Funeral of Henry Conner.

The funeral of Henry Conner, the well known railroad engineer, was attended on Thursday under the auspices of Rut land lodge, No. 79, of Free and Accepted Masons. At nine o'clock a. m., Killington commandery, L. L. Pearsons, commander, Gen. L. G. Kingsley, marshal, and Rutland lodge, A. S. Marshall, worshipful master, proceeded in a body to the residence of the deceased, on Garden street, where the usual religious services were conducted by Rev. James Gibson Johnson, pastor of the Congregational church.

The exercises began with the reading of appropriate selections of scripture, after which Rev. Mr. Johnson delivered an exceedingly appropriate funeral address. The services were concluded with prayer in which the bereaved ones and the several fraternities with which the deceased was connected, were tenderly and fervently commended to God for consolation in the hour of their affliction.

The procession re-formed and proceeded to the railway station, where a special train was in waiting to take the funeral cortege over the Rutland and Washington railroad to Salem, N. Y. The engine Gen. Clark, one of the oldest upon the road and the last upon which the deceased performed service, was decorated with appropriate mourning emblems, George Downs, engineer, with two cars, formed the funeral train. At precisely half-past ten, the hour designated, the train left the depot under the direction of Charles W. Potter, conductor. Stops were made at Castleton, Poultney and Granville to receive members of the masonic fraternity, arriving at Salem at 12.30 o'clock. At this point another car was attached to the train containing the members of Salem lodge No. 391, and proceeded to Evergreen cemetery, some two miles below Salem. The procession was formed in the following order: Killington Commandery, Salem lodge, Rutland lodge, Rutland division of the Brotherhood of locomotive engineers, family and friends, and marched to the cemetery vault, where the concluding ceremonies were performed. The masonic burial service was fittingly and solemnly rendered by Albert S. Marshall, Master of Rutland lodge No. 79, of which the deceased was an officer, concluding with prayer by Rev. Mr. Thompson of Salem lodge, who officiated as chaplain. The remains were then deposited in the receiving vault. The funeral party returned to the cars, a brief stop was made at Salem to leave the members of the masonic fraternity, and then came directly to Rutland, arriving about five o'clock.

The services of the occasion were all appropriate, and fittingly performed, making a deep impression upon all who participated in or witnessed them. The masonic fraternity was largely represented. The Knights Templars presented a fine appearance and attracted much attention under the command of L. L. Pearson, commander. Center Lodge, No. 34, Rutland, was represented by Thomas C. Robbins, master; Morning Star Lodge, No. 37, Poultney, by Solon L. Ward, master; and Salem Lodge, No. 39, by R. M. Stevenson, master. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was represented by a delegation composed of C. S. Clapp of Bennington, Fred Littlefield, S. P. Holcomb, Moses Beach, George B. Alvord, Charles W. Silloway, John S. Grandley, Albert Pratt, Aaron Broughton and S. W. Hitchcock, each wearing a mourning rosette.

The general arrangements of the masonic ceremonies were under the direction of Henry Clark as marshal. B. W. Marshall, esq., was in charge of the family cortege.

Death in Fairhaven.

By a stupid blunder of a clerk in Kellogg's drug store, Mr. J. P. Perkins came to his death on Thursday evening. Mr. Perkins went into the drug store to purchase some valerian. The clerk gave him hellebore, of which Mr. Perkins took a teaspoonful. In a few moments he was a corpse. He was brother of the late Prof. Joseph Perkins of Castleton, about 40 years of age, a jeweller, unmarried, and a native of Bridgewater.

Lectures

Rev. C. M. Clark will begin a course of lectures at the Methodist church at Fairhaven on Sunday evening next. The first lecture will be entitled "How to obtain future happiness." The public are cordially invited to attend.

Shipments.

N. A. Litchfield & Co., of Hydeville, shipped to Europe, on Nov. 28, forty-two car loads of roofing slate, containing 1683 squares, consisting of purple, unfading green and sea green. This is one of the many shipments that this enterprising firm have contracts for, and we understand that their shipments are direct and not through any other concern.

