Republican Nominations

FOR PRESIDENT, ULYSSES S. GRANT. FOR VICE PRESIDENT, SCHUYLER COLFAX.

VERMONT.

For Electors at Large—GEORGE W. GRANDEY, of Vergennes; H. FAIRBANKS, of St. Johnsbury.

The Elections To-day.

In addition to voting for Presidential electors to-day, the people of Iowa will vote upon the question whether the word white shall be stricken from the clause relating to suffrage in the constitution.

In New Hampshire the people are to decide whether a convention shall be held to propose amendments to the State constitution. As now constituted the two Houses of the New Hampshire Legislature are strangely disproportionate in members.

Three proposed amendments to the State Constitution are submitted to the vote of the people of Minnesota. The first provides for extending the suffrage to the colored man, and also to persons of mixed white and Indian blood.

The people of the State of Illinois will vote on the question whether a convention shall be called to revise the State Constitution.

European Correspondence.

LONDON, Oct. 16.

Spain could not be kept in a state of suspense till the Cortes were regularly elected and constituted, and I am now in a position to assure you that the men in power here are looking for the "short cut" which is most promptly to bring the country out of its provisional difficulties.

In Italy also, the annexation of the Marches and Umbria, of Naples and Sicily to the Northern Kingdom who put to the vote of the Turin Chambers, with all due form and solemnity; but the suffrage of the people had previously been elicited by a plebiscite, and the union of the various States was already an accomplished fact.

There can arise no doubt as to the right the present rulers of Spain have to proceed on a somewhat analogous plan. The Provisional Government and the Revolutionary Junta from which it emanates, and which, I know not for what purpose, continues in the discharge of its functions, may look upon themselves as a bona fide representation of the three parties—Unionists, Progressists, and Democrats—by whom the downfall of the Bourbon Government was determined.

At a meeting of the Assembly of the State of Vermont. SEC. 1. Any town in Washington, Caledonia and Orange Counties, on as their opinion, in the first place, that a Monarchical Constitutional Government is the only one, under present circumstances, adapted to the wants and wishes of the Spanish nation; and they will then proceed to unfold their views as to the practical means of bringing such a Government into existence.

The result of last Sunday's meeting of the Democratic party has made it sufficiently clear that they do not entertain either hope or desire to secure the triumph of Republican principles for the present. There are only two uncompromising Republicans of any note—Orense and Castelar. Orense is an old man, almost in his dotage; Castelar is an enthusiast, but he busies himself more with social and philanthropic theories than with practical political conclusions.

The form of Government being thus established, the advice of its head must follow as a necessary consequence, and there seems now perfect agreement among those who are to say the word; only, it is deemed good policy, as a mere matter of international courtesy, to sound the intentions of friendly Governments in that respect; and it is with that view that official agents of the Provisional Government, will soon be accredited to the various courts.

France, England, and other leading States have already intimated that they do not consider themselves entitled to interfere with the wishes of the Spanish people in any way whatever, and as there will be no occasion to apply for aid or advice, so neither will there be any apprehension of anything like dictation, or even officiousness, on their part.

The candidate for the throne, on whom the votes of the Provisional Government seem now to concentrate, is King Ferdinand, of Portugal. The suffrages of the Spanish people naturally turned in that direction ever since the enormities and infamies of Isabella's Government made the necessity of a change of dynasty obvious to all men.

The name of Ferdinand of Portugal comes uppermost at the present juncture—the only matter still doubtful being whether the succession should devolve on his eldest son, Don Louis, the present King of Portugal, in which case the personal union of the two crowns would follow as a matter of course; or on Ferdinand's younger son—now 21 years of age—in which case the Peninsula would be divided between the two branches of the same house of Braganza—Coburg.

Together with the choice of a sovereign, the Provisional Government would have to submit to the country the draft of a Constitution, no very difficult task in Spain, whose archives are rich in charters, most of which were schemes plausible enough in their conception, though, owing to the perversity of the Queen's Government, they invariably broke down in the application.

The declaration of the views of the Provisional Government may be expected at no distant period—within a fortnight at the latest—and upon its first publication the various Provincial Juntas will be instructed to put the scheme to the test of popular suffrage, and to obtain for it the sanction of a plebiscite.

Horrible Treatment of an Orphan Child by her Wards.

From the Memphis Post.

One of the most revolting cases of inhumanity towards children which we have ever had occasion to write, occurred in the suburbs of the city, on the new Raleigh road, one week ago last Saturday. The perpetrators of the savage outrage were John and Mary Peppers, who live in the relation of man and wife, although unmarried. These parties have had for about two years in their charge, as their ward, a girl about 12 years of age. For some time the neighbors of this family have been shocked at various times by the cruel punishment which they inflicted upon the girl for the most trivial offences. On the Saturday referred to above, this girl thoughtlessly went into the garden near the house and pulled one or two turnips. For this slight offence both of her heartless guardians became violently enraged, and after partially venting their fury in abusive language and merciless blows upon the defenceless and terrified child, their infernal hearts suggested the use of the hot iron poker as an instrument of punishment. Accordingly the woman seized the girl, while the brute of a man applied the burning iron to her cheeks, neck, hands, and naked arms, and even attempted to thrust it down her throat.

Thus the poor girl was tortured, while she writhed in vain to release herself from the clutches of the heartless woman, till the flesh touched by the iron was covered and checked with long lines of black, bleeding blisters. Their rage being satiated, they confined her in the house from the sight of all, in order to prevent her from disclosing their cruelty.

