

breach of the peace cases. It is very evident that the officers intend to enforce the prohibitory law.

The Graniteville Base-ball Club played a one-sided game with the East Barre Club, at East Barre, on Saturday afternoon. The score was thirty to nine in favor of Graniteville. Any good club, wanting a game for any Saturday afternoon, should send their challenge to W. W. Scott, manager, Graniteville, and it will be promptly answered. The club has good grounds to play on, and all visitors will be courteously treated.

West Berlin. C. W. Keyes has painted his buildings. Mrs. J. R. Coffin of Northfield is stopping with her son James for a few days. Presiding Elder Beaman preached at the Methodist church last Sunday at half-past ten o'clock, after which he baptized four young ladies and two young men, and held a sacramental service.

Chester Turner was taken to the Asylum at Waterbury a few days ago. He has been in poor health for some time. His condition was such that Dr. Mayo and Kemp advised his removal to Waterbury. The Grange held its annual Children's day basket picnic last Saturday in Amos N. Chase's grove. Between forty and fifty spent a pleasant afternoon. A short program, consisting of recitations and music, was observed, after which a general good time was enjoyed.

BARROWS & PECK of Montpelier are agents for the Granite State Mowing Machine, the best mower the farmer ever used. Bradford. The ladies of the Congregational church gave a lawn party on the grounds near the church last evening. The trustees of the Bradford Public Library have just purchased a supply of the latest and best paper books.

T. A. Hanks purchased of L. W. Doe last week the large pair of gray horses. Tom thinks he has got about as good a team as there is in town. The strawberry season will be a short one on account of the lack of rain. Those having the largest fields say they will get only about half as many berries as last year.

While Frank Miller was at work at Cummings mill at South Corinth a slab fell from the mill, striking him on the head, and the right eye, making quite a cut and causing considerable pain. Miss Ida V. Woodbury spoke at the Congregational church last Sunday in the interest of the American Missionary Association. Her address was very interesting. She is an able speaker.

Mr. Hobbs of Pelham, N. H., was in town last week buying cows. He and M. G. Flanders bought twenty-one, which they will ship to market, together with an extra lot of hogs, sheep, etc. A republican caucus was held at the town house last Saturday evening, when the following delegates were elected to the Orange county convention: A. M. Banks, H. E. Parker, L. J. Brown, A. P. Worthen and Burr Wiswall. It was voted that the delegates choose their alternate on Sunday morning.

E. C. Woods and family of Concord, N. H., came to town last week to spend the summer with his wife's father, E. H. Welton. The youngest child, about eleven weeks old, was taken sick and died Sunday morning. It will be taken to Concord for burial. Mrs. Mary L. Robie, now of Morrisville, but formerly of Corinth, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. D. K. Andrews. She is a bright and intelligent lady of eighty years. Mrs. Mary Hatch of Lowell, a sister of Mrs. Andrews, has also been visiting at the Colons'. Newton I. Howard, a former resident of Bradford, who has lived in Iowa for the past few years, and who has been traveling extensively through the western states, is stopping with his sisters, Mrs. Lucy Smith and Mrs. Eastman, for a few weeks. He says he has not found a better state than Vermont, nor a pleasanter village than Bradford.

J. H. Benton, Jr., of Boston has published in pamphlet form his scholarly address delivered at the dedication of the Bradford Public Library, July 4, 1896, and has given the copy to the library. Mr. Benton is entitled to great credit for collecting and arranging, in such a concise form, so many interesting facts connected with the different library associations that have been formed in town. He brings out the fact that the first chartered library in the state was the Bradford Social Library, chartered in 1790, and the first free library, and gives short sketches of all the thirty-four signers of the petition asking for the charter. Mr. Benton attended school in Bradford when a boy, afterwards studied law in town and then enlisted in the Twelfth Vermont Regiment in 1863. He is now one of the foremost and successful lawyers in Boston and one of the trustees of the Boston Public Library. When W. B. Sly of Topsham went to his barn about four o'clock last Monday morning, he missed a yoke of oxen that he had left in the yard the night before. He began to look around and found that his cattle-chains were gone. In going to the pasture, two more pairs of oxen were missing. Taking another man with him, he started in pursuit and tracked them through West Newbury to Bradford depot, where he found them in the cattle-yard. A young man had brought the cattle, and a letter signed A. D. Nelson, Orange, to M. D. Flanders, telling him he had sent the cattle by his brother's son, and wished him to pay the young man what they were worth. Mr. Flanders mistrusted something wrong and questioned him sharply. It is supposed the young man became alarmed and took the nine o'clock train north, and when Mr. Sly arrived, a half hour later, he was not to be seen. Mr. Sly, of course, is glad to find the oxen, which he took home.

