Republican State Ticket.

- For Governor, URBAN A. WOODBURY, Of Burlington. For Lieutenant-Governor, ZOPHAR M. MANSUR, Of Brighton. For State Treasurer, HENRY E. FIELD, Of Rutland. For Secretary of State, CHAUNCEY W. BROWNELL, Of Burlington. For State Auditor, FRANKLIN D. HALE, Of Lunenburg. FOR REPRESENTATIVES IN CONGRESS: FIRST DISTRICT, H. HENRY POWERS, of Morrisville. SECOND DISTRICT, WILLIAM W. GROUT, of Barton.

The State Ticket.

As was long ago predicted the State convention last week placed at the head of the Republican ticket Urban A. Woodbury of Burlington. That the convention made a wise choice is admitted by all. Mr. Woodbury is a progressive Vermonter. Early in the sixties he enlisted in the war for the Union and after a faithful service there, giving his right arm to the nation, he returned to Vermont and ever since has been identified with everything pertaining to the growth and development of our State. Successful in his private business he has not, as is very frequently the case, hoarded his money, but has given liberally to numerous enterprises, which but for this financial aid and his personal assistance would have been failures. In all of the various public positions to which he has been called he has served faithfully and well, and in the position which he will soon occupy, the highest in the State, will he make a successful and honorable record. While not a native of this county, yet here where he spent his boyhood days and early manhood is held in high regard, and as a manifestation of this esteem "Spunky Lamoille" will roll up an old time majority for him in September next.

For the second place on the ticket the honor is conferred upon one who is a man of ability, integrity and upright Christian character. Zophar M. Mansur of Island Pond, like Col. Woodbury, when but a youth entered the army and he, too, laid an arm upon the nation's altar. Returning home he has devoted his time to various callings, and in all of them has rendered a faithful and true account of his stewardship. Experience in both the House and Senate especially fits him for the second place in the State's official list.

The remaining offices, Secretary of State, Treasurer and Auditor, are all filled by men of ability and character, and in the re-nomination of each of these, Messrs. Brownell, Field and Hale, have the Republicans shown wise and excellent judgment. An exceptionally strong ticket is placed in the field, and there is not the least doubt but that every county in the State will give it a rousing vote, and a majority equal to if not exceeding that in 1888, when it gave the ticket 28,000 majority, may be expected.

The attempt on the part of a few at the recent State convention to be little a candidate because he happened to come from a county in which another State officer resided, was emphatically squelched, as it ought to be. If the best men for the entire State ticket all live in the same county we see no reason why they should not be selected. We do not believe location should have first consideration—it should be the man first, location afterwards. In this connection we wish to express our disapproval of the so-called mountain rule. The custom of seeing back and forth over the mountains is ridiculous. Pick the best men, no matter in what portion of the State they may happen to reside, and the ticket will be stronger and better.

The "Burlington Daily News" is the name of Burlington's new evening daily. It made its first appearance Saturday evening. It is an attractive six-column folio, well edited and containing a good gist of local and miscellaneous news. Joseph Auld, formerly of the Free Press, is at the head of it. It is worthy of, and will doubtless receive, a liberal patronage.

That summer has come in earnest is the prevailing opinion.

To be sure Lamoille county is highly gratified with the unanimous re-nomination given her distinguished son, H. Henry Powers, for Congress. The Judge is known up and down the State as a faithful and efficient representative and during the time already served in Congress has won an enviable reputation. He is regarded by the House as a strong member and the fact that he is the only New England representative given a position upon the Judiciary Committee—one of the most important in Congress—shows that his legal ability is appreciated by that body. No district in the Union is better represented in Congress than the first Vermont.

The re-nomination of Gen. GROUT for member of Congress from the 2nd district was a foregone conclusion. Gen. GROUT has served his district well and faithfully and has kept an eye out for all interests pertaining to the State's welfare. This is his sixth nomination from the second district, and adding to this one term served from the old third, the General breaks the record, being the first member of Congress from this State who has had seven nominations or served over twelve years in that body.

The St. Johnsbury Republican thus early takes a step in the right direction in its advocacy of free text books. This matter, which has been before the Legislature several times, had strong support at the last session and ought to become a law this fall. Vermont usually leads in educational matters, but in this direction it is slow. She will come to it, however, sooner or later.

