visitor in Barre last Saturday.

Mrs. Ray Walbridge and daughters spent the week end at Mrs. F. G. Cone's.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stanley of Washington visited their cousins last week and attended the Preston-Taft wedding.

The sympathy of the community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smek, who lost their house by fire last Friday morning. It is thought the fire caught around the kitchen chimney.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were visiting in Boston and Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Beal, was staying with the four children. A part of the furniture was saved.

Guests during the past week at R. C. Thayer's were Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Allen, and two children of New London, Conn., and Kate Allen, Marion and Paul Allen of Randolph; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Spaulding; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Benson of Springfield, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. William Paschal of Jefferson, N. H., spent several days recently with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Pitts.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Preston have returned from a short trip to Springfield and Woodstock.

PAINS AROUND THE HEART

When the action of the stomach is weakened by debility or defective nerve force the food is retained until it ferments. Gas forms and presses on the other organs, particularly the heart, the pains in that region often causing a fear of heart trouble. Organic heart trouble rarely causes pain around the heart and when this symptom is noted you should try toning up your digestion before giving way to needless alarm.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that directly affects the organs of digestion. They supply to the stomach the rich blood without which normal digestion is impossible. They awaken into activity the gastric glands and strengthen the muscles of the stomach and give the nerve force necessary to proper digestion and assimilation.

Two books, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are for sale in every drug store on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.—Adv.

BETHEL

Auto and Freight Train Collided, Not Much Damage Done.

Robert Hoisington drove his car into a northbound freight train at the Church street crossing of the Central Vermont railway Saturday night and damaged the machine to the extent of $30 or $40. Repairs were made at the Bethel garage. Mr. Hoisington has two other young men with him in the car, but nobody was hurt. He also had several bags of potatoes in the car. The freight train, which was going slowly, carried the car a short distance up the track. The conductor saw the collision and stopped his train. The Hoisington car was being driven out of the covered bridge at the time of the collision.

About 35 members of the Woman's club last Saturday accepted the invitation of Mrs. Emma C. Gould to visit her home at South Randolph and view her exhibit of antique china and furniture. Mrs. Gould gave an interesting description of many of her treasures.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Ives of Tupper Lake, N. Y., former residents, their daughter, Myrtle, and her friends, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McDonald, were guests yesterday at F. B. Southworth's.

An automobile party registered at the Bascom house Sunday consisting of Mrs. Daniel Houck and M. Houck of Oakland, Md., Miss C. Duckworth of Germania, W. Va., and Mrs. A. J. Moggan of Louisville, Pa.

Recent guests at Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Howard's were Mr. and Mrs. John Stone of Northfield, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dewey and three children of Brookfield, Mrs. Charles Howard and daughter of Randolph.

Pie. Pie is not to be classed with those common foods known as meat, bread and potatoes. It is a thing apart, a delicacy, a dessert—the delicious culmination of the meal.

Nor is pie to be spoken of familiarly, but all admiration and esteem. There is poetry in pie. The manufacture of its perfect crust is a fine art; the proper selection and combination of its contents is an intellectual achievement. Such ribald rhymes about pie in particular as those which follow form a column of irreverence and imbecility in an eastern paper are to be deplored:

I like good bread; I like good meat; I like most anything to eat. But of all poor grub beneath the skies The poorest is dried apple pies.

Grub is a vulgar slang word not in good standing in the language, and should never be used as descriptive even of a pie one dislikes, because it reflects on the entire pie family. Tastes differ. Prune pie may not appeal to all, for instance, but it is not therefore to be condemned. There may be people so lost to the refinements of cultured appetites as to view with disfavor the great royal trio of the pie kingdom, apple, custard and mince. Even peach pie, and its huckleberry sister pull on some palates, strange as it seems that such could be the case. And that famous old stand-by of the final cup of coffee, pumpkin pie, sometimes is discarded. And so are blackberry, lemon and such new-fangled creations as butter scotch and orange pie—a la mode frowned upon by the ignorant and malicious. But let us not condemn pie as an inspiration, an invention of transcendent gastronomic delight, the monarch of all desserts in the homes of a free and independent people.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

A Practical Man.

A professor of mineralogy tells of the father of one of his pupils coming to him and saying, "I don't want my boy to learn about strata or dips or faults or upheavals or strata, and I don't want him to fill his mind with fossils or stuff about crystals. What I want him to learn is how to find gold and silver and copper in paying quantities, sir—in paying quantities."—Boston Transcript.

Sample Bottle Converted Him.

L. Lisbon, N. Y., March 20, 1907.

Mr. A. J. Phillips, Norwood, N. Y.: Dear Sir—Last spring I was confined to the house with muscular rheumatism for seven weeks. I was not able to move my neck as it was so stiff and pained me so. I doctored with four different doctors, one of whom was an osteopath, but none helped me. Finally Mr. Davis presented me with a sample bottle of your Rheumatic Cure. After using it I noticed a decided change for the better, so I purchased three dollar bottles. When I had taken one bottle I was out picking apples. I kept taking the medicine and by the time the three bottles were taken I was completely cured. I have never felt any return of the rheumatism since, and earnestly recommend it to all suffering as I was. Expressing my deepest gratitude to your Rheumatic Cure.

Respectfully yours,
