ONE CLUB WILL CHANGE

OTHERS IN MAJOR LEAGUES WILL RETAIN PRESENT MANAGERS.

St. Louis Americans Will Have New Man To Fill Place Of Jack O'Connor Dropped Last Fall—Fewer New Photos Than In Any Preceding Year Of League Ball.

New York, Dec. 14.—One of the interesting subjects of comment at the big gathering of baseball men here this week has been that relating to changes among the managers of the big league teams for the coming season.

As matters stand at present there will be only one new major league manager in the field when the curtain rises in April next for the season of 1911. The only certain switch will be made in the make-up of the St. Louis Americans, from whose management Jack O'Connor was dropped last fall.

The number of changes among the managers is small as compared with the records of former years. During the past eight years no less than 55 men have managed clubs in the National and American Leagues, the Nationals having had 26 and the Americans 29.

Patsy Donovan, who will again lead the Boston Americans, has had experience with the Pittsburgh and St. Louis Nationals, Washington Americans and with Brooklyn, New Hanlon, retired, held the reins over Baltimore, Brooklyn and Cincinnati, and Clark Griffith won a pennant, and Chicago, then tried to win for the New York Americans before landing a berth with Cincinnati.

Joe Kelly of Toronto, guided the Cincinnati team, dropped back into the Eastern, and jumped out again into the National at the helm of the Boston Club. Hugh Duffy went from Milwaukee in 1903 to the Philadelphia Nationals, and in 1907 drifted into the Eastern League at the head of the Providence Club, passing up to big league ranks two years ago as the manager of the Chicago Americans.

National League: New York, John McGraw; Cincinnati, Joe Kelly, Ned Hanlon, John Gange; Clark Griffith; St. Louis, Patsy Donovan, Charley Nichols, Jimmy Burke, John McGloskey, Roger Bresnahan; Pittsburgh, Fred Clarke; Philadelphia, Charley Zimmer, Hugh Duffy, Billy Murray, Charley Dooin; Boston, Al Buckenberger, Fred Tenney, Joe Kelly, Frank Bowerman, Harry Smith, Fred Lake; Chicago, Frank Selee, Frank Chance; Brooklyn, Ned Hanlon, Patsy Donovan, Harry Lummey, and Bill Dahlen.

American League: New York, Clark Griffith, "Kid" Elberfeld, George Stallings, Hal Chase; Philadelphia, Connie Mack; St. Louis, Jim McEleer, Jack O'Connor; Cleveland, Bill Armour, Nap Lajoie, James McGuire; Washington, Tom Loftis, Jake Stahl, Joe Cantillon, Jim McEleer; Detroit, Ed Barrows, William Armour; Chicago, Clark Griffith, Jimmie Callahan, Fielder Jones, Billy Sullivan, Hughie Duffy; Boston, Hmyr Collins, Chick Stahl, Bob Inglebaug, George Huff, Jim McGuire, Fred Lake and Patsy Donovan.

Trenkman Go To Princeton.

Brooklyn, Dec. 14.—Largely through the missionary work done by Ross McClare, the old Princeton player, who coached Adelphi this fall, the two Trenkman boys, easily the stars of the Adelphi team, have decided to enter Princeton this fall, and McClare asserts that both will eventually make the Tiger varsity. Fred Trenkman captained Adelphi this fall, and was generally picked as fullback for the Greater New York all-scholastic team. His brother Edward is equally efficient at tackle.

QUITS RED SOX.

Stahl Writes That He'll Stick To Banking Business.

New York, Dec. 14.—President John I. Taylor of the Boston Americans received a letter from Jake Stahl last night, dated Chicago, Dec. 11, in answer to a letter from the Boston magnate asking if he really meant to give up professional ball playing.

"I have fully decided to give up baseball," wrote Mr. Stahl, "and stick to the banking business, as I consider that it is my duty. I regret very much to part with the many friends that I have made in Boston and especially the officers of the club.

