Freak Lightning at Greenland.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 27.—People of Greenland now know what freak lightning means and what it can do. A discharge of atmospheric electricity entered the house of Frank Rand and passed through eight rooms and the cellar, without starting a fire. Before entering the house it struck a tree close by. In the house, it tore off the plastering, broke mirrors, damaged furniture and moldings, and escaped through a screen door. Mrs. Rand, who was rendered unconscious, is still under the care of a physician. Her sister, who was lying on a couch at the time, was slightly shocked.

Street lamps were smashed during the night and Sunday boys entered several police stations and broke the windows and did other damage. Two hundred false alarms of fire have been sounded. An increase of $1.50 a week is demanded by the strikers. The city employs 340 policemen and 190 firemen. An arbitration board recently awarded the policemen an increase of $1 a week, and the firemen an increase of $1 a week for first year men and 75 cents for the others.

A Pertinent Query.

During the filming of a moving picture in England, the director said to the leading man, "Mr. Blank, I have borrowed a real live lion for this scene and it will pursue you for five hundred feet." "Yes," replied the director, "No more than that. Understand?" "Yes, I understand, but—does the lion?"—Boston Transcript.

Care of Furs.

When furs have been worn in rainy weather, shake the surface moisture off carefully and then hang the fur over a chair back as far away from a radiator as possible. It is better to hang the garments or the fur outside in the cold air, if at all possible, shaking them vigorously at occasional intervals.
