ESTEY ORGAN USED IN RADIOPHONE

Letters from All Over Country Indicate it Reproduces Beautifully—First Wireless Organ Recital.

In view of the great development in radiophone work the readers of this paper will be interested in the following excerpt from a letter dated March 11 from Lyon & Healy, Chicago, to the Estey Organ Co. relative to an Estey reed organ, two manuals and pedals, of the largest type of organs which the company builds. "It may be of interest to you to know that the style T-61 Estey organ, now functioning with the Westinghouse Radiophone company, is meeting with a great deal of success. Letters from all over the country indicate that the organ reproduces beautifully, and that the layman who listens over his wireless telephone cannot distinguish the quality of tone from that of a genuine pipe organ. The writer likewise has been requested to give an organ recital on the 20th of this month at 7:45 p. m. The program will include two numbers by Dubois and one by Ralph Kinder. Needless to say, every effort is going to be put forth to make it a successful appearance. So far as we know this will be the first organ recital given over the wireless telephone."

The Prince of Wales is also Earl of Chester, Duke of Cornwall, and, in the Scotch peerage, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick, Baron of Renfrew, and Lord of the Isles.

Originally the famous diamond mines of Kimberley, now controlled by one group of capitalists, were worked as 3,238 separate claims, each 31 feet square, with a seven-foot roadway between every pair of claims.

EMPLOYED WOMEN TO MEET MONDAY

Dr. Lucile Eaves of Boston Will Be Present to Explain Canvass Now Being Conducted Here.

The survey of gainfully employed women of Brattleboro, which was started a few weeks ago, is well under way, and work on individual schedules will be started next week, when Dr. Lucile Eaves of the town and from that start a stupendous task has been undertaken, which it is hoped will result in direct benefit features for employed women.

Information obtained through the survey and the filing of individual schedules will supply a foundation for additional studies needed in order to plan intelligently for a benefit project which may be worked out later. Such schedules also may be useful if the club develops plans for assisting unemployed members. It is hoped also that ultimately a card catalog of members, showing the business experience and other data, may be prepared. Such a complete registration of services which may be obtained from local women would be of great value both to the club members and to the Brattleboro employers.

Miss Fressa Baker and Miss Beatrice McConell, who are working under Dr. Eaves as director of the survey, have been here since Feb. 9 and have copied payroll records of many employers in order to make possible tabulations of annual earnings and the amount of lost time due to illness or periods of unemployment. When these figures are combined in statistical tables a complete picture of the productive services of the employed women of Brattleboro can be presented.

A meeting of all employed women in Brattleboro will be held at 8 o'clock Monday evening in the club rooms of the Brattleboro Y. W. C. A. and Professional Women's club, when Dr. Eaves will be present to explain the purposes more fully.

THE BRIDGE BUILDER

An old man, traveling a low highway, Came at the evening cold and gray, To a chasm deep and wide.

The old man crossed in a twilight dim, For the sudden stream held no fear for him. For he turned when he reached the other side, And builded a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," cried a fellow pilgrim near, "You are wasting your strength with building here. Your journey will end with the ending day, And you never again will pass this way. You have crossed the chasm deep and wide. Why build a bridge at eventide?"

And the builder raised his old gray head, "Good friend, on the path I have come," he said, "There followeth after me today A youth, his feet will pass this way. This stream which will be naught to me, To that fair-haired boy may a pitfall be. He, too, must cross in the twilight dim, Good friend, I am building this bridge for him."—The Nation's Business.

MISS KENNEY'S BAIL RAISED TO $20,000

Unable to Raise It and Probably Will Stay in Jail Until July

RUMOR OF ANOTHER ARREST IN CASE

Alleged She Forged Note and Check for $1,200 Each on Greenfield Savings Bank—Larceny Charges Total $22,471.35—Still Examining Books.

GREENFIELD, Mass., March 16.—Following the indictment of Miss Elizabeth Kenney of Northfield by the grand jury on 24 counts, continuance of her case until the July sitting of superior court yesterday, bail was increased to $20,000, the court fixing $10,000 as the sum on each indictment. Following arraignment the young woman was taken back to Franklin county jail. She will stand trial at superior court at the July sitting.

A rumor at the court house yesterday afternoon was to the effect that another arrest might be made. Another outstanding feature in yesterday's events was the replacement of Attorney Milton L. Davis of Springfield by Attorney Frank J. Lawler of Greenfield as Miss Kenney's counsel.

The forged and uttering indictments contained eight counts as follows: 1. Forging a promissory note of $1,200 on the Greenfield Savings bank, purporting to be signed by Elizabeth E. Kenney, Warren J. Wright and Phineas T. Wright, his brother. 2. For uttering above note. 3. For forging a check of $1,200 on the Greenfield Savings bank, signed by the treasurer, William F. Aiken. 4. For uttering the above check. 5. For forging signature to a check for $96, signed by Warren J. Wright and payable to Amos Richter. 6. For uttering the above check. 7. For forging indorsement on a check signed by Warren J. Wright and made payable to William Dresser. 8. For uttering the above check.

