There are also many fields prepared for other sports. The photograph shows a member of the battleship Pennsylvania's team opposing a strong U. S. S. Arizona pitcher.

BATTER GETS NO ADVANTAGE

Averages Will Not Climb Because of Elimination of Spitter, Says Captain Killefer.

Ball players who figured their batting averages are going to climb because of the abolition of the spitter are doomed to disappointment, chirps Wade Killefer, manager of the Los Angeles club. Killefer says the player who doped out a 20-point advance on his batting average because of the absence of the saliva slant is figuring the same way Professor Porta did when he thought the world would come to an end. "Batting in the American association did not boom up as strong last year as in former seasons," Killefer said. "Without the wet spot on the ball the game is a better fielded affair. Without errors there are less men to face the pitcher and there will be no more pitchers' duels."

UNION BOAT CLUB IN HENLEY

Boston Organization Intends to Send Another Crew for Try at Grand Challenge Cup.

This was made known by an onrman who has returned from Boston. It appears that the Unions have already made arrangements for the crew and the entry will be certified and forwarded to the Henley stewards at the proper time. If the Unions persist in their efforts it would not be surprising if Harvard university made another trial to have her name engraved on the famous rowing trophy.

ANOTHER BABE DISPOSED OF

Boston Red Sox Let Go of Son of Catcher Charley Gansel—Looks Like Real Player.

The Boston Red Sox have disposed of another Babe. This one is Babe Gansel, the young son of the late Charley Gansel, the catcher. The youngster has been released to the Toronto Internationals. He can play first base or the outfield and in his workouts with the Red Sox last year looked like a real ball player.

JOCKEY HANDLES AND RIDES HIS OWN NAGS

Incidentally He Is Oldest Rider at New Orleans Track.

Usual Worry as to Who Will Pilot Race Horses Is Eliminated With Owner Tullet, Who Performs That Task Himself.

An unusual incident occurred at the Jefferson Park track at New Orleans the other day when H. Tullet rode Sunday Lad to victory. The fact that the horse won was no feature. It is the jockey around which the interest centers.

"Owner H. Tullet, Trainer H. Tullet, Jockey H. Tullet."

These are the ways that "Ikey" Tullet can be addressed. He is the owner, trainer and rider. Incidentally he is the oldest jockey there. He is over the 40-year mark, and he expects to ride for a long time to come, he says. All the bills that "Ikey" has to pay in connection with his stable are for feed and incidentals, and he does not have to worry as to whether the "help" will show up or not to perform their daily tasks.

The usual worry of owners as to who will ride their horses is eliminated with him, as he pilots them himself. He saves the jockey's fees thereby, and to his credit it must be said that he rides as good a race as many of the younger generation of pigskin artists.

If "Ikey's" stable is not a success it is nobody's fault but his own, and he has no alibi to offer. He seldom accepts outside mounts, as he rides for himself five or six times a week and he considers that a pretty good week's work for a rider of his age. Among his possessions now is Fritz, which raced with much success at the fair grounds in his early two-year-old form last winter.

NOTES of the DIAMOND

Hank Gowdy wants more money to play with the Braves.

Kid Gleason is hoping Urban Faber will show a return to his 1917 form.

Joe Judge writes that he is keeping in good condition hunting in New England.

Jim Thorpe, formerly of the Braves, is still ranting that he won't play in the minors.

Jack Coombs will get the Detroit pitchers in 'condition if any one can do the job.

Roger Peckinpaugh expects to be a big factor in winning the 1920 pennant for the Yanks.

The Phillies are slated to start for their training camp in Birmingham, Ala., on March 7.

Cosy Dolan, former big leaguer, will boss the St. Joseph club of the Western league this year.

Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, is opposed to legislation doing away with freak deliveries.

Tex Westerall, third baseman, will be held captain of the 1920 Portland Beavers in the Pacific Coast league.

The Yanks are still scouring the majors for a slugging outfielder. They have only two now in Ruth and Lewis.

Eddie Cicotte will be the malcontent of the White Sox pitchers again this season, in the opinion of Kid Gleason.

The Yankees have such a big squad of pitchers that Miller Huggins could lose a few of them and never notice it.

New York fans would be tickled if McGraw landed Roger Hornsby to play third base instead of Heinie Zimmerman.

The industrial leagues promise to make it hard for the minors to grab players up to the standard of other years.

Mike Menosky is figuring on having a big year with the Red Sox. Mike didn't do so very bad with the stick last season.

Charley Risberg's reported decision to retire from baseball for the restaurant business is not being taken seriously in Chicago.

The success of Uhle, the Cleveland sand lot pitcher, has led Tris Speaker to look for more talent in the Cleveland semi-pro ranks.

Benny Kauff, of the Giants, says he is going to turn boxing manager. That is an easier way to get money than by playing ball.

The 1920 championship campaign in the Pacific Coast league will get under way on April 6 and will continue for 28 weeks, closing close to November 1.

The Syracuse club of the International league has signed the veteran Ambrose McConnell, who managed Petersburg in the Virginia league last season.

UNABLE TO IDENTIFY MUMMY

London Officials in Something of a Quandary as to Disposition of "Old Jimmy."

One of London's problems at the present hour is what to do with a mummy that lies at the back of the Mansion house in one of the oldest churches of that ancient city. No one knows where it came from, and the local element around the Mansion house describe it as "Old Jimmy—a former lord mayor of London." The rector is in a quandary over its disposal. The figure is perfectly preserved; eyes, hair, nose, teeth, nails and ribs.

Inside the door of the mummy's box is a glass lid, which was removed a few days ago for the first time for many years. The mummy was covered with cobwebs, but was still in good condition. "It feels like leather," said an onlooker as he touched "Old Jimmy's" elastic ribs. The rector invites suggestions from the public as to what to do with the mummy. The mystery as to its identity arises from the fact that during the great London fire in 1666, it was hurriedly removed from another church, and placed where it now lies so as to escape the ravages of the conflagration.

Precise Private.
In one of our camps, just before our entrance into the war, an officer was making a round of inspection when he came upon a big, round-eyed private with red hair and a gun that he held in anything but the approved fashion.

"Don't you know better," demanded the officer, "than to point an empty gun at me?"

"But it ain't empty, sir," protested the private. "It's loaded!"—Philadelphia Ledger.