AMONG the enterprising firms of Bradford is that of Doe Brothers. They carry a somewhat varied stock of goods, and the country purchaser will find in their store many of the articles for which he would have to look among a number of other tradesmen. They carry a fine line of clothing, gentlemen's furnishing goods, boots and shoes for ladies and gentlemen, and ladies' garments. They also have a good stock of jewelry and do repairing in this line. They sell house furnishing goods, are agents for the Columbia and Hartford bicycles, make a specialty of bicycle repairs and keep a good assortment of bicycle suits. There are over 200 wheels in Bradford of many kinds. If a wheelman requires any article of bicycle furnishing, or repairs of any kind for his wheel, Doe Brothers will help him out. This firm has been in business ten years, its members are popular young men, enterprising and honorable, and the WATCHMAN cordially commends their establishment to the attention of the citizens of Bradford and this part of Orange county.

The young people of the Congregational church have chosen as their prayer-meeting committee for the next quarter Hattie H. Dearborn, Maud S. Merrill, Bessie C. Cloyes, Edwin I. Hibbard and Hope Sherman. Rev. B. B. Sherman is indisposed, and there was no preaching service at the Congregational church on Sunday. Mr. Sherman and family went to H. L. Bixby's on Monday, where we hope he may rapidly recover.

C. M. Davis has bought for $75 all the land south of the Methodist parsonage owned by Mrs. Dudley Cabot. Residents in this neighborhood congratulate themselves that this means the demolition of the old shop and the building of a new one, which has long been an eyesore. Nellie I. Bixby is again clerking for C. P. Dickinson. Edna M. Hutchinson and Lyle Tracy have been visiting in Montpelier, but return home on Sunday. Mrs. Archibald Mills, Archie C. Mills and Fred E. Atwood arrived at J. B. Atwood's on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Francis of Montpelier have been spending some days at Mrs. Dudley Cabot's. W. F. Davis and wife have gone to the Profile House, White Mountains, for the summer. Mrs. J. K. Darling and M. R. C. Stock attended commencement at Dartmouth last week. Erastus Smith visited in Hanover, N. H., last week. Mrs. B. A. Merrill and her daughter, Merrill have returned home from Winthrop, Mass., where they have been for several months. Dr. G. J. Helmer, osteopathist, arrived last week. He has rented the house at Mrs. Ira Hood's house, and will receive his patients there. He expects two assistants in a few days. Harry H. Goss made a parents' picnic right last week. Mrs. B. H. Lyon and two daughters of White River Junction are at Dr. A. B. Smith's. Charles L. Harris of St. Louis, Mo., is visiting in town. J. B. H. Goss. Five of the Gerardi family of St. Louis have arrived at H. S. Annis' for the summer, and others will follow later.

West Corinth. Whooping-cough prevails in town. Stillman Wiggins is quite sick and under the doctor's care. Charles Avery has recently lost a good horse, killed by a kick from another horse. Miss Sadie Humphrey closed her school on Friday. The closing exercises consisted of recitations, dialogues and music, vocal and instrumental. Many parents were present. The remains of Mrs. Lucy Gilman of East Havenhill were brought to this place last Saturday for burial. She was for many years a resident of this village, but, on account of failing health, eight years ago she went to East Havenhill to live with her children. East Corinth. Rev. A. M. Smith occupied the Universalist pulpit on Sunday afternoon and evening. Mr. Rowland has returned from school last Monday as he was coming from Walden last Monday with a load of feed. Seeing a shower approaching, he attempted to drive under the driveway of Nat. Burbank's barn, where he had the roof several inches higher, but his horses were not guided just right. He ducked his head, but his right shoulder struck the bridge, doubling him over, and the horses returned to his house. He was in that position, occupying a space of only six inches. At first it was thought his injuries were fatal, but no bones were broken, and he is now recovering as comfortably as possible under the circumstances. All the buildings of Kenneth Smith, on Danville Hill, were burned early last Thursday morning. Mr. Smith arose at about four o'clock, kindled a fire, and went out to pasture to milk. In a few minutes he looked toward his house and saw smoke coming out of the roof several inches higher, but his horses were not guided just right. He ducked his head, but his right shoulder struck the bridge, doubling him over, and the horses returned to his house. He was in that position, occupying a space of only six inches.