"Anything that I can do to help along the Boston Red Sox will be cheerfully done. I am only sorry that I could not help the club to gain a better position last season, and I will follow the Boston with as much interest as ever next season."

After reading the letter, Mr. Taylor said:

"The letter has the true ring, and I am convinced that Mr. Stahl has decided to quit. I am certainly very sorry for we all like Jake very much in Boston, and while we will suffer a great loss, no one can blame him for mapping out his own course. It's not always easy to secure a fine position in a bank. Boston will look about for some one to play the base."

FOREIGNERS ON TEAM.

Penn's Soccer Football Eleven Has Native of Other Countries.

Philadelphia, Dec. 14.—The Penn soccer football team, which will meet Harvard at Cambridge on March 25 in the first outdoor dual contest of any sort since the break of four years ago, is composed very largely of foreign students at the university. Of the regulars who played for Penn in the opening game with the Union Cricket Club Saturday afternoon, no less than nine were natives of England, Ireland, Scotland or Wales.

The Athletic Association has been more liberal than ever before this year to soccer, and for the first time the players are allowed the use of Franklin Field, but they have found the ground there is too soft and muddy during the winter months, and as a result the home games, including those with Yale and Cornell, will be played at Moorestown.

ABOUT THE BOXERS.

Digger Stanley, the English bantam-weight, is reported as on his way to America.

Another club in Boston would appeal to the followers of the glove game in this vicinity. It's the right season for the sport.

Like Abe Attell, Jim Driscoll is conceding much when he essays to report Freddie Welsh. According to the reports, Driscoll and Welsh will meet in 123 pounds, weighing at the ringside, Driscoll will not weigh more than 128 pounds.

The Abe Attell-Packey McFarland match seems to have been misplaced somewhere in New York. One promoter has Attell's word. Attell has always been a boxer of his word, but in this particular case he appears to be up against an snag.

At the next amateur show of the Armory A. A., Boston, there will be three special bouts. Eric Peterson of Rosindale will meet Reagan of East Boston in the 107-pound class; Nick Albanese, another East Boston production, will meet Cy Goodman of Boston at 115 pounds; Ed Flynn, a very promising 135-pounder, will meet Billy Corrigan of the Riverside Boat Club.

K. O. Brown, who has been out of the game for several weeks with a bad hand, will be ready to box again in the course of three weeks. Manager Danny Morgan conveys the information.

Johnny O'Keefe of Denver, who is coming east, will stop off at Akron Dec. 27 and box Lew Ruddy.

Jack Johnson has turned his mind to inventing labor-saving devices. He has also asked for a patent on a hydraulic lift.

George Green of San Francisco, the original "Young Corbett" is now a manager and the has "One-Round" Hogan in charge.

Jimmy Johnson, manager of Lew Powell of San Francisco wants to match Powell with Matty Baldwin. As the latter's hand is not right yet there will be nothing doing for awhile.

Scotty Coyne, manager of—hold! Scotty Coyne, the Manchester, N. H. bantamweight, has been matched to box Young Mac in the semi-final to the Bartley Connelly-Tom Sawyer match at Manchester, N. H. tomorrow night.

The unreasonable demands that stopped Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, from getting any bouts at Boston also has caused him to lose a chance to box "Montana" Dan Sullivan at Los Angeles. Flynn wanted 30 percent, win, lose or draw, and Promoter McCarrey scratched him. Sullivan is now on his way to Boston.

Cubans Like Evans.

Billy Evans has made as much of a hit with the Cuban fans as an umpire as have any of our star ball players as skillful fielders or mighty batsmen. The Cubans enjoy his work most when he is hustling to be in a position to best judge a play on the bases. Baseball thrives in its Cuban transplanted, like the tropical vegetation of the "Pearl of the Antilles."

Welsh-Driscoll Battle.