The second indictment was for larceny covering 16 counts as follows: 1. From town of Northfield, $5,571.35. 2. Same, 10,000.00. 3. Greenfield Savings bank, 1,200.00. 4. Warren J. Wright, 500.00. 5. Same, 500.00. 6. Same, 600.00. 7. Same, 300.00. 8. Same, 300.00. 9. Same, 500.00. 10. Same, 500.00. 11. Phineas T. Wright, 500.00. 12. Same, 500.00. 13. Same, 600.00. 14. Same, 300.00. 15. Same, 500.00. 16. Same, 300.00.

Efforts are now being made to secure bail for Miss Kenney. When the amount was fixed at $10,000 none could be found who were willing to go her bond. With the amount doubled it is assumed by officials working on the case that Miss Kenney stands in a fair way of remaining in jail until July. Northfield, where the young woman worked for eight years in the treasurer's office, has plainly shown her that bail will not be forthcoming from that town. Her relatives have thoroughly canvassed the scene of her alleged delinquencies and none have offered to aid in securing her release from jail.

State Auditors Fenton and Dine, who are still working on the books of former Treasurer Warren J. Wright of Northfield, in an attempt to find out just how much money is missing, have discovered that the amount already exceeds $25,000. Mr. Wright, in filing an attachment on Miss Kenney's property, named that amount, but it is now believed that the original figure of $15,000 as the amount embezzled, will be largely increased when all the facts are known.

DR. SMIRNOW ON OUTDOOR THEATRES

Gives Illustrated Lecture Before Women's Club—Two Appropriations for Benevolent Work.

From 75 to 100 members attended the regular meeting of the Brattleboro Women's club at Odd Fellows temple yesterday afternoon, when Dr. Louis Smirnow of Bridgeport, Conn., read an illustrated lecture on "The Outdoor Theatre and Its Future in America." The lecture was preceded by two selections by the club chorus, when Mrs. Glenham Jones accompanied and Miss Izetta M. Stewart as director.

The meeting opened with a business session, in which the club voted to appropriate $25 for a Y. W. C. A. scholarship and $25 to equip a bed at the Kinstead Shelter Home for dependent children at Montpelier. A nominating committee, to prepare a list of officers for presentation at the annual meeting in May, was elected, consisting of Mrs. Fred W. Hall, Mrs. William H. Richardson and Mrs. Frederic C. Adams.

This president, Mrs. Charles A. Strickney, announced that instead of the luncheon at the time of the annual meeting in May, when Mrs. Slayton, state president, will be present, there would be a high noon dinner at the annual musicale of Brattleboro chapter, D. A. R., this evening in the Centre Congregational church, at the exhibit of Brattleboro handwork, which will be an display in the Brooks House parlor tomorrow afternoon by Mrs. Foster Stearns of Constantine.

Mention was made of a demonstration of electrical working appliances, which will be given April 4 by Prof. Allen of Boston for the benefit of the Brattleboro Business Institute. It is planned to start the series March 28. Persons interested should consult Mr. Goodard, Mrs. W. J. Riggs, chairman of the program committee, who announced that the speaker for the next club meeting, April 5, would be Dr. Charles E. Dalton of Burlington, secretary of state board of health, whose subject will be Federal and State Health Problems.

After selections by the club chorus the president introduced the lecturer, whose subject was "The progress of the outdoor theatre in Greece in the early ages, showing pictures of ruins of old theatres which have been brought to light by excavations, and traces of the theatre from those beginnings up to the present time, when the outdoor theatre again is coming into its own. The slides not only reproduced the fruit of excavations, but showed the progress of the enclosed theatres and many of the new outdoor theatres in California and other sections of this country. His pictures also showed the simplicity of the basis of the ancient Greek drama, but that those of the present time. The three kinds of outdoor theatres, those of classical or Greek architecture, the natural theatre, and the modern theatre.

In the course of his lecture, Dr. Smirnow stated that research had revealed that every kind of play was presented in the earlier ages, from the Shakespearean classics to the ballet d'opera, but that in all the earlier productions the cooperation of the audience was essential to a marked degree because of the fact that there was no change of scenery, this necessarily meaning that imagination must be vivid.

TEAM MANAGERS MUST NOT SMOKE

Rule Adopted by High School Athletic Advisory Council—Baseball and Tennis Discussed.

At a meeting of the Brattleboro high school Athletic Advisory Council last evening plans for the baseball and tennis seasons were discussed, the need of new baseball equipment was investigated, and several new athletic rulings were proposed and adopted. Twelve members of the council were present.

Howard Page outlined plans for the baseball and tennis seasons, and the council voted to ask Fred H. Harris to coach the Brattleboro high school team this year. A committee consisting of four members of the council was appointed to investigate the needs of the high school baseball team regarding new equipment.