The Shivering Victims

Of fever and ague, who freeze to-day to burn to-morrow, might have been exempted from their present trials had they availed themselves in time of that safeguard against all malarious diseases, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. But if it is too late for prevention, it is not too late for cure. A single bottle of this irresistible herbal tonic will stop the paroxysms, and a brief course of it will restore the patient to vigorous health. The prudent and thoughtful, however, who would rather forestall disease than wait for its assaults, will resort to this sure defence against intermittent and remittent fevers, at the commencement of the season when they prevail. Now is the time to forearm the system against fever and ague, bilious complaints and dyspepsia—diseases which are often engendered, and always aggravated, by the chills and damps of winter and early spring.

Our personal appearance is a matter in which our friends and acquaintances have a right to a choice whether we shall inflict upon them an exterior uncared for and unattractive, a countenance marred by a neglected grizzled beard, or a crown guiltless of covering, half covered, or thatched with white hairs, or whether we shall in deference to our fellows, pay due regard to our own persons and make them presentable and acceptable in society. There are many helps for those who desire to do this, and there are none among them more acceptable than Hall's Hair Renewer and Buckingham's Dye for the whiskers. Both these preparations are kept for sale at all our drug stores, and if any of our friends are looking a little the worse for wear, we advise them to make a note of it. —North Star, Danville, Vt.

A PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

HAMPTON'S INAUGURATION.

Little Rock in Flames.

A PRESIDENTIAL MESSAGE.

About Intimidation in Virginia.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14

The following is the president's message received by the senate to day:

To the Senate of the United States:

In answer to a resolution of the senate of the 6th instant, requesting information as to whether troops of the United States were stationed at Petersburg in the state of Virginia, on the 7th of November, 1876, and if so under what authority and for what purpose, I submit the inclosed letter from the secretary of war to whom the resolution was referred, together with the report of the general of the army and accompanying papers. These inclosures will give all the information called for by the resolution, and I confidently believe will justify the action taken. It is well understood that the presence of United States troops at polling places never prevented a full exercise of the franchise by any citizen of whatever political faith. If, then, they have had any effect whatever upon the ballot cast, it has been to insure protection to the citizen casting it in giving it to the candidate of his unbiased choice without fear, and thus securing the very essence of liberty. It may be the presence of twenty-four soldiers under the command of a captain and lieutenant quartered in the custom house at Petersburg, Va., on the 7th of November, at a considerable distance from any polls, without any interference on their part whatever and without going near the polls during the election, may have secured a different result from what would have been obtained if they had not been there (to maintain peace in case of riot) on the face of the returns. But if such is the case it is only proof that in this one congressional district in the state of Virginia legal and constitutional voters have been able to return as elected the candidates of their choice.

(Signed) U. S. GRANT.

Executive Mansion, Dec. 14, 1876.

The letter of the secretary of war is dated December 11th, and encloses the report of the general of the army and a communication with its enclosures received from the attorney-general. The letter of the latter encloses copies of papers on file in his office containing information which he says shows the necessity for sending troops to Petersburg on the day of election. Gen. Sherman's report says:

I have the honor to report that company B, Capt. Brecken ridge of the United States artillery, was posted at Petersburg, Va., from November 4 to November 13 when it was recalled to its proper station, Fort Foote, Maryland. To a more complete understanding of the case I will add that that on the second of November a gentleman came to me from the attorney general representing that there was reason to apprehend a breach of peace at Petersburg, and asking that a detachment of troops be sent there. You being then absent I saw Judge Taft in person and he advised that a company of soldiers be sent to Petersburg if practicable, and next day being in New York city I saw General Hancock in person, and after some inquiries as to the troops available I ordered him to send the above designated company to Petersburg to remain during the election of November 7th, and then to return to its post.

Enclosed with the report were affidavits, etc., relative to the necessity for troops at Petersburg, covering some thirty pages of manuscript. The first is the statement of Geo. N. Marble, to the effect that on the 25th of May he was engaged in a building a short distance from the polls distributing republican tickets, when an armed body of the opposition, with officers and marching in line, assaulted a few colored men in front of his building with clubs and stones, which they used without a semblance of mercy, besides shooting one man after knocking him down with a stone. Marble, who escaped at the beginning of the attack, was immediately arrested and carried before the judges of election who committed him to jail for inciting riot, without any hearing whatever. When brought before the mayor no one appeared to make complaint and he was discharged. He adds that he firmly believes the republican voters of the city will not go out at the fall election unless the government will furnish them ample protection by sending troops for that purpose.

