"The Store Where Quality Counts"

Now We've Cleared the Decks for the Last Christmas Rush

Many regular stocks have been moved to allow more space for holiday goods. More selling room for gift things; but chiefly more space to spread things out so that you may see them to a better advantage. Better chance to compare things and decide just which articles will make Christmas happiest for the lucky people who are to receive them.

This store was never better ready to give prompt, satisfying service to its friends.

Blankets and Comforters as Gifts

A beautiful pair of Blankets or a daintily patterned Comforter would be greatly appreciated by any woman on your list who has her own home. As handsome they are practical, for even blankets and comforters can be handsome. Our stocks are most complete, now.

Blankets

Wool finished, part wool and all-wool, in White, Gray and handsome Plaids.

In a hard-fought battle, the first team of Miss Boyce's room was defeated by the second team of the same room in a game of basketball. The first team had the ball in their possession most of the time, but didn't succeed in making a basket. Many fouls were called on the first team, succeeded in making a basket after Mudgett, the star for the second team, shooting 10 fouls. The final score, after the periods were over, was first team 0, second team 1. Lineup: First team—Alto Barberi, rg; George Morey, lg; Glendon Belleville, c. Second team—Fred Mudgett, rf; Arthur Casani, lf; David Rennie, rg; Enrico Scizizi, lg; Aldo Savoia, c.

The market for hides has reached such a low level that the farmer is no longer bringing the skins to town. According to one farmer, in the city this morning, the prices now paid do not make it worth while saving them. Ten years ago, this farmer told a crowd of men at Depot square, a calf-skin would have brought the farmer $6 and $8. Now, he said, they are lucky to get $1 and very few bring the skins to the city. The prices have dropped steadily, he said, the war notwithstanding, for the past six years.

The hospital is always in need of money. It never has enough. A reading of yesterday's report of the Barre City hospital, as printed in yesterday's paper, shows where it has been called upon to give more free service the past year than in any previous one. Its funds need replenishing. In making up your Christmas list this year, why not put the City hospital on it for a cash contribution? One lone gift of this kind was received by the institution last year. Let's make it fifty contributions this year, and send them to treasurer, Barre City hospital.

Alvander Milne of Nichols street, president of the Littlejohn & Milne Quarry company, was at his office today for the first time in ten days. A large piece of granite crushed Mr. Milne's left foot. Though he is still unable to walk he insisted upon resuming his duties at the office today. It will be several days before the injury has healed sufficiently to allow Mr. Milne to walk unaided.

I am going back to my first trade, repairing boots and shoes. Specialty on school shoes. Before-war prices. John Condon, 24 Merchant street. Don't ring; come right upstairs.—adv.

George H. Colamer of the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co., left Barre this morning for Rutland to attend a meeting of district managers of the company.

Mr. and Mrs. James K. Pirie of Grantville were in the city this morning on their way to Waverly, Mass., to visit friends for a few days.

Miss Alice Morgan, who has been attached to the Mary Fletcher hospital in Burlington as a nurse for some time, has returned to her home here for an indefinite stay.