English boxing followers will have something attractive in the scientific end of boxing when Freddie Welsh and Jim Driscoll meet in a 20-round bout the 20th of this month. Each holds a decision over Abe Attell, America's best in the featherweight

BOSTON DOVES SOLD

W. H. RUSSELL AND L. C. PAGE HOLD MAJORITY OF THE STOCK.

Fred J. Murphy, a Minority Stockholder—Russell To Become President and Page Vice President—Fred Tenney Who Once Managed the Team Is To Lead It Again.

Boston, Dec. 14.—William H. Russell and L. C. Page of the Boston publishing house of L. C. Page & Co., became yesterday a partner of Mr. Russell in the transaction and will become a joint holder of the majority of the stock.

These two, with Fred J. Murphy of Winthrop, who is to become a minority shareholder, will make up the new directorate of the club. Mr. Russell is to become president and Mr. Page vice-president. Although not definitely announced, Fred Tenney, one time manager of the Boston team, will probably become manager again at an early date.

The announcement that the deal had practically reached its final stage was made yesterday afternoon at the club headquarters by Mr. Russell who was accompanied by Mr. Page and Mr. Murphy. Mr. Russell had already secured an option on the stock held by John P. Harris of Pittsburg and had deposited $25,000. Yesterday afternoon, after a conference with Mr. Page $25,000 additional was deposited in the American Trust Company. There remains to be paid $40,000, which will be available by Friday. The stock held by Harris amounts to 765 shares. Of this Harris himself has 570, the rest being held by Pittsburg men.

In addition to this stock Mr. Russell says that he has options on $9,500 worth now in the name of a Boston man. If he takes this up, as he expects to do, there will remain about 29 shares in the hands of minor stockholders outside the directorate, as he had acquired last summer 129 shares, which he purchased from Tenney.

Survival Of The Fittest. Tufts is not alone in danger of losing a major sport on account of financial difficulties. The advisory committee on athletics at New York University has proposed, in order to meet the situation, a plan for the survival of the fittest. Any sport that runs behind three successive years is to be dropped, and this not only will eliminate most of the minor sports, but will endanger the continuance of baseball at the university. The Athletic Association will vote on the question next Thursday. Naturally students and alumni are showing opposition.

Bright Prospects. Dartmouth had 42 men out for the varsity cross-country squad this fall, and 24 candidates tried for the freshman team. A hopeful outlook for future teams at Hanover, Dartmouth's Outing Club, with its weekly cross-country tramps on snowshoes, is not only encouraging healthful exercises but is providing an enjoyable off-season training for men who specialize in other forms of team sport.

Bezdek Gets His $1,000. Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 14.—The students of the University of Arkansas yesterday raised in 10 minutes the additional $1,000 necessary to retain Hugo Bezdek as varsity football coach next fall. Bezdek this year received the maximum amount permitted by the Athletic Association making it necessary for the balance to come directly from the student body.

Football Profitable. Lawrence, Kan., Dec. 14.—The treasury of the Kansas U. Athletic Association is $11,491.64 richer than it was at the beginning of the school year as the result of the football season of 1910. The total profit from the season is several thousand dollars less than the university's share of the receipts from the Thanksgiving game.

Hope Is Ready. Billiardists cannot get a rise out of Willie Hoppe by disputing the validity of his records, for he has not made any official claim to any. He is willing, however, to settle all disputes on the green table, and is open to meet any player at either 18.1 or 18.2 for any sized stake, winner take all.

Zbysko Defeats Roller. New York, Dec. 14.—Zbysko, the Pole, won two straight falls from Dr. B. F. Roller of Seattle in a wrestling match here last night, thus winning the bout.

class and it will be with great interest that the outcome of their match will be awaited in this country. Driscoll, it is said, is going back. It is a well-known fact that Driscoll was not in the best of health when last in this country, and his showing with Pal Moore was evidence enough that the Britisher was not at his best. Of the two English boxers Driscoll was the more popular in this country. His style was something after that of Abe Attell, but he had a way of executing his moves in a manner that made the boxing appear the simplest form of exercise. From a Boston standpoint Driscoll is a strong favorite.