Other affidavits in relation to outrages in May, and expressing belief that the presence of troops was necessary to protect republicans at the polls and which were made public about the time troops were sent to Petersburg, and letters from L. L. Lewis, United States attorney, and C. S. Ramsdell, United States marshal, are also appended. They relate to the same subject and also to a later disturbance of the 30th of October, when Messrs. Segar, Bell and Dezendorf were assaulted and a republican meeting broken up. Copies of Virginia newspapers and some printed copies of orders from the war department are also embraced in the inclosures.

South Carolina.

PLAN OF HAMPTON'S INAUGURATION.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.

A Columbia (S. C.) special says: The democrats have certified copies of the election returns from the clerks of the courts in every county in the state. Upon them the result will be declared, pursuant to the resolution passed by the democratic house yesterday to count the vote for governor and lieutenant governor at 2 o'clock p. m., to-day. Following quick upon the announcement will be the inauguration of Gov. Hampton. Judge T. J. Mackey of the sixth judicial circuit will administer the oath of office to the governor and lieutenant governor, in the absence of the chief justice of the supreme court of the state, who declines, on the ground that questions pertinent to the validity of the present state government are now pending before that tribunal. Mr. Hampton will then deliver his inaugural address, which is now in course of preparation.

HAMPTON INAUGURATED — AN EXCITING SCENE.

COLUMBIA, Dec. 14.

The inauguration of Hampton took place in front of Carolina hall this afternoon. The square in front of the hall was densely packed with persons of both races, and the housetops were covered with spectators. At 3.00 p. m. Gen. Hampton was escorted to the stand amid demonstrations of great enthusiasm. Members of the general assembly occupied the space immediately surrounding the stand, with a crowd in the rear. Gen. Hampton then read his

INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

He said he assumed the responsibilities of the high position to which the people had called him with feelings of the profoundest solicitude. He took the chief magistracy in time of profound peace when a legal officer had been resisted in the proper discharge of his duties. He said the people had witnessed the spectacle, abhorrent to every patriotic heart, of federal troops used to promote the success of a political party. After asserting the success of his party at the polls, he went on to state that it was sought to wrest the fruits of his victory by gigantic fraud and base conspiracy, and then proceeded to detail the meeting of the general assembly, stating that the members thereof were confronted by armed soldiers of federal government, their certificates passed upon by a corporal of the guard, and they debarred from the free exercise of their rights by the presence of armed force. Said he, you have seen the minority of the house usurp the powers of the whole body; you have seen the majority expelled from their hall by threats of force; you have seen persons having no shadow of claim as members admitted to seats by the votes of men who themselves were acting in direct violation of the constitution and you have seen the last crowning act of infamy by which the candidate for the office of governor, defeated by the popular vote, had himself declared elected by his co-conspirators. He entered solemn protests to that which he considered subversive of civil liberty and destructive of our form of government. Let us, said he, show them that the true interests of both races can be best secured by cultivating peace and promoting prosperity among all classes of our fellow-citizens. I rely on the support of the general assembly in my efforts to obtain these laudable ends, and I trust all branches of the government will unite cordially in this patriotic work.

At the close of the address the oath of office was administered by Trial Justice Marshall to Hampton as governor, and to W. D. Simpson as lieutenant governor, the crowd standing uncovered while the ceremony was being performed. The chair in which Hampton was seated was then wrapped in national colors and he was borne on the shoulders of a dozen men to his hotel escorted by the entire crowd. The congressional committee occupied a prominent position in one of the balconies of the hotel.

Florida.

A CHEEKY FRAUD.

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 14.

The congressional committee to-day discovered what is alleged to be the interpolation of seventy-two names in the poll list of a precinct in Leon county. This interpolation the democrats charge was made to cover seventy-two fraudulent tickets given minute size that were found in the box. The democrats charge that these tickets were hidden in the folds of regular tickets and thus smuggled into the box. It is charged that citizens fall to identify any of the seventy-two names. The republicans claim they can explain these fact satisfactorily to-morrow. The supreme court proceedings were stopped until Saturday next.

