DANIELS PRESENTS FUEL SITUATION

Says Consumers Ought Not to Pay Over $15 for Cord of Wood

THAT MORE THAN DEALERS WOULD PAY

At That Figure Wood Should Be No. 1 Rock Maple Dried Under Cover— Thinks Coal Dealers Will Be Able to Meet Reasonable Needs.

"We are making no attempt to fix the price of wood, but we don't think people ought to pay more than $15 for a cord of wood that is a full cord, and that price is probably $3 more than the dealers in wood themselves would pay for it. Fifteen dollars a cord is all that you should pay, and we mean for a No. 1, good, hard rock-maple wood, dried under cover. That's a lot of wood that comes into Brattleboro that's worth only $12 and $10 a cord and many of these cords are only three-quarters of a cord. Through the state's attorney, we're going to insist that a cord must be a cord."