A member of the council suggested that a new clause be proposed for addition to the Vermont Headmasters' athletics rules providing that no pupil participating in any form of athletics who entered a high school after he had completed one or more years in any other high school, would tend to prevent a pupil from changing his school, study for the better, bettering his position in regard to athletics.

A new rule that the managers of all the athletic teams of the Brattleboro high school shall not smoke during the training season of the team also was proposed and adopted.

LENO HELD FOR COUNTY COURT

Judge Stowe Fixes Bail at $500 in Stratton Case

INVOLVES GIRL 17 YEARS OF AGE

Brother Surrendered by Bondsman in Case Involving Same Girl—Both Brothers Now in Brattleboro Lockup—Will Be Tried at Newfane.

The Leno brothers, Gardner and Ernest, of Stratton were in the municipal court yesterday afternoon, Gardner being under arrest charged with placing Laura Moulton of Wardsboro in the custody of Jack Howard of Stratton for immoral purposes, and Ernest having been surrendered by Attorney C. S. Chase, who became his bondsman in the sum of $1,000 a year ago in connection with an alleged offense with the same Moulton girl, who will be 18 years old April 28. Both brothers were brought here from Newfane jail by Sheriff Frank L. Wellman, Gardner Leno having been held there to await yesterday's hearing and Ernest Leno having been placed in jail Feb. 18 in default of bail of $1,000 for trial in county court on the charge of criminal assault on Della Cobb, 15, of Wardsboro Feb. 8.

State's Attorney Harold E. Whitney, who preferred the charges, appeared for the state yesterday afternoon at the hearing, which was to determine whether Gardner Leno should be held for trial at the April term of county court. Judge F. D. E. Stowe assigned Attorney Chase to defend Leno, and he asked Attorney E. W. Gibson, who was counsel for Ernest Leno in the Cobb case, to assist him. The question arose as to whether Attorney Gibson was counsel for Gardner Leno, the court stating that if he was the assignment of Attorney Chase at the expense of the state would be rescinded. Attorney Gibson said he was a member of a committee of American Legion men to see that the rights of former service men charged with crimes were protected, but was not retained by anybody as counsel for Gardner Leno further than that Attorney Chase had asked him to assist in the case.

The state charged that on Nov. 17, 1921, Gardner Leno placed Miss Moulton in Jack Howard's keeping for immoral purposes. The defense put in no evidence and claimed that the evidence of the prosecution did not indicate immorality under the statute, there being no Vermont statute against the conduct which the state's evidence showed. State's Attorney Whitney contended that the evidence plainly showed a violation of the law and he asked that the respondent be held for county court under bonds of $1,000. Judge Stowe stated that the case involved an interpretation of the statute, and he continued the case until Friday morning. Both brothers were taken to the Brattleboro lockup, Judge Stowe having notified the county that he had reached a decision, so the respondent was taken into court and Judge Stowe said he had decided to hold Leno for trial in county court. He fixed bail at $500, which Leno could not furnish and so was taken back to the lockup.

Freeman E. Luzzelle of Wardsboro, guardian of Miss Moulton, was the first witness, but was asked only a few questions. He said the girl worked for Dr. O. V. Hefflon of Wardsboro at the time of the alleged offense. She knew Leno but had rejected him, the witness said. "The girl testified that she had known Leno several years. She said one night in November he put a ladder up against Dr. Hefflon's house, climbed through her bedroom window and threatened to shoot her if she did not go with him. She said she was afraid as he had a revolver in his pocket. He remained until she dressed and then took her to Jack Howard's, where she was kept for a week. Mrs. Boyd said she was his wife, she stayed there two weeks, Leno coming there every night. Then he took her to Wilmington to the home of his sister, Mrs. Boyd, where he stayed a week. Mr. Luzzelle came after her after Mrs. Boyd had written him that she was there.

A cross-examination by Attorney Gibson, the girl said she recalled nothing out of the way at Howard's and thought it a better place to stay than at Boyd's. She said she wrote Leno six or seven letters while living at Dr. Hefflon's, also received letters from him.

Attorney Gibson showed the girl several letters which she admitted writing to Leno. They were of an endearing nature and in one, after Leno, written Oct. 24, was the sentence, "I hope you will be my loving husband." In another letter written at Howard's she asked Leno to take her to a dance in South Londonderry. In response to a question whom Howard said was his wife, she stated there two weeks, Leno coming there every night. Then he took her to Wilmington to the home of his sister, Mrs. Boyd, where he stayed a week. Mr. Luzzelle came after her after Mrs. Boyd had written him that she was there.

State's Attorney Whitney declared that the letters were immaterial as they constituted no defense.

Sheriff Wellman testified that he once had a warrant to serve on Howard for New Hampshire parties, charging him with statutory offense. This was brought out as tending to show the character of Howard.

And She Did. "And why are you writing 'personal' on that envelope?" "I want the man's wife to read the letter."—Chicago Herald and Examiner.