Col. Woodbury's allusion in his speech before the convention last week that thirty-three years ago that very day he enlisted in the war for the Union, elicited a round of hearty applause. It was a very pleasant observance of the anniversary of that event—not only to the Colonel himself but to all patriotic Vermonters.

The Brattleboro Reformer suggests V. A. Bullard of Underhill for chairman of the Democratic State committee. "Vern" is a Lamoille county boy, full of pluck and activity, and might infuse some new life into the Democracy—although we must confess that just now this is a pretty difficult job.

The Lexow police investigation now going on in New York attracts attention from all parts of the United States. The powerful hold Tammany has upon that city is astonishing. It is estimated that $15,350,000 a year is paid to Tammany to buy protection from the New York police.

We publish elsewhere an article on "French Governments" from a late issue of the Youth's Companion, which is especially interesting now that all eyes of the civilized world have been directed to that country by the recent murder of its President.

Lamoille county was well represented at the State convention last week. Twenty-six of the twenty-eight delegates allotted to the county were present, and a more dignified and better looking body of men than these were not present.

Just a trifle early to mention it, but we venture the assertion, nevertheless, that Col. Woodbury's successor in 1896 will be a farmer and soldier combined and Josiah GROUT will be his name.

The Treasury gold reserve is down to $67,000,000, which is $33,000,000 less than the figures at which the Republican party when in power maintained it, and below which it should not fall.

It is now thought that the tariff bill will be through the Senate in a few days. The contest will then be transferred to the House and to the Committee of Conference.

Homer W. Vall's canvass for the Lieut.-Governorship was a clean one throughout. He failed to receive the nomination but has to-day more friends than ever before.

A tariff which robs the millions of farmers and workmen in order to enrich a few monopolies like the sugar trust is not what the country wants.

No danger of a quarrel in the Democratic caucus in the Oregon House. There was just one Democrat elected in the recent State election.

ASSASSINATED.

CARNOT, PRESIDENT OF THE FRENCH REPUBLIC, SLAIN BY AN ANARCHIST. M. Marie Francois Sadi-Carnot, who was elected President of the French Republic in December, 1887, was assassinated Sunday evening in Lyons by an Italian Anarchist, Cesare Giovanni Sante. President Carnot arrived in Lyons Saturday to visit the exhibition of arts, sciences and industries, and intended to remain over Tuesday.

He was accompanied by Gen. Borius, chief of his military household, most of his other household officials, Premier Dupuy, M. Burdeau and other members of the cabinet.

He was received enthusiastically at the station by the mayor. Cheering crowds filled the street, and gave the President such a welcome as he had seldom received. There was a luncheon at the hotel, and in the evening a dinner at the prefecture. From the balcony of the prefecture the President reviewed a large torchlight procession, which was followed by fireworks and illumination.

Sunday the President and his party paid a state visit to the exhibition. Afterward the President held a reception at the prefecture. He planned to go to the Grand Theatre, on the place de la Comedie, in the evening.

President Carnot had already entered his carriage when the attack was made upon him by Sante. He had partaken of refreshments at the Chamber of Commerce, and the procession which had escorted him from the exhibition had been re-formed in the Place Des Crodielles and had started for the Grand Theatre, where a gala performance had been arranged in his honor.

The carriage had hardly more than started along the Rue de la Republique amid the acclamations of the thousands of spectators and President Carnot was acknowledging the enthusiastic greetings of the people. In front of the Credit Lyonnais a man suddenly ran forward to the carriage, jumped to the step and stabbed the President to the heart with a dagger, which he had concealed under his coat.

An eye-witness who was walking abreast of the President's carriage with Adrien Dupuy, the Premier's brother, says that as the President's carriage approached the Credit Lyonnais his own attention was attracted by a great disturbance in the front line of the crowd. He then saw the carriage stop. The President had fallen back against the cushion and his face had become livid. An outcry was raised at once. Hundreds shouted that an attempt upon the President's life had been made and the crowd seemed suddenly to go mad with excitement. Meanwhile the assassin had been felled to the ground with a blow by M. Rivaud, prefect of the Rhone. He was surrounded by an angry crowd and cries of "lynch him" were heard on all sides. It was only with the greatest difficulty that the police were able to protect him from the fury of the people. In fact, had not a number of mounted guards surrounded and protected the police on their way to the station, the prisoner would have been taken from them and beaten to death.

At 11:30 Sunday evening the surgeons at the prefecture issued this bulletin: "The President's condition is alarming, but not hopeless. The wound is in the region of the liver. The hemorrhage, which at first was very copious, has now ceased." A little more than an hour later the President was dead.

