

and knowledge of the proceedings; and in important matters, where that will not assure us of the fidelity of the reports, we will procure the aid of the members themselves, to obtain the exact scope of their remarks. The work, thus authenticated will be stereotyped, which is a guaranty that we will make it, as we would not if we did not feel confident of its superiority over all works of the kind which have been or are likely to be published. Stereotyping the work will enable us to supply lots of mutilated numbers, which we will do, without making any charge for them.

The Congressional Globe is made up of the daily proceedings of the two Houses of Congress. The speeches of the members are condensed, to bring them to a reasonable length. All the resolutions offered, or motions made, are given in the mover's own words; and the yeas and nays on all the important questions. It is printed with small type—brevier and nonpareil—in a double royal sheet, in quarto form, each number containing sixteen royal quarto pages.

The Appendix is made up of the President's annual message, the reports of the principal officers of the Government that accompany it, and all the long speeches of members of Congress, written out or revised by themselves. It is printed in the same form as the Congressional Globe, and usually makes about the same number of pages.

We print the numbers as first as the proceedings of Congress furnish enough matter for a number. During the first month or six weeks of a session, there is rarely more business done than will make one number of the Congressional Globe and one number of the Appendix a week but during the remainder of a session there is usually sufficient number of each every week. The next session will be a long one, and it is supposed will be unusually interesting; therefore, we calculate that the Congressional Globe and Appendix will each make near one thousand large quarto pages, printed in small type—brevier and nonpareil. We furnish complete indexes to both at the end of the session.

We have on hand the Congressional Globe and Appendix for the last twelve sessions of Congress, or which five were long and seven were short sessions.—The Congressional Globe and Appendix for each session are bound together in excellent binding, with Russia backs and corners. Our prices for them, thus bound together, are $3 a volume for a short, and $5 a volume for a long session, making $16 for a full set. Those who want the back volumes should apply for them immediately, as they are in demand. The last Congress subscribed for two hundred and twenty-six sets, and it is probable that the next will subscribe for at least as many more, as the proceedings of Congress for the last eight years cannot be procured from any other source, Giles & Scaton having stopped printing their Registers of Debates in 1837. A few hundred copies of the first volume is all we have on hand.

The next session of Congress will be a long one, and therefore, the Congressional Globe and Appendix should be $2 for the session, which is the price we charge for the unbound numbers of the past long sessions; but we have concluded to reduce the price, as follows, until the first day of next January, after which time the Congressional Globe and Appendix will each be $2 for the session, and no deduction will be made on account of number of the copies taken.

Messrs. Curtis & Smith—
Gents:—I became acquainted with the virtues of Down's Elixir many years ago and have used it in my family ever since, having always found it a safe and efficacious remedy for all the diseases for which it is recommended. When my children had the whooping cough, we administered it to them with the happiest effects. It mitigated the force of that distressing complaint, and rendered it light and of short continuance. One night I woke up with a tickling in my throat and commenced coughing violently. I struggled in vain to suppress the cough, which was incessant and unremitting. Despairing of relief or repose, I got up and took a tea spoonful of Down's Elixir, which instantly allayed the irritation—the cough did not return and I slept soundly until morning. In cases of colds, coughs, and inflammation of the throat, to which I am subject, I have always found it to allay irritation and relieve a cough with speed and certainty.

It is impossible to estimate the advantages derived from the Elixir in the numerous families who, appreciating its virtues, have brought it into use.
254-3w Yours truly,
LEMUEL GREENWOOD.

In addition to a life of constant industry, unblemished virtue, and generous piety the deceased, surrounded by the kindest attention, manifested a serene resignation and patience. Not a murmur escaped her lips, not a shadow passed over her mind; but, as she had long lived, so she died, strong in confidence, and increasing in hope, of the ultimate fulfillment of God's promises of Infinite goodness and mercy, through him, who is the Way, the Truth, and the Life.