Louisiana.

SEIZURE OF THE COMMITTEE.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 14.

At a meeting of the congressional committee, to-day, Clover, supervisor of East Baton Rouge, who testified yesterday, was recalled by Gen Hurlbut. Clover submitted a copy of an affidavit, which accompanied his returns, showing riot, tumult, violence, fear, dread and terrorism throughout the parish on the day of election; did not witness any violence, but was informed of it by other persons. The affidavit accompanying the returns was prepared in the custom house in that city. Hugh J. Campbell assisted in preparing it. A number of witnesses were examined.

Little Rock Burning.

LITTLE ROCK, Dec. 14.

A fire broke out this morning in McCabe's ice house, and soon communicated to the adjoining hotel, and from there to the city hall, where the fire apparatus is kept. At 10.15 o'clock the water supply gave out, and it is feared the whole of Main street will be destroyed unless water is procured. The loss will reach $200,000. The telegraph wires run through the burning street and communication may be cut off at any moment.

A Bold Robbery.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, Dec. 14

About one o'clock this morning four masked men entered the dwelling of Wm. M. Ream at Somerset, compelled him to accompany them to his banking house and open the vault from which they took $10,-200. One of the robbers remained with Ream's wife to prevent her giving the alarm. The citizens are in pursuit of the robbers.

A Love-Cracked Murderer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.

Eugene Christ, a Frenchman, this morning shot three times, probably fatally, Mary Kelly, a girl of 17, who refused to marry him. He met her on the street and fired one shot into her back. After she fell Christ made no attempt to escape.

Big Verdict.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.

The libel suit of Struthers & Son, contractors for marble for public buildings vs. the Evening Bulletin, was concluded yesterday. Damages were claimed in $50,-000. The jury this afternoon brought in a sealed verdict for the plaintiffs, and assessed damages at one cent.

Large Fire.

AUGUSTA, Me., Dec. 14.

A fire broke out this morning in a store on Water street, and extended rapidly, sweeping away the houses on each side of that street from Hendee's photograph rooms to Robins' harness shop, and involving losses aggregating between $30,000 and $40,000, on which there is insurance amounting to about $2,000.

BUTTER.

NEW YORK AND VERMONT.

New York and Vermont—Fine fall lots per pound, 32@33c; extra dairies, 25@30c; good to choice dairies, 25@28c; common to fair, 18@22c.

REMARKS.

The receipts for the week have been 9,607 packages against 8,864 packages for the week corresponding last year, and 10,508 packages in 1874. The market has not changed materially since last week. Strictly fine fall lots of New York and Vermont continue scarce and readily command 30@33c ₩ lb, and some fancy lots go higher, but medium grades are in full supply and move slowly. Sales range from 24@28c ₩ lb, including fair to choice dairies, with a few extra quality at 29@30c. Choice western dairy packed sells as fast as it arrives at 25@28c ₩ lb, but this kind is in very light receipt, and most of the western butter is of a low grade, with sales ranging from 15@22c ₩ lb. The stock is not large for the season, and holders are not disposed to force sales but buyers continue to operate very cautiously and we see very little prospect of any improvement. We quote:—New York and Vermont—fine fall lots ₩ lb, 42@33c; extra dairies, 28@29c; good to choice dairies, 25@26c; common to fair 18@23c.

Receipts of butter in New York for the week were 24,978 packages; exports for the week, 930 packages. There was a sale of finest October creamery, 90 tubs together, at 36c. There were sales of single picked tubs for family use at 35@36c; and lines of choicest fall private dairy at 32@33c. Fall factory make of creamery butter is about gone, and is best sold before the holidays, while it has freshness and flavor. There were sales of fine Delaware and Chenango dairies, entire, at 31@32c; and we hear of one special fancy bringing 36c. Also, there were sales of several Oneida county long fine dairies at 30@31c, and lots of picked up odds and ends of various qualities. Welsh tubs sell at 26@27c and up to 28c; also a sale of a lot of poor odds and ends of Chatauqua county half tubs is noted at 21c, and light colored, flashy wintry made butter brought about the same prices. Navigation on the North river has closed. The market sums as bright and active for a sparkling, full-flavored fall butter, and for the finest entire dairies; but dull and slow sale for all kinds of middling style of stock, and almost no demand for a stale, or a cream whey ed, or a sour or rancid butter. We quote: Finest September and October creamery make, 36@40c; private dairy, finest fall, 33@36c; good to choice, 28@32c; winter made, common stock 26@28c; roll butter, 18@26c; middle and southern counties, entire dairies, fine, 20@23c; northern Welsh dairies, fine, 18@21c; New York state dairies, good to choice, 25@29c; western fresh mill butter, 20@24c; debris of the market 15@20c; grease 10@14c.