President Carnot is the first ruler of France who has fallen by the assassin's hand for nearly three centuries. The murder of King Charles IV by Francois Ravallac in 1610 was the last instance of regicide in that country. Curiously enough, the circumstances of this earlier case very closely resemble those of the murder of President Carnot. In both crimes the weapon used was a knife, Ravallac, like Sante, jumping on the step of the carriage to strike a deadly blow at his victim.

THE PRESIDENT'S CAREER. Marie Francois Sadi-Carnot, fourth President of the French republic was born at Limoges, France, August 11, 1837. He was the eldest son of ex-Minister Hippolyte Sadi-Carnot, of 1847, who died in 1888, and was the grandson of Lazare Carnot, known as the organizer of victory.

The late President was an engineer by profession and entered the Ecole Polytechnique in 1857. In 1871 he was appointed prefect of the department of the Seine-Inférieure. He was elected representative from the Cote d'Or to the national academy February 8 following. In 1876 M. Carnot was elected a member of the chamber of deputies. In 1878 he was appointed under secretary of state of the ministry of public works in the Dufaure ministry. For several years he held a cabinet position and in 1885 he became minister of finance. He retained that position in the cabinet reconstructed by M. Freycinet in January, 1887. He was elected President of the republic on December 3, 1887, and his term would have expired December 1 next.

It begins to look as though the next house of representatives might be minus a Breckinridge. The hot opposition to W. C. P. Breckinridge of Kentucky makes his renomination by the Democrats exceedingly doubtful. While Clifton R. Breckinridge of Arkansas has sustained an overwhelming defeat in his canvass, and Judge Little, his competitor, will be put up by the Democrats, the blood John M. Clayton, Breckinridge's murdered Republican opponent, still calls from the ground of Arkansas.

The State Convention.

After the unanimous nomination of U. A. Woodbury for Governor and the spirited contest for second position which resulted in the choice of Z. M. Mansur, the remainder of the State ticket was nominated by acclamation, it being C. W. Brownell for Secretary of State, Henry F. Field for State Treasurer and Franklin D. Hale for State Auditor. Col. Mansur was conducted to the platform and made a short speech, in excellent taste, accepting the nomination and thanking the delegates.

Chairman Powers then presented to the convention Congressman Grout, who, he said, would introduce the orator of the occasion, Congressman W. P. Hepburn of Iowa. Gen. Grout spoke briefly, saying that Mr. Hepburn was a descendant of both Matthew Lyon and Thomas Chittenden of this State, and introduced him to the audience. Mr. Hepburn spoke 40 minutes upon the existing political situation, and urged the importance of a heavy Republican vote in Vermont in September. His allusion to the gallant action of Gen. Stannard and the Vermont troops at Gettysburg was enthusiastically applauded. A vote of thanks and three cheers were given Mr. Hepburn for his eloquent address.

After the nomination and election of a State committee and the adoption of the platform the convention adjourned.

THE PLATFORM.

We, the Republicans of Vermont in convention assembled, reaffirm our adherence to those principles which for more than 30 years have kept our country to the front in the march of civilization. As the result of the temporary departure of the nation from those principles of government practiced by the Republican party, we point to the widespread depression and complete stagnation of business, the hundreds of thousands of unemployed workmen, the silent factories and the distrust of the Democratic party, which is evident wherever the voice of voters is heard.

We denounce as especially injurious to the State the provisions of the Wilson bill. We denounce the increase of the tax on the poor man's breakfast table, which is accompanied by a decrease in the tariff on articles of luxury.

We denounce the Wilson bill as sectional in its provisions, subversive to agriculture, a menace to business interests, and we predict that if it becomes a law, prosperity will not again return to our land until the Republican party is again in power.

We declare our belief that the repeal of the Federal election law was passed in the interests of the fraudulent election methods of the Democratic party. We approve the strenuous efforts of the Vermont Senators and Representatives in Congress to render as harmless as possible the prospective tariff legislation. We favor the continued and extended use of silver in our circulation within the extent and ability of the government to preserve the present parity between gold and silver. We promise that we will uphold the hands of our gallant leaders in the coming contest, as were the hands of Moses in the wilderness, until victory is gained.

We pledge ourselves to send out next September a greeting to our brave Boy Scouts all over the land as well encourage them to bend their every energy to the practical elimination of the Democratic party as a factor in national politics.

