Montpelier Daily Journal and Vermont Watchman.

Tuesday evening, October 6, the first number of the DAILY JOURNAL for the session of 1896 will be issued. This issue will contain the Biographical Sketches of the chief officers of the new State Government and of the members of the new Legislature, with much other interesting matter pertaining to the meeting of the General Assembly. The DAILY JOURNAL contains the official report of Legislative Proceedings. It contains, also, full reports of hearings before committees, and all other matters of interest about the Legislature. It is published at the close of each day's session, and has, consequently, the earliest, as it has always the fullest and most accurate, reports of everything connected with the General Assembly. The DAILY JOURNAL is, therefore, the first choice of Members of the Legislature, and is indispensable to all Vermont people who desire to have THE NEWS from the Capital.