CHEESE.

NEW YORK AND VERMONT.

Vermont choice factory, 13½@14½c; fair to good 12@13c.

REMARKS.

The receipts for the week have been 4,631 boxes and 19½ tons. The market sustains a firm tone with a fair demand from the trade. Choice western and Vermont factory has been selling at 14@14½c ₩ lb, and holders are very stiff at the outside price. Fancy lots are held at 15c but buyers are not prepared to give this, except in a very small way. Fair to good lots range from 12@13½c and occasional common lots run down to 10@11c ₩ lb. We quote: Vermont, choice factory 14@14½c; fair to good 12½@13c; common 11@12c.

Receipts in New York for the week were 53,-041 boxes; exports 19,181 boxes; gold 107¾. There have been heavy receipts free exports and good confidence among holders. The calculation seems to be that the cheese factories opened late and closed early, thus cutting off the season's make at both ends and that the drouth in Canada and New York, together with the hot, dry summer in Europe, has resulted in a short crop. There are now, however, high ocean freights, lower gold and foreign exchange, and any advanced pretensions of price would undoubtedly lessen consumption. We quote: State factory, fancy September and October make, 14½@15c; prime, early make, 13@14c; fair to good, 12@13c; western, choice flat and Cheddar cheese, 13@14c; fair to good early make, 10@12½c; some off-flavored cheese 9@9c; skimmed, 6@8; state, farm dairy, fancy 11½@12½c; state, farm dairy, good to prime, 10@11c; state, farm dairy, fair to good, 9@10c; state, farm dairy, poor to fair, 7@9c; western fancy, September fancy, 12½@13c; western factory, good to fine 11@12c; western, factory, fair to good, 9@10c; western, factory, half-skimmed, 7@8c; western, factory, skimmed, 5@6c.

EGGS.

Eastern, 22@23c; Northern, 20@22c; Western, 17@20c.

VEGETABLES

BEANS.

The following are the Boston quotations for beans:

Choice medium $2 37½ to $2 50; Pea beans, $2 87½ to $3 12½; Yellow Eyes and Red Kidneys $2 37½ to $2 50.

REMARKS.

The Boston market is firm, and continue in demand.

ONIONS.

We quote sales at $1 75@2 00 per barrel.

REMARKS.

Market for onions in Boston are in fair demand.

POTATOES.

Early Rose, $1 05@1 10; Jackson Whites 95@$1 00; other kinds 70 to 85c.

REMARKS.

Potatoes in Boston have been in demand. Sweet potatoes are scarce and in normal demand.

WOOL.

Market quite firm for all kinds and prices continue to be well sustained, particularly for fish fleeces. The sales have not been to any extent, but are quite as large as could be expected. Most of the fine fleeces on the market are held above the views of buyers, and very little choice XX is offered under 40c ₩ lb. The sales comprise 275,000 lbs Ohio and Pennsylvania, X, XX and above, at 42@48c, mos ly from 46@48c ₩ lb; 35,000 lbs Michigan, New Hampshire and other fleeces at 35@45, mostly from 38½@40c ₩ lb; 100,000 lbs unwashed and unmerchantable fleeces at 25@35c; 125,000 lbs combing and delaine fleeces at 40@45c for washed, and 3 cents for unwashed; 200,000 lbs fall California at 18@20c; 20,000 lbs spring at 20c; 50,000 lbs super and X pulled at 32@35c; 25,000 lbs scoured at 42@72½c; 30,000 lbs tub washed at