JUSTICE FOR AMERICAN INDUSTRIES. The more carefully the Democratic woolen schedule is examined the more thoroughly vicious it appears. An especially outrageous feature, to which the N. Y. Press has already alluded, is the section which reduces the duty on "wool of the sheep, hair of the camel, goat, alpaca or other like animals in the form of roving, roping or tops," to fifteen per cent. ad valorem. The Wilson bill as it passed the House, made these products dutiable at 25 per cent. That eminent foreign born expert in bankruptcy and business disaster, Jacob Schoepf, to whose hands the Bourbon politicians in the Senate intrusted the framing of schedules involving hundreds of millions of capital and the welfare of hundreds of thousands of operatives, refused to allow even the House rates to stand, and cut down the duty to 15 per cent. If the bill passes with this iniquitous provision in it, a large majority of American spinning plants will be permanently closed, their operatives will be turned adrift in poverty and idleness, and their business will be transferred to Europe.

GAMBLING WITHOUT LIMIT.—"O, George!" she exclaimed, as they gazed seaward. "There seems to be no limit to old ocean's broad expanse. And the waves, how they gambol along the shore." "The waves are very foolish, dear." "How foolish?" "To gambol where there is no limit." "But not half so foolish as are thousands who are doing with consumption and staking their last chance on this or that remedy which has never yet been known to cure, and refusing to try that which certainly brings them back to life and health."—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In the earlier stages of this terrible disease it is a positive cure, while even in the last stages it gives great relief and prolongs life. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, lingering coughs, asthma and kindred ailments it is guaranteed to cure or benefit or money paid for it will be returned.

Press Comments.

At the imminent risk of giving George a cranial enlargement we will say that Chairman Powers' speech before the state convention was very well considered and thoroughly excellent. It broke George's record.—Hardwick Gazette.

Urban A. Woodbury of Burlington and Z. M. Mansur of Island Pond, who were nominated for Governor and Lieut.-Governor respectively by the Republicans of Vermont, are both one-armed Union soldiers, who have proved their patriotism and valor in war and their ability in the pursuits of peace. Their empty sleeves emphasize the declaration of principles made by the Republicans of Vermont.—Utica Herald.

George M. Powers, who presided so gracefully and well over the State convention, son of Congressman Powers, is a chip of the old block and has a brilliant future before him. It will be remembered he is son-in-law of Col. Woodbury.—Swanton Courier.

The fact that that gallant old soldier, Urban A. Woodbury, was nominated by acclamation, without even a single person "mentioned" in opposition to him, is something remarkable and well indicates the esteem in which he is held and tells unmistakably of the warm place he has in the hearts of the people. No trace of the bitter contest of four years ago is left, but, contrary to the expectations of some, the friends of ex-Gov. Page all over the state have closed up in hearty support of Col. Woodbury. This is characteristic of Carroll S. Page and it is certain that a head and heart from Spunky Lamoille has had something to do in reaching this happy result.—Swanton Courier.

THE CITIZEN avenges itself on City Representative Jim Henderson of Burlington by nominating him as the democratic candidate for Governor. This never will do; Jim has been naturalized too long, and is a Scotchman at that.—Hardwick Gazette.

The joint serenade last evening serves to recall the fact that 40 years ago, in the village school at Morris-town Corners were two boys, one the son of the village carpenter and the other the son of the village doctor. At the state convention Wednesday the son of the village carpenter was nominated as the republican candidate for Governor and at the First District convention yesterday the son of the village doctor was nominated as the Republican candidate for member of Congress. The son of the candidate for member of Congress married a daughter of the candidate for Governor and presided at the State convention.—Burlington Free Press.

Fire losses in Vermont increased from $474,289.17 1892 to $563,143.89 in 1893. Just across the river in New Hampshire on the other hand they decreased from $592,638.40 in 1892, to $450,042.41 in 1893. As a consequence premium rates are going up in Vermont and down in New Hampshire, and the companies are running behind on their Vermont business and making a handsome profit in New Hampshire. Give us a valued policy law!—Brattleboro Reformer.

INSANITY AMONG WOMEN.—The large increase in mental trouble among women is directly traceable to a diseased state of their peculiar and delicate organism. Much of this is brought about by carelessness, late hours, thin shoes, tight-corsets, over-work, anxiety and sometimes by excesses.