At length, however, the facts were found out and given to the police, who went to the house yesterday and arrested her parties, after which they took the girl before the grand jury of the Municipal Court. Upon the presenting of the case the jury indicted both parties. This morning, when they appeared in the Police Court for trial, Deputy Marshal Williams seized the captives upon them and then marched them off to jail. The wounds upon the girl are now healing rapidly, and have lost their unsightly appearance. She will remain in charge of the police till the trial of her assailants is concluded.

WOMAN.

FEMALES, OWING TO THE PECULIAR nature of their organization, and the offices they perform, are subject to many sufferings. Freedom from these contribute in no small degree to their happiness and welfare, for none can be happy who are ill. Not only so, but no one can be successful in the various complaints long suffered to turn on without involving the general health of the individual, and ere long producing permanent sickness and premature decline. Nor is it pleasant to consult a physician for the relief of these various delicate affections, and only upon the most urgent necessity will a true woman so far sacrifice her greatest charm as to do this. The sex will then thank us for placing in their hands simple specifics which will be found efficacious in relieving and curing almost every one of those troublesome complaints peculiar to the sex.

HELMHOLD'S EXTRACT OF BREAST.—Hundreds suffer on in silence, and hundreds of others apply vainly to druggists and doctors, who either merely soothe them with the hope of a cure or apply remedies which make them worse. I would not wish to assert anything that would do justice to the afflicted, but I am obliged to say that although it may be produced from excessive exhaustion of the powers of life, by laborious employment, unwholesome air and food, profuse menstruation, the use of tea and coffee, and frequent child-birth, it is far oftener caused by direct irritation, applied to the mucous membrane of the vagina itself.

When reviewing the causes of these distressing complaints, it is most painful to contemplate the attendant evils consequent upon them, not only simple justice to the subject to enumerate a few of the many additional evils which so largely attend the life, health, and happiness of woman in all classes of society, and which, consequently, affect more or less directly, the welfare of the entire human family. The mania that exists for procreancy, education and marriage, causes the years that nature designed for corporeal development to be wasted and perverted in the trappings of dress, the early confinement of school, and especially in the unhealthy excitement of the ball-room. Thus, with the body half-rotten, and the mind unduly excited by pleasure, perverting in midnight rest, the work of destruction is half accomplished.

In consequence of this early strain upon her system, unnecessary effort is required by the delicate votary to retain her situation in school at a later day, thus aggravating the evil. When one complaint is over, another in prospective awaits the mind, morbidly positive to improve, while the now constant restraint of fashionable dress, absolutely forbidding the exercise indispensable to the attainment and retention of organic health and strength; the exposure to night air; the sudden change of temperature; the complete prostration produced by excessive dancing, must, of necessity, produce their legitimate effect. At last, an early marriage caps the climax of misery, and the unfortunate one, hitherto so proudly regardless of the plain duties and responsibilities of her delicate state, becomes an unwilling subject of medical treatment. This is but a truthful picture of the experience of thousands of our young women.

Long before the ability to exercise the functions of the reproductive organs, they receive an education of their peculiar nervous system, composed of what is called the tissue, which is, in common with the female breast and lips, evidently under the control of mental emotions and associations, an early period of life, and an excessive lead, long before puberty, to habits which sap the very life of their victims ere nature has self-completed their development.

For Female Weakness and Debility, Whites or Leucorrhoea, Too Profuse Menstruation, Exhaustion, Too Long Continued Periods, for Protrusion and Bearing Down, or Prolapsus Uteri, we offer the most perfect specific known: HELMHOLD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF BREAST. Directions for use, diet, and advice, accompany.

Females in every period of life, from infancy to extreme old age, will find it a remedy to aid nature in the discharge of its functions. Strength is the glory of manhood and womanhood. HELMHOLD'S EXTRACT OF BREAST, they receive an education of their peculiar nervous system, composed of what is called the tissue, which is, in common with the female breast and lips, evidently under the control of mental emotions and associations, an early period of life, and an excessive lead, long before puberty, to habits which sap the very life of their victims ere nature has self-completed their development.

MERCHANTS NATIONAL BANK, 28 STATE STREET, BOSTON, Oct. 7, 1868. E. S. GOODWIN, Esq., Agent Welden Spring Water.

DEAR SIR: I write to acknowledge the letter I have received from the Welden Spring Water. I have been troubled with Dropsy of the Kidneys for many years. I have consulted some of the best physicians in the country and received no relief. Some few months since was recommended to try the Welden Spring Water. I had not taken it long before I was surprised to see how much good it had done. Since then I always keep it in my room and do not drink any other water, knowing as it will cure me. As I am anxious that others should be benefited by my experience, I fully recommend it to all suffering with the same disease. Respectfully, J. J. MAY.

[From Francis B. DEWOL, Esq., Counsellor at Law and Average Adjuster, Boston.] 17 MERCHANTS EXCHANGE, Boston, October 3, 1868. E. S. GOODWIN.

DEAR SIR: I cheerfully comply with your request to give my candid opinion of the merit of the Welden Spring Water. For some years I have suffered much from Dyspepsia, and have exhausted patient medicines and the prescriptions of many physicians. I was advised to try the Welden Spring Water. I found by taking a glass of the water before meals it acts as a tonic and general regulator of the system, it will cure me to eat any kind of food without inconvenience. The only evidence I can give my appreciation of its virtues is a recommendation to every one suffering from Dyspepsia try it. Yours truly, FRANK B. DIXON.

DEAR SIR: My wife has used your Welden Spring Water, and has received great benefit from it. Before she used it she had a cough, and had had from the stomach or lungs. The cough has entirely disappeared, and she is well, or better, than she has been for years.
